Local notices, (only sets per line) and sets after the first insertion. (Only sets per line for first insertion for regular advertisers.)

Lost, Found, For Rent, For Sale, Wanted, and special notices, in classified "ad" columns, at the rate of one cent per word for first insertion and half rates thereafter.

Legal notices, Nonpareil, sets per line for first insertion and sets per line for each subsequent insertion.

All local notices will be "starred" or otherwise designated as advertisements.

No special position will be agreed upon for any advertisement, though we take especial pains to display advertising matter effectively and give as favorable position as possible, frequently changing the "make-up" of the paper.

We make a special effort to change or re-build advertisements as often as our patrons desire, but make no contract to that effect.

No cuts will be used, except out-line cuts on metal bases.

We reserve the right to reject any advertisement that we deem objectionable.

TERMS: Cash in advance for small advertisements, and payment is required monthly or quarterly on large contracts.

Address all communications to THE HEADLIGHT, TILLAMOOK, ORE.

CHINESE LOTTERIES.

Among the many evils in this city we have attempted to investigate, we found one entirely new to the jury, that of lottery dealers. It is most amazing to learn the extent of this pernicious business in this city. We found but one white man the remainder being Chinese. We indicted all firms and individuals engaged in it that we could find evidence against. They were promptly arraigned for trial and contributed about $3,000 to the credit of the county, with three Chinamen still in jail under $600 sentences. We desire here to say to parents to look well to the whereabouts of their boys or nights for on one evening a member of this jury, in his search through the China quarters, found in a back room of a simple-looking store as many boys as could gather around a gambling table taking part and watching a gambling game. They were all white boys, aged from 12 to 18 years, not hoodlums, but members of respectable families.

This is what the last Grand Jury of Multnomah county has to say of the "Heathen Chinese." If some of the Eastern people would come out to the coast and investigate the Chinese establishments they would not be so enthusiastic over the supposed virtues of the wily Mongolian, but would have a better understanding of the reasons which prompt the people of the Pacific Coast to demand the enforcement of the Geary act.

MERITED CENSURE

Idle and irresponsible persons, who busied themselves a week ago carrying up and down the streets rumors that this or that bank was in trouble, are now said to be turning their attention to the commercial houses, about which they know still less. Many persons affected by these baseless rumors think they see in them the motive of business rivalry. It is to be hoped that they are mistaken; but if any responsible person is found disseminating false and slanderous reports of this kind, there are certain effective remedies and penalties. If not a criminal act, it is a dishonorable one, and the business community would find means to punish it on certain proof, with an uniform reprobation and contempt, as painful to endure and as costly in the end as an adjudgment of damages. The example of the commercial body in New York, which expelled a member for circulating false rumors of the weakness of a solvent house, is instructive. There is no remedy against the gabbling fool. There are means to reach the malicious and responsible slanderer. It is to be hoped that the authors of all the rumors affecting the stability of firmly-established and perfectly solvent houses—and one may hear all of these he has time to listen, to—belong to the former class.—Oregonian.

FISH LAW.

The following sections of the fish law passed at the last legislature and filed in the office of the secretary of the State February 22, 1893, will be of interest to many in the county.

Sec. 2. It shall not be lawful for any person or persons to take or fish for salmon in the waters of the Nehalem, Tillamook, Nestucca, Salmon, Siletz, Yaquina, Alsea, Siuslaw, Umpqua, Coos Bay, Coquille, Sixes, Elk, Cheteo, Rogue river, Windeluck, or any of their tributaries, or in any other streams or bays in this state, except the Columbia river and its tributaries, from the first day of November until the fifteenth day of December, or between the fifteenth day of April and the first day of June.

Sec. 6. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to receive, or have in his possession, or offer for sale or transportation, or to transport during the close seasons named in this act, any of the following varieties or kinds of fish, which may be caught in any of these streams as aforesaid, viz: Chinook salmon, silver salmon, steelhead, or blueback, and any person or persons violating any of the above sections shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum of not less than ten dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars.

