There is great excitment in Idaho over an alleged diamond field discovery on the bank of snake river.

Philipp D. Armour has presented the city of Chicago with $1,500,000 for a manual training school.

Read an article in another column entitled "Save Yourself Trouble." It will be of great interest to subscribers.

There will be a dance in Hadley's hall Saturday night, Dec. 17. Supper at the Allen House. Good time expected.

Some post-offices have received instructions to reduce the fee for registered letters from ten cents to eight cents. The order is general.

The Augusta will leave Portland Dec. 20, so we understand from a telegram received from Mark L. Cohn & Co. of Portland.

Many people think this city should have five councilmen instead of three. Others think we don't need any councilmen at all.

The Augusta came in Saturday with a good cargo of freight, and discharged at Cohn & Co's wharf Monday. She left for Portland Wednesday.

Christmas Goods! Christmas Goods! Call at Sturgeon's drug store, Bay City, and examine their new stock of holiday goods. No trouble to show goods.

The threatened war in railway passenger rates seems imminent. It is more probable than ever that people won't have to walk to the World's Fair after all.

A petition is being circulated and signed by nearly everybody, to have the county build a bridge accross the Big Nestucca. There should be a bridge near Hebo by all means.

Silver prize baking powder, only 50 cts., at Cohn & Co's, and a beautiful dressed doll free with every can. Go and see them. Some are very large, and all are good ones.

Williams has his drugstore moved to the N. A. Hutchins' corner, and everything fitted up in elegant shape. If you wish to see a well arranged drugstore, call and see his new place.

Willard Johnson was seriously hurt last week while working in the timber. A piece of a wedge struck him in the eye, cutting an ugly gash. It is thought he will lose the sight of one eye entirely.

Cohn & Co. have just received a fine assortment of albums and toilet sets. Just the thing for a Christmas present. They are handsome and put up in attractive shape. If you wish to please your friends, get something good for your holiday gifts.

Yesterday a telegram came here from the far east addressed "Tillamook via Bay City." The sender must have thought that Bay City is a great metropolis, and that Tillamook is one of its small suburbs.

The managers of the steamer Elmore say they are in the freighting business for Tillamook to stay, and mean business. They say they will study the wants of the people here and do everything in their power to please their patrons.

Geo. Elliott has all the necessary preparations made to build the creamery for the Portland parties, and is now waiting for their representative to come, who is expected every day. He will then start the building and push the work until it is completed.

Rev. Shreve, who was appointed to take charge of the M. E. Church South work here has given up coming on account of the protracted illness of his wife. The bishop will fill the vacancy as soon as possible. In the meantime Rev. Willey will continue to preach.

The sheriff is after the delinquent taxpayers with a sharp stick, and his deputies are posting notices of levy on delinquent lands, as per order of the county court. It will be cheaper to pay the taxes at once than to allow a big bill of costs to accrue against the property.

DIED.—At the residence of Dr. W. J. May, in Tillamook, Ore., after an illness of four weeks, Viola M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Sheretts, December 8, 1892. Deceased was born in Douglas county, Oregon, June 4, 1881. The funeral services were conducted Friday by Rev. H. B. Morgan.

It is proposed by leading bicyclists to build an asphalt road thirty or thirty-five feet wide from Chicago to New York.

Tuttle & Robeson have already here quite a stock of hardware, and will receive more by next boat. They will open up their establishment as soon as they get their store building fitted up, which will be in a few days.

The report that S. A. Roberts has sold out is a mistake. He will continue in the business at the old stand, and will receive on the next boat a large stock of new hardware. All parties owing him must call and settle before Jan. 1st.

We see by the Albany Herald that Judge G. W. Young, now of that place, is going to make a trip to Southern California. Judge Young is an old comrade of Capt. J. W. Maxwell, of this place, and has made frequent visits to Tillamook.

Letcher, the jeweler, has just received per Str. Truckee, a fine lot of silverware. He has a full line of jewelry, and you can find suitable Christmas presents at his place. He keeps nothing but first class goods, and warrants everything he sells to be as represented.

