$50,000 FOR ROADS.

This sum can be well expended on roads in this county. In order to get it, the Legislature must pass an enabling act, permitting the tax-payers to vote on issuing bonds to raise the amount. The bonds can be sold readily for their face value. It will not raise taxes, as there will be much more taxable property by the time the bonds mature. The burden will not fall heavily on the present population, as the future generation will help to pay the bonds. Good roads will open many new farms for settlement, and will increase the value of all property. Money will be more plentiful, as produce can be brought to market. There will be greater inducements to improve idle lands. Remote localities will be brought within reach of a market, and those who are now eking out a living on a potato patch and a cow, can work on a more extensive scale. It will not be necessary for homesteaders to go to the Willamette valley during the summer to work for cash to buy sugar and salt. They can put in their time clearing away brush and making a comfortable home. Land now owned by the government will be converted into prosperous homes. Farmers can come to town at all times and help with their trade to build up a city. Freight by water to Portland or San Francisco will not be as high as it is from many Willamette valley towns. Farmers can get more here for their produce, and buy goods cheaper than they now can in Sheridan or McMinnville.

There are lots of potatoes in this county to-day, yet potatoes are shipped here from Portland. Our money goes outside when it should stay here, and our potatoes are rotting in the bin because the roads are too bad to get them here. They grow abundantly, but the way it is.

This is not all. The county is losing thousands of dollars on account of bad roads, and this keeps the people hard up. Their noses will be to the grindstone as long as this condition exists, and taxes will be a burden. One man who has potatoes enough to sell to pay his taxes and buy his groceries, tells us he had to borrow money at a high rate of interest to pay his taxes, and do without the necessities of life or go in debt for them. Meanwhile his potatoes are rotting, except what he eats. A diet of potatoes alone gets monotonous.

Even in the summer the roads are not what they should be.

There is now over a million dollars worth of taxable property in the county. With good roads, there will be five millions in five years. Backwoods settlements in the eastern states have been turned into garden spots and civilized communities by good wagon roads. It can be done here. It will bring railroads. Good classes of settlers will locate here. This is the richest county in the state as to resources. Let us develop them, and make the county rich in capital and industries.

The way to secure this better state of things is to go to work now, and get up a long petition to present to the next legislature, so the county can be enabled to vote on the proposition next year.

Fifty thousand dollars is none too much. It can be economically expended, and the labor employed and provisions furnished will make good times from the start.

The main road should be made from the north end of the county to the south end, with bridges across the Nehalem and Nestucca, and made good for all seasons of the year. A few branch roads should be built from this, and very few farmers would be far from the main thoroughfare. They could then easily make the mile or two of road to connect them with the main road.

When this is done you will see good comfortable frame school houses taking the places of the old shake shanties. You will see elegant farm houses instead of coops, and hovels. The towns will flourish like a green bay tree. Ships will come into port every day. Railroads will race to sea, which gets here first, and social, educational and moral conditions will greatly improve. Tillamook will no longer be considered outside of the United States, and boundless prosperity shall be our portion.

HOW TO VOTE.

Although copies of the election law have been distributed among judges of election, and we have from time to time published extracts and epitomes of the law, yet many do not seem to understand just how to go about it, and unless great care is taken, there is likely to be a great deal of bungling. We repeat some of the points we have given, so that the public may be better prepared to vote according to law.

The names of the candidates are printed upon one ballot, which is furnished at public expense, and the booths are provided, where the voter, alone with God, an official ballot and a lead pencil, crosses out those he does not wish to vote for.

In case the judges appointed by the county court be not present at the polls, the electors present may select from among themselves the members of the board. Polls to be open from 8 in the morning to 6 in the evening. The board may adjourn for one hour at noon, but the ballot box, etc., must be in sight of four of the board all the time.

Any person present, who may suspect a voter, is at liberty to challenge him.

A voter must be a citizen of the United States, or have declared his intention to become such one year before trying to vote. He must be 21; reside in the state for six months, and must be a resident of the precinct.

Where a married man's family reside is his residence.

Where a single man sleeps is his residence.

