FROM WASHINGTON.

An Interesting Budget of News from the National Capital.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 4, 1890.

Owing to a variety of causes, for which no one government is wholly responsible, but which are traceable in part to the short-sighted commercial policy of the United States, the very countries that should have been our best and most profitable customers have received the great bulk of their imports, mostly in the line of our own manufactured products, from England, Germany and France.
There is an incongruity in this diversion of South American trade to Europe, the force of which was fully recognized by the late international conference, and the remedy for which is only to be found in the gradual application of the principle of reciprocity to our continental commerce. Before final action is had upon the tariff bill it is eminently proper to give due consideration to the broad and practical views of Mr. Blaine concerning our commercial relations with the Latin American countries, which, owing to inequitable tariff restrictions, are in an exceedingly unsatisfactory condition as shown by the falling off of our exports in that direction from 14 per cent of the whole in 1868 to 9 per cent in 1888. It is not too late to give the suggestion made by Mr. Blaine in his recent letter to the President and appropriated bodily by Senator Hale as an amendment to the tariff bill the consideration which its importance deserves; that the tariff may conform to the proposed adjustment of our relations with Spanish America on a reciprocity basis. It is a question that has come to stay, and the sooner it is settled on the plan suggested by Mr. Blaine the better for our people who have produce and goods to sell with no advantageous market for their disposal. It is doubtless a surprise and somewhat un-palatable, perhaps in certain quarters to have this new issue projected into the tariff legislation of the present session, but it is an issue that cannot be put aside, and Mr. Blaine is entitled to the thanks of the country for having brought it before Congress in such forcible and commanding shape.

A rumor has been afloat that several Republican members of the House were prepared to support a resolution for an adjournment as soon as the annual appropriation bills are disposed of. If such a resolution is introduced, it will be without the sanction of the party leaders, for it is the intention of the managers in both House and Senate, if possible, to send a tariff bill to the President before the adjournment of the first session.
If however, the Senate should fail to pass a tariff bill and Congress should adjourn without sending a tariff act to the Executive Mansion, it is believed that the President will call the Congress together immediately upon special session to determine this question. There is no thought in the Senate now of an early adjournment, or in fact of an adjournment before the middle of August. Mr. Hale has announced his intention of pressing the reciprocity amendment to the tariff bill offered by him during the past week in pursuance of the plan for promoting trade with Southern and Central American countries, suggested by the International Conference, and outlined in the letter of Mr. Blaine to the President. As this proposes a distinct departure from the policy of the House and of the Senate finance committee in several important particulars, it is likely to lead to extended debate.

SEATTLE, July 2.—The treasury department is taking steps to ascertain the facts regarding the smuggling of opium and Chinese from Victoria, of which so much has been said in the newspapers of late. Dr. C. E. Mann, who for the past few months has been Chinese inspector at Port Townsend, has received instructions to make a thorough investigation of the extent of the operations in this collection district. Dr. Mann left today for Victoria and will try to get into the inside of the operations of the smuggling ring that is known to have had quarters there with branches in this city and Tacoma.
—Columbian.

Washington from the top of the monument is a mathematical problem. In viewing the city to the north the avenues look as if they had been drawn with a ruler. Washington not only knew how to rule a nation, but he could do something harder still—draw a straight line. The moving cars, the little flies on the face of the earth in the way of people, the green trees, and the pepper and salt pavement, all from a sort of mosaic when seen from one of the black specks in the white column.

If the silver situation in Congress continues to get mixed at the present rate for a while longer Mr-Reed will be under the necessity of calling in an expert assayer to clarify it.

Land Office Delays.
[Astoria Columbian.] In response to a recent letter of inquiry, County Clerk Trenchard has received the following statement from the industrious and courteous, but sadly overworked register of the Oregon City land office: Relative to the publication of notices to make final proof on homesteads and pre-emption claims, we will order them in the order of their date of receipt at this office, just as soon as it is possible for us to do so and as fast as it is possible for us to prepare the proof when it comes to the office. Parties should remember that in this land district there is an immense amount of this kind of work, and that we must receive and pass upon the proof coming from each of the county clerks in the district, besides the proof made in this office. When I say to you that we have from two to ten timber land proofs set for each week day from now until October, and besides, are ordering from two to six final homestead or pre-emption proofs for each week day, it does seem to me that we are doing all in our power to accommodate those seeking to take titles to public lands.

This is a small part of the daily work of this office. We can only say that we know that we are doing the very best we can, and will continue to send these notices out just as fast as it is possible for us to do so. Respectfully, J. T. APPERSON, Register.