Rev. Parkhurst, of New York, is waging a war against the dens of infamy in that city, though he hasn't effected much so far, except to give the chief of police a good scoring. Rev. Parkhurst should send for the editor of the Horn Creek Bugle if he wishes to make a quick job of cleaning out the disreputable houses.

Now comes a fishy story from Homestead to the effect that a cook has been poisoning the non-union men and the soldiers who were there. It is claimed that it is the workings of a conspiracy among the leaders of the strike. The whole story sounds as if it is attempt of the Carnegie company to gain sympathy from the public.

The slides and obstructions have been removed from the Wilson river road and the ferries will soon be running. The ferry at Mr. Bester's place was completed yesterday. There yet remains one bridge to be built, after which the road will be ready for all kinds of travel, after which Tillamook will have better connection with the outside world than has ever been enjoyed here before.

The Elmore came in Saturday and came to this place Saturday evening. She left for the lower bay Monday morning where she was beached for scraping and painting. She went out Wednesday. James Fox of Astoria is the engineer now. Mr. Fox is a brother of Hon. John Fox, of Astoria, and is one of the owners of the iron foundry there. He is a very pleasant gentleman and is a capable and experienced engineer.

Everyone should take a county paper and get the court proceedings and other local news. It helps the county to have a good newspaper, and the way to get it is to support it as liberally as possible. Besides giving the New York Tribune free, with the HEADLIGHT, we have many other good papers, both Democratic and Republican, also the leading magazines, which we club with our paper at very low rates. Call and we will explain the matter.

If the people of this place expect to have the charter amended the coming session of the legislature, they should lose no time in formulating the necessary amendments and presenting them to Senator Maxwell. He expects to leave for the capitol in about two weeks. It is almost impossible, and generally impracticable, to ask the legislators to secure the passage of bills after the legislature is once in session. The proposed bills should be presented to our legislator before he goes to Salem.

Last Saturday night the council met and passed an ordinance, as published elsewhere. The bill of the city marshal was allowed in full. The fees for judges and clerks of election were allowed. The bill of the Tillamook Lumbering Co. for electric lights on the streets was cut, from $60 to $40. A petition that the company be required to run lights according to contract was presented, and the company was given notice to attend next meeting and show cause why their bills should not be disallowed.

Not long since we received a letter from a man in far off New Zealand, wanting us to sent him samples of the Nehalem beeswax. He offered us in return war clubs, photograph, and other trophies taken from the native New Zealanders. The writer of the article stated that he was a reader of the Scientific American. The letter he sent is only a sample of a great many we have received since the Scientific American published an article from our paper regarding the Nehalem wax. These letters come from all over the world, and some of them contain very queer propositions and requests. Nehalem has become widely known on account of the wax.

There is a movement on foot to call a meeting of the citizens of the city to recommend an amendment to the city charter. It is the opinion of many that the bond of the recorder is unnecessary high, being $1000, and that the bond of the marshal, being only $500 should be increased, as the marshal has several times that amount on hand at times. It is also suggested that the city attorney and marshal should be appointed offices, and that the charter should be amended to allow the council to appoint officers to fill all vacancies caused by resignation, removed or death. A voter is required to be a resident of the city 90 days before his vote is legal, whereas in a precint election only 30 days is required, and it is proposed to amend the charter in this respect.

TELEGRAPH LINE SOLD.

W. S. Runyon Buys a Controlling Interest in the Line.

Telegrams and letters, announcing the sale of the Bay City & Tillamook Telegraph line to W. S. Runyon, have been received at this office. Mr. Runyon has bought Mr. Wheeler's interests, which constitute the major part of the stock. The line will be put in first-class condition at once, so the people can enjoy a good telegraph service, and Mr. Runyon writes us that the rates will be made the same as on other lines for the same distance. He says, also, that it is his intention to put on a telephone line next spring.

It is generally thought that the change is a good one, and that Mr. Runyon will do his best to put the line in shape. The wires will be placed directly on Mr. Runyon's road, from here to Forest Grove, and when this is done there will be little expense in keeping it up. It will be necessary to have men on the road at all times to keep the road in repair, and these men can fix the wire up whenever it is knocked down by fallen trees. Besides, when the stages get to running, which will be early next spring, it will be an easy matter for the driver to locate the breaks, and make temporary connections by tying the wires together, until the lineman comes along. Mr. Runyon can surely maintain the line at less expense than anybody else, and there will be less trouble hereafter about the wires being down.

