PROTECT OUR BREAD.

The machinery of the law has not been put to work too speedily against the fraudulent use of ammonia and alum in Baking Powders. Both health and the pocket of the people are demanding protection. The legislatures of New York, Illinois and Minnesota have taken this matter of adulteration up, and especially that of Baking Powders. It will be in the interest of public health when their sale is made a misdemeanor in every State in the UNION, and the penalties of the law are rigidly enforced. There is no article of human food more wickedly adulterated than that of Baking Powder.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the only pure cream of tartar powder having a general sale that is free from ammonia, alum or taint of any kind of impurity. It makes the sweetest and lightest bread, biscuit and cake that are perfectly digestible whether hot or cold. It costs more to manufacture Dr. Price's than any other baking powder. It is superior to every other known and the standard for forty years.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

A GRAND FOURTH.

LARGE CROWD—FINE SPEECHES, GOOD RACES.

The Races The Event of the Day—A Large And Interested Crowd Witness The Sport.

The Ever Glorious Day was celebrated in our good city of Tillamook with all due observances and hearty but decorous enthusiasm.

The people began to gather in as early as Saturday, and by Sunday evening the hotels, private lodging-houses, and every nook and corner in the town where food and shelter could be had, were full to over-flowing, and many pitched their tents in field and by roadside. The campers from the beaches at Netarts and the Spit were here in full force, and Bay City, Hobsonville, Garibaldi, Nehalem, and other towns and hamlets, far and near, sent delegations to join the fun. Altogether, our little city, with the bustling jostling, but good-natured crowd upon her streets, and banners waving and bands playing, presented a notably gay and lively appearance. Not a fight marred the general good-feeling prevailing. The stores, hotels, stands and saloons drove a lively trade, and, taken all in all, everything was lovely and harmonius.

The following is the programme as developed, up to 1 o'clock, P. M.:

Sunrise Salute, 44 Guns.
10 A. M., Procession forms under charge of Grand Marshal.
10:30 A. M., Exercises at Blackwell Grove.

12:30 P. M. Basket Dinner.

The orations for the day were delivered by Messrs John Jack, T. B. Handly and Rev. Father Desmarais. All were good and Mr. Jack's speech was especially felicitous and telling.

Shortly after one o'clock the band marched to the Fair Ground, and the races, in accordance with the following programme were run.

RACES JULY 4th.

1. Match trotting race, half-mile, single heat, Dr. Patchen's Minnie P. and C. B. Hadley's Bill, $100 a side. Won through default, by Dr. Patchen's Minnie P., Hadley withdrawing.

2. Bicycle race, one-half mile, dash, $5 for first and $2.50 for second-best time made Three entries for this race, Bert King, Henry Crenshaw and Homer Mason. Won by King in 2:30, Mason second. Crenshaw made a good race, but the handle-bars to his machine coming loose, lost him his chance.

3. Free for all running race, 600 yards, best two in three; $20 to first and $10 to second. Won by Sorrel Frank in two straight heats in 36 seconds

4. Three-year-old race, one-fourth mile dash, best two in three, $20 to first, $10 to second. Three entries for this, Hutchcroft's Sleepy Dick, J. M. Williams' Bob Dudley and G. W. Blackwell's Tommy Blackwell. Won by Sleepy Dick in 26 seconds, Tommy Blackwell second.

5. Trotting race, free for all Tillamook buggy horses, one-mile and repeat, best two in three, $10 to first and $5 to second. Two entries, only, Dr. Patchen's Minnie P. and C. B. Hadley's Bill. Won by Simmons in 12 seconds.

7. Foot race, one-half mile for purse $3. Won by Asa Wells against three competitors.

The races were attended by a large and highly interested throng of spectators, among whom were quite a number of horse lovers and sporting characters from Yamhill and other counties.

The races over, the people returned to town and amused themselves in divers ways until the opening of John Jack's theatrical performance, when all who could find room crowded Hadley's capacious hall to its fullest capacity, and were entertained by the renowned commedian, his talented wife and son in a manner long to be remembered by all who were there present.

The performance over, some of the crowd went their various homeward ways, but a large number stayed to attend the Firemen's ball and supper, and many to witness the races of the next day.

And so ended the glorious Anniversary for 1892 in Tillamook town.

The Firemans' ball the night of the 4th was in all respects worthy of the great day. A big crowd was present, but there was fun enough for all, and each and every person present seemed to be laudably inspired to get the very greatest amount of pleasure out of the occasion, and well did they live up to the inspiration. From 10 o'clock P. M. until 4 A. M. sounded the tip tap of happy joyous feet and the steady yell of the caller. The

KILLED BY A BOY.

H. A. ATKINS SHOT DEAD BY ED. ILLINGWORTH.

The Boy Promptly Gives Himself Up And is in Jail.

The news came to this city Saturday morning that H. A. Atkins was lying dead, with a bullet hole through his head at his place near Tillamook river bridge. A few minutes later Ed. Illingworth came to the city and surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Steinhilber, saying that he had killed Atkins. He was locked up in the county jail. The HEADLIGHT man drove to the scene of the murder immediately and found the body of the murdered man lying by the roadside a few hundred yards this side of the Tillamook river bridge, on the road to Netarts. The wife and three little girls were standing over the remains of the dead man, wailing most piteously, and a few of the neighbors were there doing what they could to comfort her and her little ones and were watching the body until the coroner came.

