Poison in the Kitchen.

No article entering so generally into the food of every household is so generally and villainously adulterated as baking powder. These adulterated powders are shoved upon the public with the greatest persistency.

Throbbing advertisements in newspapers claiming this brand or that is absolutely pure, backed by analyses and certificates, and yet they are adulterated with ammonia or alum. It is to be hoped the law will take hold of these merciless manufacturers and punish them for destroying the stomachs of the unsuspecting consumer.

Amid all this fraud and deceit Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder stands almost alone battling for pure food and continues to furnish a pure cream of tartar powder at almost the same cost to the people as the ammonia and alum powders are sold at, yet it costs much more to manufacture.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is of the highest strength. It produces the largest amount of leavening power attainable in a pure baking powder. It is free from ammonia or any other adulteration. No powder does such work. Housewives who have tested all use Dr. Prices only.

The Telegraph Line.
The people of this city subscribed in stock over $100 to the Forest Grove Tillamook & Bay City Telegraph Company. The conditions stipulated in the subscription list were not very definite, and now there is trouble.

When the Company set their poles in the city limits, the City Council first objected claiming that the poles were too rough and not according to agreement and instructions given by the Council. The builders run the wires in on the poles after dark and the City Marshall stopped the performance before the wire was stretched on the poles leading northward to Bay City. This occurred on Thursday evening, and during the night some vile and bad miscreants removed two of the poles and cast them into the slough. The City Marshall, backed by the Council, would not permit the same poles to be replaced, and the builders finally agreed to put in sawed poles. A sufficient number of poles were ordered sawed for use inside the city limits and the two poles that were removed were replaced with sawed ones, with the understanding that the others were to be taken out and replaced with sawed poles as soon as practicable.

This seemed to settle the question, and the telegraphic instruments were placed in the small room adjoining Cohn & Brown's block and everything appeared to be working along lovely until Monday.

Then the builders started to collect the money subscribed, and but one or two paid. On Monday night a meeting of subscribers was held in the city hall, and after discussing the matter at length, it was decided not to pay the stock subscribed until a committee of three consisting of W. C. King, Claude Thayer and John Barker, made an examination of the line to see if it was a good serviceable line, and had been built substantially and in good faith. This action was taken because it was reported by many that the wire was fastened to frail poles, rotten trees, and was almost on the ground in several places. This disposition of the citizens, not to buy a "Cat in a bag," or pay for work they were not satisfied was well done, did not seem agreeable to the promoters of the scheme, so they removed the instruments from the office established and also a part of the wire and left Tillamook city out in cold, as far as that particular line of telegraph is concerned. They extended the line to Bay City and say that Tillamook shall not enjoy the privilege of telegraphic connection with the balance of the world. So the matter stands, and of course the people still refuse to pay the stock subscribed, and the general sentiment in the city is that there is nothing lost.

It is claimed by some that the $100 subscribed here is enough to put up a parallel line from here to Forest Grove as good as the one already built, and that the line as it is constructed is of no utility anyway.

The state of affairs is to be regretted, as a good substantial telegraph line from this place to Forest Grove would be a good thing for the city, and if the people had found on investigation that the line is all right, they would not doubt have paid their subscriptions promptly. But as the line has been removed and an investigation avoided, the matter is ended, unless the builders of the line come to reasonable terms. Further developments may change the aspect of affairs.

SHOT DEAD.
The Same Old Story.—Mistaken for a Bear.

Jerry Kenedy was shot and instantly killed by his brother Jessy one day last while hunting in the mountains near Nestucca.

They were hunting for bear and lost each other, when all at once Jerry appeared in the brush about twenty yards away. Jessy raised his gun and fired, and was horrified to hear his brother cry out "I'm hurt." He died instantly, and it was found that a full load of shot had penetrated his breast.

Jerry was about 21 years of age, and his brother a little older. The older brother is almost insane with grief.

The Nehalem Beeswax.
An article appeared in the HEADLIGHT some time ago which intimated that the beeswax found on the Nehalem might be a mineral wax, and as the article was copied quite extensively, the following appearing in the Oregonian is one of the results:

"I was quite interested in reading in The Oregonian the other day," said Mr. S. A. Clarke, "that the supposed shipwrecked beeswax found at the mouth of the Nehalem is not beeswax at all, but some recondite, inflammable substance resembling the product of the busy bee, and extra valuable, and scarce, etc. I remember a year or so ago reading in The Oregonian that heavy spring tides had stirred up the sands where this supposed wreck was buried, and some enterprising Nehalemite had gathered 2000 pounds of it, and sold it for beeswax. My own family have brought home specimens of this beeswax from that ocean shore, and I once gave two specimens of it to Professor Henry, almost twenty years ago. He carefully labeled it, and with my descriptive statement attached, placed it in a glass case of the Smithsonian Institution, where no doubt, it safely reposes to this day. He thought it a decided specimen of pure beeswax and was much interested in its history."

"One who is now no more, who was deeply interested in all such things, told me of seeing masses of this wax, on which were stamped Latin words; also long pieces that seemed shaped like candles, and had a vacant place where the wick once had been. From her description it seemed to me that this ancient wreck had once been a Spanish vessel, on which had been stores for the Catholic missions of California. The holy father wanted beeswax to make tapers of. The holy wax had been duly blessed and stamped with Latin inscriptions and there were some wax tapers. While the beeswax is imperishable—being bright in color when cut open, though on the outside very dark—the cotton wick had been destroyed by time. This is no doubt the true solution. During some fearful storm a Spanish vessel was driven far north and wrecked there at the Nehalem sands, centuries ago perhaps."

HEAR US SING.
If you should come to Tillamook, Just call around and take a look, And get my prices, then you are sure, To not get beat on Furniture, A quick sale and a profit small, Is my motto for one and all, And for good bargains you need not lack, And you will always get your right change back, Look at those rockers with a cane seat, I tell you sir they are hard to beat, And mattresses of Spanish hair, In heavy ticking that will wear, That wire spring with spirals fifteen, I think the best I've ever seen. Put it upon that bed of ash, Then you have got good value for your cash, Extension tables, different kinds, All of them good as you will find, Small rocking cribs that are very neat, And baby carriages for the street, Of chairs, I keep a large amount, So many kinds I cannot count, Come fat and lean, come great and small, Come in and I can fit you all, Those wooden over-coats are all O.