It will be remembered that the line was put through before the road was finished and in many places is not on the road, thus making it hard to find breaks, and the linemen have had a hard time in keeping it open as much as it has been this winter. Mr. Coates, the operator here, has spent a great deal of his time for the past few months clambering around through the wilderness to mend breaks, and has managed to keep up communication with the outside world most of the time.

The line surely will pay, and be of great benefit to the people when it is put in good order.

Save Yourself Trouble.

If you take a paper from the post office you are liable to pay for it whether you ordered it or not. The courts have decided that you must pay for it, even if you do not want it, and if you allow it to run over time only one copy you are liable for a whole year's subscription. The proper way is to refuse to take the paper from the post office, or return it to the post-master "refused." It is the post-master's duty then to send the publisher a notice that the paper is refused by you. The government supplies him blanks for that purpose. This cost you nothing and saves the post-master trouble in handling papers that are not claimed. It also saves the publisher sending out papers to parties who do not want them.

If you do not want the HEADLIGHT, after your time is out, we assure you that you do not offend us by so notifying us. Or, you may notify us in other ways if you desire. We do not desire to force our paper onto anyone, though we want you to take our paper if it suits you and if you feel able to pay for it. We want all the subscribers we can get, but we want them to take the paper of their own free will. Though we are allowed to collect for the paper if it is not ordered stopped, we will not do so if you insist that you did not want it. In return it is not more than justice to us that you should refuse the paper at the post office or send us word if you wish it stopped.

Many persons would feel insulted if we should stop their subscriptions promptly when they expire. Others think it unfair for us to send the paper longer than it is paid for. So you see, it is difficult for us to judge, and if you notify us it removes all doubt. We discontinue all papers sent outside of the county at their expiration, but in the county it is different, and this plan wouldn't work so well. However, after Jan. 1st, we shall insist on cash in advance, which will obviate all difficulty.

Dan Bowers is great on Injun stories. He says that while in Idaho he was one of a band of Injun fighters and that the company succeeded in capturing a few of them. He and another member of the band were detached to guard the Injun prisoners, and they made their headquarters in an old cabin. They got tired of sitting up by turns to watch the redskins, and he and his pard concluded they would have a good sleep one night. They dug two pits, a few feet apart, and stood the Injuns in them. They then filled in the dirt, and packed it tight so the Injuns couldn't get out without being dug out. They were firmly imbedded in the earth up to their waists and Dan and the other man felt sure they couldn't get away. They gave them a pack of cards and a bottle of Hostetter's bitters, and went into the cabin to sleep. They slept soundly until the next morning, when they went out to relieve their prisoners. They looked around, but no Injuns were to be seen. They saw the cards scattered around and went to gather them up, and see if there was anything left in the bottle. Lo, and behold, on making close inspection, they found that the coyotes had eaten the Injuns off even with the ground during the night. Dan and his pard changed camp that day, and he feels sure to this time that what was left of those Injuns never ran away on their own accord. They never went back to see if the coyotes had dug the legs out.

BIG LEGAL FIGHT.

The Williams Mill of Bay City in Litigation.

There has been a lively time at Bay City recently, and serious trouble has been anticipated at times. Winchesters were brought out on a few occasions, but fortunately no one was hurt. The trouble is over the Williams saw mill of that place, several parties trying to get possession of it. It will be remembered that Geo. F. Williams started to build a large mill at Bay City, last year. The plant was to be an extensive one, and the pilings were driven for the foundation and the necessary wharves constructed. The frame of the mill was put up, and the structure covered. At that time Mr. Williams was a little slow in paying his men, but the work went on until the establishment assumed immense proportions, and the whole affair was substantially and solidly built. Good machinery, boilers, engines, etc., were ordered from the Vulcan Iron Works, of San Francisco, and everything was being put in shape, when the financial difficulty came. Mr. Cyrus W. Smith had been doing some logging for Williams and wanted his pay. He claimed $1340 was due him and began to attach William's property. He secured judgment and an order to sell property at sheriff's sale. Then the Vulcan Iron Works steps in and claims the machinery, as Williams had not fully paid for it. There was a suit as to the rights of property, and Coroner Petre served papers on Sheriff Edwards. The trial resulted in favor of the sheriff and Mr. Smith. T. B. Handley was attorney for Smith, and W. Winfree, of Portland, represented the Vulcan Iron Works. This did not settle the matter.

