

BREVITIES.

County court meets next week. Flour $3.70 per bbl. at Cohn & Co. Keg butter wanted at Cohn & Co's. Don't forget the races next Saturday. The best flour, 95 cents a sack, at Cohn & Co. The HEADLIGHT force took a trip to Netarts Friday. Cohn & Co. want all the fresh roll butter they can get. The steamer Truckee arrived at Hobsonville yesterday. L. A. McNary, of Portland, is in the city on legal business. Deputy sheriffs have plenty of work hunting up jrymen. The Augusta arrived in the bay this morning at 7 o'clock. Wash and be whiter than snow. Copco Bath Soap at Williams. The thermometer at Glenora registered 69 in the shade yesterday. A large stock of letter heads, bill heads etc. just received at this office. Mr. and Mrs. C. Ahnes, of Astoria, are the guests of O. Heines and wife. The cannery at Nehalem is now running with about twenty four boats. Cohn & Co. are buying and paying the highest price for Pickle Roll Butter. Everyone who could by any means obtain a rig went to Netarts Sunday. The electric lights in the court house are an improvement on the old lamps. The Elmore goes into Nehalem this trip with a cargo of freight for that place. At last reports J. H. Jackson, of Netarts, is recovering from his recent injuries. Cohn & Co. are fitting up the building on the rear of their store as a shoe department. Budd Wallace is hauling lumber for his new house and will put up a nice building. Dr. W. J. May and wife, W. C. King, and others were passengers on the Elmore going out. A marriage licence was issued this morning to Erick Glad and Hilda Mary Eity Bowman. Several timber fires are burning and doing much damage in the mountains east of Glenora. C. & E. Thayer are putting sand on the ground preparatory to erecting the bank building. Mrs. V. M. Underwood expects to start for Michigan Saturday, and will make that state her home. Chas. Peterson, the barber, is now established in his new location next to Brown's meat market. The pump at the court house comes in useful now. People don't have to go down town to get a drink. A big tree fell across the Wilson river road yesterday and caused a number of people to camp there for the night. The Tillamook country is invaded by coasters from all directions. Many are camped about this city every night. The salmon run is still very light but the few fish that are caught are better than the average in size and quality. B. F. Durfee, an attorney of Keokuk, Iowa, is in the city, attending to some of the business affairs of G. W. Blackwell. Several parties have examined the files of the HEADLIGHT this week to find information bearing on cases under settlement. The new bridge across Wilson river, just north of this city is completed, and the bridge across the slough will be done in a few days. The Garfield is now without an engineer as Chas. Hemstreet has gone to the World's fair. He will also visit in Canada, his old home. There are over 80 guests registered at the Alderman (Occidental) and on one day over 100 persons took dinner at that popular hotel. The Elmore went out yesterday morning and will go to Siuslaw before returning to Tillamook, but will probably come into the bay on her way up. We are informed that Cohn & Co. have difficulty in filling Portland orders for dairy butter as most of the farmers now take their milk to the creameries. Steamers have been delayed during the past week by heavy fogs. Yesterday the fog was the worst that has been known on this bay for many years. During the Crawford-Wist trial, the court, clerk and jury retired to the Allen House to take the testimony of G. W. Bailey, who was too ill to be in court. W. N. Vaughn acted as interpreter before the grand jury when Louisa Wallita was being examined as to her connection with the alleged murder of Wm. Lattie. The Hillsboro Independent of last week had an excellent article describing the Wilson river road and Tillamook generally. J. H. Jordan wrote the article. Rev. Father Desmarais returned to this place Wednesday evening for a short stay. He will preach at the Catholic church next Sunday at 10 o'clock A. M. On Saturday the east wind caused a fire, which has been burning for some time near Irwin's logging camp, to spread in another direction, and block up the road with a mass of flame. In order to save the oxen that were thus imprisoned, the crew had a hard afternoon's work cutting out another road.

