Arouse, ye women of America! Do you know that the hated viper of "divine right" has crept into our beloved government and all its institutions? Its nest is Romanism.

Many of the Protestant churches have gone back to their mother, the old harlot of Rome.

You cannot serve two masters! You are either for the people or for the Roman principles. Think!

SUCCESSFUL FARMERS' PICNIC

Never was there a more ideal day chosen for a picnic than last Saturday when the big farmers' doings was held in this city. There was a large crowd and the plans for entertaining the guests were most successfully carried out. Those who cared to hear the program assembled in the park and listened to a talk on "Soil Fertility—How to Maintain It" by Luther J. Chapin. This subject was handled in a very interesting manner and conveyed to the hearers the idea that the speaker knew just what he was talking about. This was followed by a violin solo by Miss Elizabeth Levy that was enjoyed by every one present. Professor H. T. French of the O. A. C. next told of "Diversified Farming" as compared with the one crop system, setting forth the advantages of raising different crops each season to the old methods where one special crop was planted each succeeding year. This was an excellent lecture and of much benefit to all farmers who are fast getting out of the old ruts. A picnic dinner with hot coffee served to the visitors by the business men of Silverton kept every one busy at the noon hour, and then came the addresses, given by the Hon. W. C. H. Wiley on Farm Credits. This was a fine address and, following the farmer talks on subject of vital interest to all farmers, it filled out the day profitably for all who follow that vocation. A vocal solo by Claud Slade was listened to with much pleasure. "Live Stock on the Farm" by Judge Grant B. Dimick and "Care and Construction of Roads" by a prominent road engineer were also excellent talks. The Silverton Juvenile Band rendered some very fine selections and the day was one of the happiest and most profitable ever enjoyed in this part of Oregon.

HOW WE HAVE TO FIGHT

Not many of our best posted readers have any idea what we who are directly engaged in combat with the Roman Catholic Power have to contend with. This week's work in the Silverton Journal office is a very good illustration and we will briefly outline some of the obstacles in our way to success. We have been on the brink of financial ruin for many months, but we do not know what it is to give up therefore the fight will go merrily on in spite of everything. Some may not yet understand that we did not get the money that was sent in for our defense. Hundreds of dollars which we should have had for our support in this unequal fight for our liberty went to others. It was a shame but we could not help it, and so all we did was to do our best. We can scarcely trust anybody, because the enemy watches every opportunity to "let us down". We are still boycotted almost to death. The advertising we carry, in spite of the fact that we have by far the largest list in this section, pays us scarcely anything. Only a very few pay us the regular price. They all want to take advantage of the situation and much of the advertising is an attempt on our part to pay up debts. A printer who had worked for us before had been writing for a long time, begging to come and work for us again. We had some doubts on account of the very low wages he agreed to take but money was so scarce with us and we knew him to be a good workman, and so he came way across the mountains. But he was here just long enough to "let us down". As the editor was starting on a very important trip, was on the way to the depot he discovered that he had no printer. It is a wonder that we discovered it in time. We were supposed to go on the earlier train but we did not and therefore knew of the trick in time to save the day and to send you this paper by one of the most strenuous efforts of our life. But the whole story of the struggle is to long and to personal to tell here and now. However we want our readers to know that we are doing all the work alone and ask them to overlook our mistakes and delays.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOL VISITING DAY A GREAT SUCCESS

Last Friday was Visiting Day for the parents in the Silverton Schools and was one of the most successful inspirations carried out in a long time. It meant much hard work for the teachers, and they can feel well rewarded, thinking of the appreciation felt by all who responded to the invitation to be present. Aside from the regular school work on display there had been prepared work by girls in the sewing and many boys competed for the prize offered for the best bird house. The sixth grade girls also had cakes, that, if one could judge the taste by the looks, they must have been delicious. It gave one a hungry feeling just to see them.

Professor James was an ideal host on this pleasant occasion and his many smiling assistants made the afternoon pass all too quickly. It is to be regretted that parents do not visit the schools more frequently, but this special visiting day having been such a success it is to be hoped that there will be others follow and that parents will be more thoughtful in co-operating with the teachers. Silverton certainly has one excellent corps of instructors.

DECORATION DAY

The final arrangements for the exercises on Decoration Day will be made Saturday after noon at the G.A.R. Hall where a special meeting has been called. The following plans have been formed at this writing: A Speech by Rev. Albyn Essen in the Park if the weather permits, or, if rainy, it will be given at the Opera House; Vocal Music by the Choir from the Christian Church; March to Cemetery; Decoration of Soldiers' Graves; Children's Tributes to Our Naval Heroes, strewing flower petals on the water as they cross the bridge. The program in full will be given next week.