Mr. Winfree recently employed some men to remove the machinery and they were taking it down rapidly. The sheriff stopped him, but the tearing down operation was soon begun again, and about all the machinery, excepting the boilers, was taken down and put on a scow. Action was begun in the U. S. Federal Court at Portland and a U. S. Deputy marshal came in on the steamer Elmore to take charge of the property. It was thought that by getting the material on a scow in navigable waters that the state or county authorities could not touch it, and that the machinery could then be loaded on the steamer Truckee and taken to San Francisco, thus placing Mr. Smith in the role of plaintiff. As law suits in the Federal courts are very expensive, this would put Mr. Smith to a disadvantage, as he, being a poor man, could hardly cope with a rich company like the Vulcan Iron Works.

A deputy sheriff is still guarding the boilers with a Winchester, and Mr. Winfree has returned to Portland, though the matter is not settled yet by any means. Mr. Smith will fight the case to the bitter end. His attorney, Mr. Handley, is still in San Francisco, and when he returns, affairs may take a different turn.

CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY.

The Farmers of Fairview will build one of their own.

Yesterday the farmers east of this city, in the neighborhood of Fairview school house, met in the court house here and completed the organization of a stock company for the purpose of establishing a co-operative creamery. The articles of incorporation have been filed, and Chas. Kunze, Judge H. F. Holden, and W. H. Cooper were elected directors. H. F. Goodspeed was chosen secretary. By a vote of the stockholders, the location of the creamery was decided to be on Mr. Chas. Kunze's place, on the road about two miles east of the town. It was proposed to raise $2500 to build the creamery and $1750 of this has already been subscribed. There will be no trouble to secure the balance. It is estimated that there are now over 500 cows that are tributary and will furnish milk for the establishment as soon as it gets started. The institution will manufacture butter only, at first, and a cheese making plant may be added afterward. It is proposed to go right ahead with the construction of the building and have the machinery here and the plant in working order by next spring.

The location for the plant is a good one and is in the center of a section that has no peer as a dairying and agricultural country on the face of the earth. The gentlemen who are stockholders in the concern are solid financially, and are all well-to-do and successful farmers. They mean business and there is no question but they will meet with success.

This creamery will in no way compete or oppose the proposed creamery in this city, and will really be of as much benefit to our town as if it were located within the corporate limits, besides it will be more convenient to many, and will receive milk that it would be impossible to secure here. There will be a great plenty of cows left for the Tillamook city creamery anyway, and both of them can do a good business. Other sections not capable of sustaining half so many cows to the acre, have creameries located every few miles and all doing well. This movement we consider one of the best things that ever has been organized for the benefit of this city and county.

The prospects for shipping facilities at present are good, and there is not likely to be any trouble about getting the butter to a market.

Old Pioneer Sick.

James Quick is very sick, and his death is expected at any time. Mr. Quick has been feeble for a long time, as he is getting along well in age. He is one of the old pioneers of Tillamook.

ORDINANCE NO. 40.

AN ORDINANCE TO PREVENT THE INDECENT EXPOSURE OF PERSONS AND PUNISHMENT THEREOF.

The people of Tillamook City do ordain:

If any person shall expose his person, or the private parts thereof, within the corporate limits of this city, where there are other person or persons, or in the vicinity of other person or persons, to be offended or annoyed thereby, or if such exposure is offensive to decency, such person making such exposure shall be deemed guilty of violation of this ordinance and upon conviction thereof before the recorder shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty five dollars or more than fifty dollars and cost.

Approved December 10, 1892.

John Barker, President,
A. P. Wilson, } Trustees
G. A. Edmunds, }

Attest by C. N. Drew, Recorder.

We wish to start out with a clean set of books Jan. 1st. Please call and settle. If anybody has bills against us, please present them at once.

PERSONAL.