In incorporate towns no person shall approach within fifty feet of the polls, except the officers necessary and the person in the act of voting.

One person of each political party may stand outside the guard-rail to challenge voters.

county jail may be imposed.

Counting must begin one hour after the polls close, and keep on without adjournment until it is finished.

Only white ballots shall be used in voting, and ballots which cannot be determined shall be void. Colored ballots are used solely as sample ballots for the information of the voters. The white ballots, used in voting, are to be stamped "official ballot."

The official ballot must contain the name of the precinct in which it is voted. All the names of the candidates must also appear.

The voter must cross out the names of those he does not wish to vote for. The county clerk must provide one large and one small ballot box for each precinct, also poll books, pen, ink, blotting pads, indelible pencils, string and sealing wax.

The sheriff, under direction of the county court, shall provide tables, guard rails and booths for secrecy in preparing ballots.

One booth for every forty electors at a polling place.

The voter must give his name and residence when applying for a ballot. In case he cannot read, two judges may assist in making out the ballot.

Any person who exhibits his ballot so as to let it be known how he votes, is liable to a fine of $50 to $200.

Any person who shall electioneer within fifty feet of a polling place is liable to fine and imprisonment.

Any judge or clerk of election who does not follow the exact course of the rules as to secrecy, etc., is liable to a fine of $500 to $2000, or one to three years imprisonment, or both.

Any person who shall tear down election notices, or disturb any election packages unlawfully, is liable to $500 fine or imprisonment, or both.

One feature about the new law is that a blank line is left for each office, so that the voter can vote for whom he pleases, if the name is not on the ticket, by drawing a pencil mark across the printed names, and writing in the name of his choice in the blank line.

Secrecy is one great object. A voter must not let any one know how he is voting, and the numbering is done on the stubs, which are afterward torn off, and it is absolutely impossible to tell how any one has voted by examining the ballots afterward, unless the voter should put a distinguishing mark on his ticket, and he is liable to a heavy penalty for so doing.

We shall publish a sample ticket, with further instructions, before the election.

"ENTERPRISE, JR."

The Noted Norman Stallion,
Will Make the Season of 1892.
At John Day's Barn in Tillamook City.

DESCRIPTION.
ENTERPRISE, JR. is a rich Mahogany bay with black points, white star in forehead, large, full, bright eye, fine flowing mane and tail, has a clean cut, well-shaped head, held erect on a well arched neck, good shoulders, is broad in the chest and is very high on the withers, with good legs and feet. He is spirited, showy and handsome, has good carriage and fine action, stands 17 hands high and weighs 1750 pounds. He is a horse that is much needed on this coast, and when crossed with trotting and running bred mares, produces fine carriage and coach horses. He has received several premiums and among them are: First premiums at Oak and San Jose and second at Livermore, Cal.

PEDIGREE.
He was sired by the Norman horse, "Enterprise," (imported by Theo. Skillman, of Petaluma, Cal.) he by the celebrated Norman horse "St. Lawrence." His dam was a full blooded Cleveland Bay.

The Cleveland Bays are a typical carriage and general purpose horse. They transmit color and general characteristics to their progeny in a marked degree; are sure to become popular among the horsemen of this country. They possess wonderful powers of endurance. The Stallion trots 18 miles within an hour, carrying the enormous weight of 250 lbs., and this marvellous feat has been often surpassed.

Terms, $15 to insure.

NEHALEM CITY.

The most eligible site for a town on Nehalem has been subdivided into city lots by Henry Toehl and the Nehalem Mill Co., and lots may now be had for a very small figure that will be very valuable before a year. The Company is now erecting a large mill and box factory and wharves. Other mills are being started in the vicinity and there is an opening for many more industries and businesses.

Nehalem harbor will have $10,000 expended on it at once and it already is one of the best on the coast. Nehalem River is a magnificent stream, over 100 miles long, navigable several miles, and is the best logging stream on the coast. The finest body of timber and the most extensive deposits of good accessible coal in the North West are on this stream and its tributaries. The farming lands are rich as can be found; there is good pasture land, and the fishing interests are very great.
