DYING BY INCHES.

Life of a Minneapolis Boy Oozing Away and Physicians Helpless.

In the home of a carpenter in South Minneapolis lies the emaciated form of a little invalid. His face is as pale as death and he cannot raise his hand for weakness. From the little body, drop by drop, is oozing out his life blood, and no human means can check the flow.

It is a sad thing to sit by the bedside of a child and see it dying by inches and be unable to do a thing to help. That is what the mother of little Charlie Lindstrum has been doing for three weeks. The little boy's life was despaired of by the doctors long ago. They said he was bleeding to death and he could not be saved. They speak of the poor little patient as a "bleeder."

In some families there is an inherited tendency to bleed profusely at the slightest scratch, while a more serious wound is almost invariably fatal from loss of blood. The life fluid does not necessarily gush from the wound until death ensues, but every little artery, vein and capillary keeps weeping, weeping, weeping the tiniest drops of blood until the system is drained to its source, the heart and the body is lifeless.

About four weeks ago little Charlie Lindstrum, a crippled lad of 13, was limping along the walk toward his home at No. 3,633 avenue S. Two dogs were fighting ferociously in the street. The stronger brute, a savage bull dog, as the boy approached loosened his hold upon his canine foe, and without an instant's warning pounced upon the little cripple seizing his thigh with a firm grip. When the lad was rescued from the dog he was carried to his home with a badly lacerated limb.

The father was out at Seattle at work, so the mother with her two little boys was alone. Not aware of the fatal organization of her child, she applied a mother's remedy, and did not call in a physician until three days after the accident, by which time the limb was swollen terribly and still bleeding.

The doctors did their best for the boy but every morning when they dressed the sore it showed no signs of healing and the blood was continually oozing from the wounds left by the teeth of the dog. The father was sent for and arrived. The first of the week all hope was given up, and on Monday night the doctors said the little fellow couldn't live through the night. But he did, and in the morning he seemed to rally a little. The wound showed some signs of healing, and the mother is hopeful that his life may be spared.

Cases of the kind are not numerous, but are sufficiently so to have received the name of "bleeders" from physicians. In these cases, when once started by a wound, the blood can seldom be checked. It had been noticed in this lad and his brother that the slightest scratch bled profusely, and other members of the family had been near to death in a similar manner from loss of blood.—Minneapolis Journal.

A Spectral Procession.

On the evening of the 21st of August the passengers on one of the cars of the Mount Penn Gravity road were startled by a sudden outcry from a man who had been gazing fixedly up the mountain. "There is a hearse," he cried, "and a coffin!" Then in awestruck tones he added, "It is a ghostly funeral and means—death!" Within twenty-four hours the same train, in charge of the same conductor, was hurled from the track and a number of the passengers were killed.

As a matter of fact what seems at first to be a pronounced ghost story has a most substantial basis of truth, and a number of people who were on the train on the night preceding the accident are willing to make affidavits that they saw the ghostly procession. Nothing was said of the matter at the time. Conductor Rettew, who was on both trains and who was killed on the second night seemed to think that there was something in the so termed warning, as he particularly requested a number of those who witnessed the incident to say nothing about it. Now it is the talk of the town.—Philadelphia Times.

Robbed of His Wedding Outfit.

A man giving his name as William Baldwin, from Bryant, Kan., was robbed at Moberly, Mo., Sept. 24, of his valise containing clothing in which he was to be married to a young lady at Neoga, Ills. The thief deliberately walked to the seat in the waiting room of the Wabash depot where he had seen Baldwin leave the valise, and walked out with it while the owner was at the west door of the building taking a look at the city.

Later in the evening the stolen valise was found near the fair grounds, with the wedding clothing and a few valuable presents gone. Mr. Baldwin telegraphed his intended in Illinois to postpone the wedding until the next day. He went to a store in the city and purchased another outfit for the occasion, and wended his way to Illinois rejoicing.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Care to Avoid Cripples at Yale.

The football men at Yale are going to take care of themselves this year. It is well known that accidents, whereby perhaps the best players are "laid up," occur in practice games. The new contrivance which will be used is thus described: Each day before practice the line will be required to bind their ankles and lower legs with rubber bandages, and over the strengthening brace which this makes a stout leather casing is placed. The players are inspected before practice to be sure that no one has omitted this precaution. The arrangement as described seems bulky and clumsy, but the device is said to be so perfectly adjustable to the foot as not to hinder in the least the movements of the

A Sandwich Men's Union.