While a newspaper may print column after column of matter eulogistic of its town, its very bright sayings will be received with a grain of doubt, says the Aberdeen News, if its advertising columns do not bear the impress of enterprise. The outside public has become well used to the patriotic utterances of the western press, and now when an eastern man takes up a western paper he invariably turns first to see for himself what enterprises are represented in the town. If he finds the advertising columns well filled he knows at once that the paper is published in a well established, prosperous community, and he next proceeds to examine reading matter to gain special information. He knows that so far as reading matter is concerned an elegant paper can be published in a claim shanty, but to him the advertisements are indisputable evidence of actual development. A newspaper to be a real benefit to a town in the way of attracting investors, must be the joint production of the publishers and business men.

The county court of Washington county are contemplating a change in the methods of collecting road taxes. Instead of having them worked out they will collect the taxes in cash. This change has been made in many places with uniform good results in the way of improved roads, and at a much less expense to the public. Men can be hired to work ten hours a day for lower cash wages than are allowed in taxes for eight hours work besides doing more and better work. Work done under the old system is too often looked upon in the same light as paying for a dead horse, and the style of doing it changes with every new supervisor, the latter in many cases devoting his time in undoing the work of his predecessor, a waste of energy that is expensive to the public even if it does evidence a desire to improve on that individual's work.

Now ye who buy and ye who sell, to con this lesson you'll do well. If by your business you would rise, you all must bust or advertise. The biz that sails on printer's ink was never, never known to sink. But when it spreads its cobweb sails to opposition's steady gails and creeps along the lonesome shore where business hope gets lower and lower it gradually musts and rusts, and finally it sinks and busts.—Klamath Star.

A man named Howard has been arrested for using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes in connection with his European claims agency. He is one of those fakirs who advertise unclaimed estates in England and other countries. The attention of the British government has many times been called to these frauds, and it has been stated time and again by the Home Secretary that there are no unclaimed estates or fortunes in England. If a man dies intestate and without heirs the property reverts to the crown. The total amount that has so reverted is very small, and at the present time the value of unclaimed property in England probably does not amount to more than $100,000. It is a waste of time to entertain any hopes of inheriting unclaimed property in that country.

NEW PILOT CHART.

Lieutenant Calkins, in charge of the hydrographic office in Portland has received a letter from the chief office in Washington stating that it is meditated to publish a pilot chart for the North Pacific ocean. He is requested to confer with shipmasters and others to ascertain what information can be secured. The matter is of great importance to the coast and every facility should be accorded to the department to aid them in the work.

TO CAMPERS.

Several small timber fires have occurred lately, which have been caused by campers on their way to the Coast. As yet there has been no great damage done but every day there is more probability of a fire spreading and causing damage that would press heavily on this county. For this reason parties who are camping out should be careful to extinguish their campfire before leaving.

THE RIGHT KIND.

The business men of Hillsboro showed themselves to be made of the right stuff last week. When the flurry of the Portland banks was at its worst, instead of making a run on their home bank, they deposited every cent they could gather, and so strengthened it that the bank was in better condition after the crisis than it was before.

BEHRING SEA.

The decision in the Behring sea arbitration is said to be in favor of Great Britain. That is very likely. We had a bad case. The dispute might have been settled four years ago, but for the election that made Blaine secretary of state. His political necessities caused a practicable agreement to be laid aside and untenable claims to be put forward. Now we have to pay for that error.—Oregonian.

A newspaper man is in some instances like other people. He respects his friends, appreciates a kindness, and is always willing to return a favor. In another respect he resembles his fellow men. He will not continue to pat a man on the back, tell what a good man he is, and how much he has done for the town, and give him a free business puff every day, when the man will not, through personal prejudice or otherwise, continue to aid in supporting the paper. In other words he stands by the man who stands by him. That is about the way of the world, and a newspaper man can't be so much different from other people.—Ex.