In the senate the Voorhees bill was substituted for the Wilson bill. The Voorhees bill declares the nation favorable to bi-metalism, the ratio to be decided afterward. These who have bills to present to the county court next week should remember that the court has ruled that all bills must be presented to the clerk before they can meet. D. B. Johnson, a cousin of Dr. Johnson, formerly of Minnesota, but now of Portland, is here attending to some business regarding the drug-store. Mr. Johnson is an attorney. Rev. McLachlan has returned from the conference and will be with us for another year. He will hold two services next Sunday when a course of protracted meetings will be commenced. Work will begin at once on Allen's new hotel building. Lumber and material is being placed on the ground. With the new building Mr. Allen will be able to accommodate a great many guests. "Nehalem Lize" departed for Nehalem early this morning. When the verdict of the grand jury was announced to her she paid no more attention to anyone, but hurried to pack up and get away. The following Nestuccarites were here this week: T. J. Luey, R. W. Holmes, Sellev Kellow, J. Lundingham, Mr. Baxter, A. B. Pollard, W. J. Compton, H. Booth, R. T. Weatherly and many others. Among the local legal lights present at the circuit court are: E. E. Selph, T. B. Handley, Claude Thayer, W. H. Walker, A. W. Severance, I. T. Maulsby, W. H. Cooper, and V. B. Bromley, of Bay City. Tickets for the O. E. S. entertainment Saturday evening will be good for Thursday evening. Those who have bought tickets and cannot attend can have their money refunded on applying to Mrs. Severance. There was a cutting scrape near Gairbaldi recently, and a young man residing in that vicinity received a few shallow slashes across his abdomen. As it is not certain who wielded the knife, no names are mentioned. Deputy U. S. Surveyor Sharp was in the city Monday. He has just completed the survey of township 1 south, 6 west, and will now survey the fractional townships 1 south 8 and 9 west. Most of this land is already settled upon. The Elmore went into Nehalem yesterday and was unable to get out. Her passengers returned to Tillamook late last night. W. C. King, and Dr. Meserole started over the mountains in a private rig immediately on arriving at Tillamook. Mr. Brownley, formerly of Sydney, Wash., has taken charge of the Hotel Pacific at Bay City. He is an experienced hotel man and makes a specialty of cooking clams, crabs, and other delicacies that are always looked for at sea-side hotels. On Sunday a crowd of about twenty Nehalemites arrived in the city to attend court as jurymen, witnesses and litigants. Monday and Tuesday these were reinforced by other delegations of the same number so that Nehalem is very thoroughly represented. The entertainment in connection with the Order of the Eastern Star has been postponed until Thursday when it will be given in the G. A. R. hall. The postponement was made to give more time for rehearsal and it is promised that an extra fine performance will be given. The court room has been fixed up and re-arranged in convenient and comfortable style. A rattling fence of the south end of the hall, and neat tables and desks are arranged for the lawyers and judge. The appearance is much better than heretofore, as well as being more commodious. On Sunday the band boys went to Netarts. On starting, about 7 o'clock A. M., they entertained the town by playing "Marching Through Georgia," and when they arrived home stopped in front of the Alderman and expressed their joy at being once more safe in Tillamook by playing "Home Sweet Home." The lumber schooner Eureka is bar bound at Nehalem. The heavy fog which has been prevalent along the coast lately causes a heavy swell which in turn causes the bar to shoal up. There is now only about 8 feet of water on Nehalem bar, but the sand will wash out again when the weather clears and there will be the usual amount of water in the channel. The court room is as quiet as death during this term of court. The austere manner of the court commands order. If a man is found standing up in the room, the sheriff is immediately instructed to set him down. The loose and lazy manner of holding court in vogue in this county a few years ago, was quite different from the present state of affairs. The light house road project seems to be dragging yet, and the proposition to build it by hiring the labor has not developed to a certainty. If the government had patronized newspapers in advertising for bids, no doubt the contract would have been let at a reasonable figure long ago. Posting notices in obscure places doesn't count for much. Among the Nehalemites in attendance at court are E. G. E. Wist, Robert Crawford, Geo. Dean, Wm. Foley, Wm. Russell, J. B. Papp, G. B. Johnson, Robt. Krebs, Dr. Bailey, S. Lundberg, Geo. Woodruff, Lee Alley, H. H. Downing, D. Cronen, Henry Tohl, H. Schollmeyer, L. B. Alley, Benj. Higgenbotham, H. V. Alley, E. G. Scovell, and about thirty others.