The sandwich men of London, estimated to number some 15,000, are being urged to combine and form a trades union for the redress of their grievances and the protection of their interests. It is pointed out that their average wages range from 1s. to 18d. a day, for which they have to work nine or ten hours. Nor is this the worst, for it not infrequently happens that these peripatetic advertisers apply in vain for employment three or four days in succession. Their chief complaint is against the contractor, or middle men, who, they allege, charge double what they pay.

The question has now been taken up by the labor bureau of the Salvation Army, which has issued an appeal to various religious, philanthropic and commercial societies inviting them to assist in the movement. This body undertakes to supply bill distributors and sandwichmen at the rate of 2s. 2d. a day, the two shillings going to the men themselves and the odd pence toward the payment of expenses. The discovery has been made that a large proportion of the men of this class in London are discharged soldiers without pensions, and as many of them have young families to support their destitute condition can easily be realized.—London Letter.

Chinese as Bank Robbers.

A St. Paul dispatch to The Chicago Tribune says: "On the arrival of the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha train this morning Detective Mason placed under arrest Wing Shoo and Gee Sham, two Chinamen on their way from New York to Portland. The robbery for which the Celestials were held was that of the safe of one of the largest banking establishments in The Dalles, Ore. The safe was blown open and robbed of $10,000 on Sept. 15. It was found that the robbers had tunneled under the building from a long distance, and had calculated correctly where to strike under the bank vault.

"There was at first no clew to the perpetrators of the bold deed. Suddenly suspicion was directed toward several Chinamen. Some arrests followed and a part of the money was found. The authorities got on the track of the two who arrived in St. Paul this morning, and their coming was awaited by detectives. The two Chinamen were searched and four large knives were found in their possession, on the blades of which was sandy soil, which is regarded as proof that the men were engaged in making the underground passage."

A Boom Town in Kentucky.

"Fifteen months ago," says a man who has just been there, "there were not a dozen people in Middlesborough, Ky. Now it has a population of 6,000. An English syndicate worth $20,000,000 is building the town. They have spent $300,000 in straightening a creek which runs through it, and have encircled it with a seventeen mile dummy line. They have put up electric cars and electric light and have about completed seven furnaces.

Business buildings costing less than $10,000 are not allowed to be built, and lots are selling for as much as $450 a front foot. The bonds of the circular dummy line have been gobbled up at 115. The syndicate own 100,000 acres in and around the place and have already realized $1,500,000 on the investment. Mr. Arthur, the manager for the syndicate, gets $35,000 a year for his services, and last Christmas they made him a present of $50,000.—New York Tribune.

Fruit Scarce.

Housekeepers are put to their wits' ends this autumn for winter supplies in the way of relishes and preserves. All fruit is so scarce and so high that such table goodies have become this year positive luxuries. In this regard a Brooklyn woman was overheard the other morning to make a remark nearly as unique in its way as the famous one of Marie Antoinette anent the starving Parisian populace. Her Brooklyn prototype had inquired the price of plums at a grocer's and resentfully replied to the high rate he gave her: "Why, I can preserve nothing this fall at such prices; my family will have to live on canned and dried fruits"—wholly overlooking the fact that the French queen's "buns from the pastry cook's" were scarcely more accessible than her alternative will be during the coming season.—New York Times.

Improvements in Smoke Suppression.

Determined attempts are being made in Chicago to suppress the blinding smoke that is blown ashore from passing steam craft. An experiment was made recently to demonstrate the practicability of a new invention. A small tube with a perforated top, like that in a sprinkling can, was introduced into the smokestack, and through this steam could be injected upon the uprushing smoke, which immediately condensed. The little tube, with its jets and sprays of steam, is not a smoke consumer, but there seems little doubt of its utility in the prevention of smoke.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Shower of Grain.

It is indeed a remarkable tale from Diarbekir (Turkey in Asia) which is told by the Turkish journal The Tarik. During a recent tempest there was showered from the skies neither hailstones nor raindrops, but grains of millet. The inhabitants of Melessa and Muhal have gathered the grain and have stored it, and are grinding it for bread.

Around the World.

Dr. John C. Berry, who is in Asia on a vacation, mailed a letter and a postal card to Dr. R. D. Bibber, of Bath, on the same day, sending one westward via St. Petersburg and the other east via San Francisco. The letter and postal card reached Bath in the same mail.—Bath (Me.) Times.

A delicate white scarfing may be worn with less apprehension, and therefore greater satisfaction, than during the warm interim when the protective collar melted under the perspiring care and Big Connecticut Pumpkins.

