The American Agriculturist declares that the half has not been told about the European shortage in breadstuffs, which not even a bountiful crop this year would have relieved. The continental powers, especially Russia, have suppressed the facts.

Some of the veteran soldiers at Wichita, Kan., claim that President Polk of the Farmers' Alliance was a brigadier general and in control of a Confederate prison and inhumanely treated his prisoners, and they propose to tar and feather him. President Polk says he never was above a third lieutenant in rank in the Confederate service.

Robert Evans, an experienced prospector, has just returned to San Diego from the Colorado desert. He was nearly all around the Salton sea and says the water is about holding its own in spite of the enormous evaporation. He does not believe there is any likelihood of the sea drying up but that it will be largely augmented during the coming winter and be a permanent body of water.

Governor Buchanan of Tennessee has wired Governor Brown of Kentucky that he had reliable information that Kentucky miners were preparing to release convicts in the mines at Briceville, Tenn. Governor Brown said he would do all he could to prevent a raid of that character, but called Governor Buchanan's attention to the fact that the Kentuckians doing unlawful acts in Tennessee are liable to punishment under the laws of that state.

About one month ago Elijah Havens entered Barber Dibble's shop in the town of Windsor, Conn., to get shaved. Havens is a Republican and Dibble is a Democrat and a political dispute was on. Dibble had shaved one side of Havens face when the latter called him "a fool." Thereupon Dibble ordered Havens from the place, nor would the barber finish shaving him. Havens sued for breach of contract and got a $2 verdict.

A. S. Bradley, who owns a farm in Taylor county, Iowa, on which there is a mortgage, received a blank from the census department asking for particulars. He refused to respond but instead sent a letter to Superintendent Porter at Washington to mind his own affairs. Bradley's letter was forwarded to the federal authorities in Iowa, resulting in his arrest. He was held in $300 to await the action of the federal grand jury.

The clandestine marriage at Lake Geneva, Wis., last June of F. Lee Rust, the son of a wealthy Eau Claire, Wis., lumberman, and Miss Gertrude Potter, a daughter of C. W. Potter, president of the Illinois Steel company of Chicago, has been declared null and void. The grounds on which the decree was granted were that the groom was a minor and had contracted an alliance without the knowledge of his parents. The action was brought by the elder Rust with the consent of the bride.

Mary Stuckenburgh, a young German woman, has caused great excitement among a large number of Catholics in Louisville by the claim that she has been blessed with the "stigmata." It is said that every Friday afternoon she goes into a profound trance, during which marks appear on the palms of her hands, the insteps of her feet and upon her side, corresponding to the nail wounds and spear thrust. After she has been in this trance a short time drops of blood ooze from the marks although the skin is unbroken and no soreness is manifested. These trances began last May, the first one lasting four hours.

A new system of stopping runaway horses has been invented by A. Holson of Chicago. Holson got into a carriage to which two horses were attached and with no driver on the box. A man lashed the horses with a whip and they dashed away at breakneck speed. Suddenly the animals raised themselves on their hind legs and came to a full stop. The invention consists of a dry battery under the driver's box, connected by wires with metal balls placed in the horses' nostrils. There are two buttons, one on the driver's box and the other inside, which close the circuit when pressed. The result is a mild shock which the inventor claims will invariably bring runaway horses to a standstill.

Captain C. T. Jeffers, commanding a company of the state militia, deputy warden of the state penitentiary and an officer in the Grand Army post of Sioux Falls, S. D., has just been discharged from jail after serving forty-three days imprisonment for debt. It is the first case on record in that state and it was only owing to a technical defect in the papers that he was given his freedom. Two years ago judgment was obtained against the captain by Maggie O'Rourke, a sewing girl, who was injured by the wadding of a cannon fired by the captain on the night of the celebration of the election of Senator Pettigrew. The judgment amounted to $9,000 and the law provides that in cases where the defendant does not pay an execution can be obtained against the body of the defendant and the same incarcerated.

The excitement along the line of the Sac and Fox, Iowa and Pottawatomie reservations for three days before the opening up of the land was tremendous. Thousands of home seekers from all over were congregated there waiting for the signal to be given for a stampede. At Perkins on the Cimarron river, 5,000 people were crowded about the approach to the bridge which crosses to the promised land. Judges, lawyers, doctors, blacklegs, half-breeds, cowboys, women and children were mixed up in one unrecognizable mass. Everybody is equipped and dressed for a week's living out of doors. At Langston were nearly 1,000 negroes who were lured there by all sorts of misrepresentations. Most of them had to trudge fifteen hot, dusty miles to the line and on their arrival there found crowds of white boomers who tried to frighten them away. Nearly every one is armed and it is feared that lives will be lost before the excitement is over. The lands consist of over 1,000,000 acres but it is estimated that

COAST NEWS.