Following are the particulars of the killing and the causes that led to it as near could be ascertained: Young Illingworth had been working on the ranch for Atkins for several months, and on Friday evening after a hard day's work, it being quite late, the boy refused to milk the cows. They quarrelled, and fought and Illingworth knocked Atkins down with a stick of fire-wood. Atkins then drove the boy away and was only prevented from shooting him by the interference of Mrs. Atkins. The boy went away hatless and coatless and went to the house of T. W. Lyster in the immediate neighborhood, where he stayed all night. In the morning he borrowed Lyster's gun, a 44-calibre Winchester rifle, saying he was going hunting. About 9 o'clock he met Atkins at the fatal place and the killing occurred. Atkin's house is just across the river and he had just come across the bridge, on his way to work in in a small field in the bottom on this side. According to the story of Mrs. Atkins and the children, a shot was was heard, and about the same time the cry of "murder." Suspecting something of the kind, they rushed to the scene, and were met on the way by Illingworth, with the gun in his hand, and he told them them that he had killed Atkins. When they found the body life was extinct and it is probable that death was coincident, almost, with the cry of "murder." Frank Allender who was working near by heard the shot and cry, and rushing to the place, began to summon the neighbors. The boy went to Truman Harris' place and told him that he had killed Atkins and asked what to do. Mr. Harris told him to go and give himself up. He went to town accompanied by Al. Biggs, and surrendered.

Where the dead man lay the road runs very close to the river bank, and his head was almost on the brink. He had apparently turned back from the direction in which he was going just before he was shot. He fell on his back, and the people who came say they did not change his position, but covered the body with a sheet and a few shading boughs, wait ing for the jury of inquest. He was dressed in his working clothes, and had no coat or vest on.

The ball entered his face at the base of his nose, about two inches below his right eye, and came out in front of his right ear, crushing and shattering the upper jaw bone, and knocking out several teeth. It is thought that the brain was not penetrated, and that the shock, not necessarily fatal stunned him until he died from strangulation, the flow of blood into his throat being copious. Some think that the shot came from the other direction, and others are of the opinion that the hole near his nose was made by a splinter of bone and that the ball ranged backward into his brain. No thorough post-mortem examination was made, and it was difficult to locate the course of the ball on account of the shattered condition of the upper jaw.

There being no coroner at present, Justice Thompson of this city summoned a jury, consisting of J. C. Mason, M. D. Cavanaugh, D. C. Pierce, C. H. Colton, W. H. Reynolds and Wm. Barker and repaired to the place to hold an inquest. Dr. Petre was sworn in as a scientific "expert" and A. W. Severance conducted the examination of the witnesses. The testimony of the family and of those who were there first regarding the matter was about as herein stated, and a verdict was rendered to the effect that the deceased came to his death from a gunshot wound, inflicted by Ed. Illingsworth. The body was removed to the house and prepared for burial. Atkins has generally borne a good reputation though he was frequently mixed up in lawsuits and is said by some to have been quarrelsome, and even dangerous. He had lived on the place many years ago, but for several years lived in Kansas, returning here to reside about two years ago. He was about 50 years of age, and has been married twice. Mrs. Atkins, also, has been married twice, and it is said her first husband was murdered, being shot, and killed.

Young Illingsworth is about 19 years of age, and has always been regarded as a good boy, though somewhat given to fanciful and imaginative story-telling in relating his experiences. He is unobtrusive, apparently honest, and appears to be absolutely inoffensive, though he does not seem very bright mentally. His parents both died when he was young and he has no relatives here, excepting W. D. Illingworth, an uncle, living on Wilson river. The boy talks very freely regarding his deed and says he did it in self-defence. He says he started after his clothing Saturday morning and met Atkins in the road, and asked him if he could get his clothing. He says Atkins refused and told him he would shoot him, and made a motion as if pulling a pistol from his hip pocket, and afraid of though it is known that he often went armed and had pistols in the house; and the boy's pistol was at the house when he left. Illingworth was taken by the sheriff to the scene of the inquest, and then secured his clothes, which were taken to the jail with him.

E. E. Selph has already been retained as counsel for the boy, though the preliminary examination has not come off yet. He will probably be held for trial at the August term of the circuit court.

The remains of the deceased were buried in the I. O. O F. cemetery, near this city, on Sunday afternoon.

LATER—A second post-mortem was held Sunday in which the Coroner was assisted by Drs. Patchen and Johnson and it was decided that the ball had caused death by fracturing base of brain by concussion entering and passing out as before stated.

In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the combination offer of the HEADLIGHT and New York Tribune. It will pay you to read it. Everybody who has received the Tribune is loud in its praises, and, considering that you can get it absolutely free for one year, the opportuntiy is one you should not miss. Every new subscriber who pays $1.50 gets the Tribune free, and every old subscriber who pays $1.50 on his subscription account before Dec. 1st, 1892, will get the Tribune free all the same All are treated alike in this matter, only it is necessary to pay the $1.50 before we order the Tribune. No such offer has ever been made before, and we were never able before to secure such liberal terms on clubing rates as we have with the New York Tribune.