Some farmers go away from Connecticut and settle in the west, saying that the old state is played out in an agricultural way, but the Nutmeg state is still somewhat on pumpkins, or else Walter Crissey, of Southington, is mistaken. Crissey set out to raise pumpkins this year and succeeded. He planted eight acres with field corn and in every other hill dropped a pumpkin seed. He has just harvested the pumpkin crop, and there are 5,000 of them, as big and round and yellow and mellow as the full harvest moon looked to be a week ago.

Having gathered the 5,000 pumpkins Crissey hardly knows what to do with them, unless he builds them into a yellow pyramid like Cheops. The village arithmetic man of Southington has done some figuring, and computes that each one of Walter Crissey's pumpkins will make five ordinary pumpkin pies, and five pies multiplied by 5,000 pumpkins ought to yield pies enough to pave the whole main street of Southington. If the pies were strung along the country in single file, tin touching tin, there ought to be more than four miles of pumpkin pies, so the mathematician calculates.—Cor. New York Sun.

The Cut of the Fall Coat.

The Prince Albert coat has not realized the promise that its infrequent appearance in light summer fabrics gave of its probable reinstatement in the fall. In fact, this coat of demi-dress has been superseded by the four button black thibet cutaway—the fourth button not intended to close in front. The lapel of this coat has an unskimped appearance, and buttons low enough to favor a three inch Ascot or De Joinville scarf, upon which the best tailors now do their reckoning for waistcoat openings.

The collar is also cut so as to be ample, and to achieve this effect is wider at that point immediately in the middle line of the back of the coat. There is a slant pocket for the 'kerchief and a change pocket with flap. The coat is cut well in to the figure, and the cutaway not too sharply made, the skirts being of good length. The buttons are of silk braid, and there is a narrow row of stitching running as close as possible to the edge of the garment. It is an agreeably suave and most useful garment to the man fortunate enough to be able to possess one.—Clothier and Furnisher.

An Undertakers' Combine.

The Kansas undertakers have concluded that there are enough men engaged in that business in the state to bury all the dead and propose to form a combine against new firms. Some hundred or more of them have been quietly in convention, and a scheme has been formulated by which the men now in business will monopolize the trade. No publicity has been given the meeting, and when questioned by newspaper correspondents they declare the organization was simply to "elevate the business."

In speaking of the business transacted one of the members said: "We simply perfected an organization which will keep down the number of men in the state who engage in the undertaking business. Our scheme will be to boycott those firms which sell to them, and frown down in every way on new firms. It is simply a matter of self protection for us, as there are already more undertakers in the state than the business demands."—Cor. Kansas City Times.

An Extraordinary Tow.

The Leary raft towing venture is about to be cast in the shade by an ocean journey with a fleet of flat boats. The powerful ocean tugs Haviland and Heiperhausen have left the harbor here for the purpose of towing the great Nicaragua canal plant to the scene of operations.

An ocean voyage with a mammoth dredge and a dozen scows will be made along the coast to the West Indies and thence to Greytown, Nicaragua. The dredge is now awaiting the big propeller at Charleston, S. C., where it was constructed. After the big tugs put to sea with their burden it is estimated that three weeks' tugging will be necessary to bring the unwieldy burden into Greytown harbor.—New York Telegram.

Fourteen Thousand People Present.

When Hiram M. Miltenberger led his blushing fiancee, Miss Nora M. Coulter, out on the race track of the Elkhart County Agricultural society at Goshen, Sept. 25, and was there married to her in the presence of 14,000 people, he was the hero of the biggest wedding, so far as attendance is concerned, that ever occurred in northern Indiana. The happy couple were the recipients of presents valued at $400, donated by the merchants of the city.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

His Fifty-seventh Vote.

Uncle Kenniston, of Appleton, Mo., voted for the fifty-seventh time in a state election Sept. 8 last. He cast his first vote for Andrew Jackson for president, and has never missed going to the polls and voting. As an exemplary performer of a public duty we hold him up to the attention of younger men.—Lewiston Journal.

A Brooklyn jury has given Alexander Ellis a verdict of $60 in a suit brought against a druggist who furnished extract of carbolic acid when a "solution" was called for. Ellis put the stuff on a bunion, and gets the $60 as a salve for his feelings.

The latest "boy orator" to come forward is Irving Jay Steeninger, the child phenomenon of Rochester, Ind. He is not quite 6 years old, but he can deliver a fifty minutes' address with astonishing eloquence and self possession.

It is reported from Fort-de-France, in Martinique, that the court has condemned to a fine and one year's imprisonment the woman Adeline Hercule, in whose house the conflagration of June 22 originated.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS!
OH, MY BACK!
STOP IT NOW,
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.