A BRIEF RESUME OF THE CURRENT EVENTS OF INTEREST.

The Tacoma Bank Robbers Arrested at Gardiner, Or.—A Mining Superintendent Murdered by a Highwayman—A Poor Hop Crop in the Willamette Valley—Sherb on the Warpath.

The Republicans of Spokane have organized a Lincoln club.

The Portland Industrial exhibition is a great success.

The raisin crop of California will be the finest ever produced.

Nearly all the canals and irrigating ditches throughout Fresno county, Cal., are dry, the water having been shut out in order to do the annual cleaning and repairing.

A hawk was killed at Riverside the other day and its crop found to be full of grasshoppers. It is reported that immense flocks of crows have exterminated the grasshopper pest in the valleys of the north.

The Southern California citrus exhibit will be continued at Chicago until the Worlds fair in 1893. Many people have already been drawn to the southern part of the state through the influence of the exhibit.

The Irrigation congress at Salt Lake City has closed. Resolutions in favor of granting arid lands to the various states in which they are located were adopted and a committee appointed to place the matter before congress.

The indications now are that the shipments of oranges and lemons from Riverside this season would foot up 1,500 carloads. Already about 1,435 carloads have gone and there is still quite an amount to go forward.

The British ship Stracathro has sailed from San Diego for Liverpool with 63,500 bushels of San Diego county wheat. There will be another and possibly two vessels loaded with grain at that port before the end of the season.

Some of the Sonoma county, Cal., vineyardists are trying an experiment in drying their grapes by discarding the trays and placing the grapes on the ground. The theory is that the ground being dry and warm absorbs much of the moisture.

The Oregon and Washington Railway company has neglected to comply with the law in filing statistics of the business of the road with the Oregon railroad commissioners. The board is therefore unable to make an adjustment of rates. The company is liable to forfeit from $1,000 to $5,000.

Hop picking in the Willamette valley is over. There will be about two-thirds of a crop and the greater portion of it more or less damaged by lice or mildew. In some yards not half the hops were picked and in no place is the yield equal to that of last year. The hops weigh well and do not look as if their brewing qualities were injured, and the growers are hoping for a fair price.

The Los Angeles Times prints an interview with De Barth Sherb, who has just returned from Chicago, in which he states that the management of the World's fair is rotten to the core, and that he will take steps to have an investigation at Washington unless Davis is removed as director general on the grounds of his unfitness for the place. Mr. Sherb says Senator Stewart of Nevada has promised to lead the fight in the senate.

Five men working in the Alta shaft at Virginia City had a narrow escape from drowning. The pump rod of the mine broke and dropped down the shaft, carrying everything with it to the water level. The men were opening a station at the 1,500 foot level and it was at first supposed that they were killed by the falling timbers. When the rod broke they ran to the end of the chamber and escaped. The water then began to fill the shaft but did not reach the men before they were rescued. The damage will amount to $10,000.

B. Galavotti, superintendent of the Dorbec drift mine, was murdered by a highwayman while going to Nevada, Cal., with a $5,000 gold bar just cleaned up at the mine. Galavotti and J. D. Ostrom of North Bloomfield were in a two horse buggy ascending the South Yuba river grade when a rifle shot was fired from the bank above. The ball entered the back of Galavotti's head and came out of his mouth, causing instant death. Ostrom, who was driving, struck the horses whip, urging them into a run up the steep grade, just as a second shot was fired, which entered the neck of one of the horses but did not bring it down. A turn in the road to the team out of range. Reaching the Mount Vernon house at the head of the grade Ostrom left Galavotti's body and hid the bullion in the brush. Then taking the uninjured horse he rode to Nevada and notified the officers of the crime. A gambler named George Clarke is suspected of the crime.

Fred Chandler and Edward Albertson, the Tacoma bank robbers, were arrested four miles below Gardiner, Or., by Charles A. Lampkins, deputy United States Marshal of Tacoma, assisted by W. W. Cochrane of Eugene and G. N. Moore of Gardiner and J. T. Thompson of Florence. The arrest was effected by a well arranged plan skillfully carried out. Albertson and Chandler were taken completely by surprise. Being ordered to throw up their hands they were slow to comply. Chandler's hands finally went up while Albertson reached for his revolver. Cochrane was too quick, however, and shot simply to cripple the now desperate defaulter, making a flesh wound. They were then easily captured and taken to Gardiner where medical aid was immediately summoned. Albertson has the best of cure and is resting easily. Chandler talks freely and exonerates all others than himself and Albertson from complicity in the robbery, but will not give any details leading up to the robbery. Chandler has
