

Tillamook Headlight.

Published every Thursday evening.
W. F. D. JONES - EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR
DR. T. H. MERRILL, ASSOCIATE EDITOR.

Look out for better times next summer.

This is fine weather for winter, so say the old settlers.

There is great demand for more bridges in this county.

It is to be hoped a new road law will be passed this legislature.

Cheap freights for outgoing produce will be a big thing for this county.

There seems to be no end to the bills introduced in the present legislature.

It is thought the tax levy will be a little higher than last year in this county.

There should be no delay about opening the road from here to Tillamook river.

It is likely that work will begin very early in the spring on Dry Stocking bar, also on the light house road.

From the number of timber filings it does not appear that capitalists have lost confidence in Tillamook's timber resources.

The probabilities are that this place will enjoy the benefit of two stage lines and two steamer lines next summer. A good express service is being arranged for also.

Those of our farmers who are interested in butter-making should take notice that in the last Portland market report, dairy butter is quoted more than twice as high as other grades.

The typos in this office set over thirty-three thousand (measure) nonpareil this week, besides setting the regular reading matter for the paper. In setting the nonpareil it was necessary for the typos' hands to go from some one of the boxes in the case to the composing stick over 60,000 times, besides the other work of adjusting, correcting, arranging in forms etc. There is considerable work to be done about a printing office.

Twenty saloon-keepers at Astoria on Monday morning last were surprised by the receipt of a package each from Wells, Fargo & Co's Express marked C. O. D. Most of them paid the bill, amounting to $2.50 apiece. Each parcel contained a family bible. The same evening the victims held a meeting and decided that only one man could perpetrate such a trick. On inquiry they found he had gone to Portland the day before, whereupon a deputy sheriff was sent after him with instructions to take him to Astoria again if there is a state law permitting an arrest for such a proceeding.

A dog fight or a horse race is sufficient to arouse factional animosity here it seems. The two elements at once take different sides on such occasions, and men who profess a high sense of justice and respectability draw their lines of sympathies and engage in an undignified campaign in favor of their choice dog or cayuse. The habit of taking sides and making much ado over the things who so often fight on the streets serves to encourage them. They think they are veritable heroes, and swagger along the streets trying to attract attention. The expense of airing the troubles of these fellows in the courts costs the county enough every year to build several good bridges.

The rival houses of the state legislature have been in session since Tuesday. At one o'clock Wednesday morning the rival speakers agreed no further move be made during the night, and a blanket being procured they lay down amicably and slept the rest of the night under the common protection of its folds. The other members were obliged to put up with chairs, the floor and other inconveniences in lieu of beds. A conference, including the governor, both speakers of the house, and committees of republican, populist and democrats, was held in the afternoon. It was decided to adjourn the house until Thursday and appoint a joint committee to form a plan of settlement. The five democratic members informed the governor that if it came to a show-down they would vote with the republicans as the legally constructed house.

POINTS.

Governor Hogg, of Texas, is 39 years old and a good man, weighing 375 pounds.

Carl Shurz isn't saying much, but his deep and sonorous thinking would silence the din of a boiler factory.

Mrs Robert G. Ingersoll receives almost as many letters as her husband, and most of these letters inclose religious tracts.

A pretty woman can transform an ordinary looking-glass into the most attractive picture in the room.—Somerville Journal.

She—Why, Charlie, what a pile of letters. Billets doux, I suppose? He—Not at my time of life, my dear; billies overdue.—Texas Siftings.

Ex-Speaker Reed is reputed to earn $3000 a year by his pen. It is this income that insures him the comforts and luxuries of life, for he has no other income besides his salary as congressman.

While the question of women's rights is being so vigorously advocated it should be borne in mind that man is of the first importance and has been since the time of Adam, for Eve was but a side issue.

A man's natural gallantry—his horse-car gallantry so to speak—sometimes hangs fire when the identity of a person needing its display continues unknown. The other day Mrs. Cleveland stood for a five mile ride in a New York elevated train.

Someone having asked Mr. Gladstone the secret of his remarkable activity, he replied with a story: "There was once a road leading out of London on which more horses died than any other, and inquiry revealed the fact that it was perfectly level. Consequently the animals in traveling over it used only one set of muscles.

Are you feeding your cows simply to keep them alive? Add a little and make a profit.

The air must be kept pure in the cow stable, and in order to do this it must be kept clean and dry.

A cow well broken to the halter and gentle is worth much more than one that is unmanageable.

Gift-edged butter cannot be made when the cows are kept in a foul smelling, poorly ventilated stable.

It costs as much to make butter that will sell for soap grease, as a first class article that will sell at a fancy price.

Do not put off churning until convenient, but churn the cream when it is ripe whether you have much or little.

Feed the cows for profit, (too many feed for nothing) and the young things for growth, with a prospect for future profit.

Do not let any of the animals get run down and poor—there is no economy in that but a great waste. The skilful dairyman will never do it.

Sweet cream should be churned at a lower temperature than sour, and it takes a longer time for it to separate, otherwise the same rules apply to both.

Cater to the taste of your customers. If they want sweet cream butter, furnish it put up in the most attractive and perfect manner, and it should be sold and used at once.