PIONEER WOMAN AT REST

Mrs. N. O. Hodges passed away at her home in this city last Tuesday, May 18th, 1915, after several weeks of intense suffering, being afflicted with cancer of the liver and stomach. She had been in quite poor health for several weeks but it was not until a little more than two weeks before the end that she was compelled to keep to the bed. During a part of this time she suffered untold agonies and had not taken a particle of nourishment for just twenty days.

Nancy Orlan Kephart was born in Lewis County, Missouri, January 4th, 1845, and was seventy years, 4 months and 14 days old at the time of her death. When quite young she was united in marriage to Henry Bennet, who lost his life in the Union Army during the Civil War. On May 20th 1866, she was married to W. F. Hodges, who preceded her to the great beyond by nearly three years. To this union was born four children, all of whom were with her during her last few days on earth. They are: Mrs. T. J. Cocking and Mrs. J. A. Richards of Portland, and Mrs. C. M. Kephart and H. E. Hodges of this city.

In 1873 the family settled in Buffalo County, Nebraska, which was a wild place at that time and were subjected to quite severe hardships. In the early part of 1888 they moved to Dufur, Oregon, and remained there two years. On the 8th day of the present month, 1890, they came to Silverton and have since made this their home.

Funeral services were conducted at the chapel Thursday at 2:00 p.m., under the direction of the Christian Science Society, and the body was laid to rest in the Silverton Cemetery the day being the 49th wedding anniversary of the departed. The kind of life she lived is well known to a great many of our readers and needs no comment from us.

OUR AMIABLE ENEMIES

Says a Papal paper: "The Spanish Inquisition was established by Ferdinand and Isabella more from political reasons than from religious motives. It was enforced more particularly against the Jews and the Moors, who were the political enemies of the throne. The Inquisitors were royal officers, and they received their orders from the King and not from the Church. . . Repeatedly the Popes protested against the Inquisition.

Just now the Papal papers and prelates are putting out a lot of amiable twaddle, along with perversions of history, in an effort to again lull to sleep the great Protestant multitudes who show some signs of awaking to their danger. These Jesuits talk of "freedom", and of "rights under the constitution", and of "religious prejudice", and of "bigotry", and of "false alarm", when every man of them knows that they are unalterably bound by the Decree of Infallibility to all the bloody deeds of the Church in all her past, and that they could not if they would get away from the Pope's Infallible decree for murder in the interest of morals.

Ordinarily ancient history does not reveal the present character of an old institution, because of the possibility of change and reform; but not so the Roman Catholic Church. Her Popes are "Infallible judges of morals"; so when in the Dark Ages one of them (they all did it) decreed death to heretics as a moral necessity, he fixed the principle upon the Church forevermore. Benedict XV, in his first encyclical shows the true spirit of Romanism in harking back to the ages of darkness.

Upon the modern Catholic claim that "the Church of Rome never persecuted any one", Cathcart, in "The fixed Principles of the Church of Rome Papal System", comments thus: "If the first Neapolitan were living and said, 'I never fought a battle, I never killed a man; it was cruel soldiers who did it', he would tell the truth as Rome does about the history of her atrocious and countless murders." The Inquisition tried a prisoner, found him guilty, and handed him over to the secular officer for execution; that was enough; if the officer failed to respond at once, he was the next victim.

The first Inquisition was set up in Italy, then in France, about 1215 by Pope Innocent III. In 1231 Pope Gregory IX placed Saint Dominic, the bloodiest monster of all Europe, at its head, with full authority, and unlimited power. Leading an army of 24,000 veterans, this servant of the pope proceeded to lay waste the cities and towns and villages as suited his murderous inclinations. He would even kill the faithful among the heretics, saying, "the Lord will recognize his own". No Pope at any time, not even to the present, has ever condemned the Inquisition; but from the 13th. Century for hundreds of years it was conducted under the blessings of the Popes. Indeed it was still operating in Rome, and victims were found in the torture chamber at the Vatican, when Pope Pius IX was chased out in 1848. For anything anybody outside knows, it may even be so now under the new pious nose of Pope Ben. XV. As late as 1895 heretics were judiciously condemned and burnt at the stake in Mexico.

If you would know the real character of a real infallible institution, it is only necessary to find out what it has been at any period of its history, for infallibility never changes. It may for policy sake restrain itself, and put on tolerant airs, but fundamentally it changes not. R. W. Thompson, Ex-Secretary of the U. S. navy, in "Footprints of the Jesuits", shows from eminent Catholic writers that the Church submits to liberal forms of government merely from motives of expediency, and necessity. —Cor.