W. S. Runyon is expected here shortly.

S. A. Roberts has returned from a business trip to Portland.

E. G. E. Wist, of Nehalem, was here on business last week.

I. J. Stratton, a capitalist of Vancouver, was in the city recently.

J. Emlum went to Portland on business. He also made a trip to Pendleton.

Morris Leach, of Pocatello, Idaho, is here visiting with C. N. Drew and Jones Brothers.

Senator J. W. Maxwell has gone to the south end of the county to interview the people before he goes to Salem to attend the legislature.

Nicaragua Canal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The committee representing the national Nicaragua canal convention called at the White House this morning, and paid their respects to the president. The president received them cordially. It is reported he took occasion to say among other things in regard to the canal: "The world is calling for it. I do not see how anybody can possibly find grounds of objection. The lack of the canal retards the progress of the world. It is our coast line. If we do not proceed, England or some other power will. We should not permit this. All parts of this country are equally interested. It touches all."

The Lighthouse Road.

The viewers have gone over the route to the light house and are ready to report at the next term of court. They are very much pleased to find so good a route, and say that but one bridge of any account will have to be built. The whole distance from here to the light house will be 7¾ miles. The route runs in a northwesterly direction from Tillamook river to within a mile of the coast; then almost due north to the light house reservation. The government will begin work as soon as the weather settles in spring.

Beaver Creek.

E. F. Lyster was in Tillamook Tuesday.

Wm. Bays passed here with a band of Angora goats last week.

Chas. Martin has rented a farm five miles from Drewsey, in Harney county.

Rev. Mills, Evangelist, has been preaching on Sundays at the Wallace school house. He will preach again Dec. 25, at 11 A. M.

Mr. Foland had 36 head of cattle dehorned this fall. E. F. Lyster and H. A. Ely had their two-year-olds dehorned. It does not seem to injure the cattle in anyway, and it makes them more docile.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Week ending Dec. 14.

A. J. Shepard to J. M. Fuller, tract in Garibaldi, $300.

S. A. Booth to H. Booth, tract in Woods, $100.

G. W. Steinhaur to C. F. Philips, 20 acres in sec. 12, 3 n, 10 w, $600.

U. S. Patents to C. Niebuhr. Duplicate receipts to J. D. Edwards and F. R. Beals.

More Bones.

Since our account of the find of bones and relics at Mr. Bester's place, he and Mr. A. G. Anderson have made further explorations. They dug over about an acre of ground, unearthing a whole graveyard. They found several skeletons wearing bracelets, made of some metal resembling gold, and got a whole hatful of diamond ear rings. Among the things they unearthed were a lot of plates and saucers, of a peculiar porcelain appearance. On them were Persian trade marks and legends written in Sanskrit. They found one skull which was of very peculiar shape. The cranium was over eight inches in height,—it was, in fact, a regular two-story affair, and it had no apertures for eyes. No doubt the lower part which contained the eyes and mouth had decayed and crumbled away. Mr. Anderson, who relates this story, is a very truthful man, and invites people to go and see for themselves the wonders that have been unearthed.

THE DICTIONARY HOLDER

Did you ever learn what fabulous results grew out of the manufacture by Mr. Noyes of an ornamental stand to hold the dictionary? The story reads like a fable, but to tell it one must ask another question: Have you ever noticed the advertisement of the Aermotor Company, which starts out as follows:

45 sold in '88
2,288 sold in '89
6,268 sold in '90
20,049 sold in '91
60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, everlasting ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we "Take the Country."

Well, that establishment belongs to La Verne W. Noyes, and the means with which it was built up until it is the third largest manufactory in the West (being only exceeded by two of the great Harvester companies) was wholly furnished by the Dictionary Holder business. This brings us back to the Holder, and suggests inquiry as to how it took and held and still holds the field, increasing rapidly from year to year.

The secret of that success is this: Mr. Noyes has made a most perfect, artistic and meritorious article, and has maintained a high standard of excellence and supplied the article at a low price. The merit of these Dictionary Holders has been so great that they literally sold themselves, and in such great quantities that a small profit on each one has made the result above mentioned. They have gone to almost every habitable portion of the globe, even to the remote islands of the sea, and are kept by all booksellers.