If anyone wishes to see what can be done with Tillamook lumber, they should look at the finished doors in the Larsen House. These doors are made of cedar from the Harris place, shipped from here to Portland, and after being manufactured shipped back here. Mr. Oakes did the finishing work, which shows the natural grain of wood, and it would be difficult to find any lumber prettier than cedar finished in this manner. The Elmore arrived in the bay Monday morning having been out all night owing to the heavy fog. She brought in considerable freight and also towed four fish boats from Astoria but these were lost coming over the bar. It is expected they will come ashore on the spit. Among the passengers were Judge Burnett and his wife and niece, Senator Fulton of Astoria, and W. E. Pogue, stenographer. It would be a good thing if there was a sash and door factory in this place. As it is fine cedar lumber is shipped from here and manufactured outside and then shipped back again. It seems if the freight charges and the costs of handling in Portland ought to make margin enough to pay a home factory, besides the advantage of employing workmen who would keep the money in circulation here. A fire which at one time threatened to destroy the town occurred at Nehalem Saturday. Some parties were burning sash and while they were in the house eating dinner the fire got beyond control and spread into the surrounding timber. A strong east wind was blowing at the time which caused the fire to run towards the town rapidly, and preparations were being made to move out. Fortunately the wind changed before any damage was done to the buildings. A considerable amount of fine timber was destroyed. Dr. T. H. Meserole has gone to Forest Grove to accept a position as physician in the Keeley Institute. He will be sent by the management to the head institute at Dwight, Illinois, where instruction is given to all physicians that are placed in charge of their establishments. Dr. Meserole will probably attend the World's Fair and make a visit to his home in the East before he goes into active work. He was agreeably surprised when he received the appointment as it came entirely unsolicited and has a good salary attached. Dr. Meserole is a graduate of the Medical Department of the University of New York. Judge Burnett is one of the most expeditious judges ever saw in holding court and disposing of cases. He does not admit of dilly-dallying or delay by the lawyers. While Judge Burnett is a very pleasant gentleman outside of court, he has the dignity and regal bearing of a czar in the court room. Sometimes he seems a little arbitrary and severe in the promptness with which he disposes of matters, but his rulings appear just generally, and by his decisive manner he saves a great deal of money for the people. It costs money to run a circuit court, and the sooner justice is meted out properly, the sooner the expense ceases. Little 11-year-old Hans Hanson, living near Nehalem had an experience the other day he will not soon forget. While fishing in Cook creek canyon with a companion he crawled through some brush to reach a place near the falls. The other boy, being larger, could not get through, so he started to climb over, when he ran into a congar. He picked up some rocks and threw at the beast, and being hit the congar made a spring and landed on the back of young Hanson, who was a few feet below. He had just stepped on a rock in the edge of the water when the congar struck him and was knocked in the foaming water and carried over the falls. He escaped unhurt. The congar did not go over the falls, but after a hard struggle to get out finally succeeded and disappeared in the woods. The boy has lots of grit, for he went fishing in the same place the next day.—Nehalem Times. The County Assessor's office is no soft snap now. The recent state law making it the duty of the county assessor to do all the assessing and relieve the school districts and other subdivisions from making separate assessments, puts a lot of work in the county assessor's hands. There is about as much work in this office now, as in any other office in the county. The increased work is caused by land of one owner lying in two or more school districts and in two or more road districts. In one case, the land of Mrs. A. Burton, south of town, eighteen descriptions were necessary and the amounts have to be carried out for each description, as well as the number of footings being increased. Those interested should take a look at the assessor's books in order to fully appreciate the circumstances. This work has to be done, however, by somebody, and it is better to concentrate it in one office. Asse-ssor Pye, with his assistant, P. D. Nowell, have a lot of work before them, and they seem to be doing it thoroughly. Heho. F. C. Foland went to Sheridan this week. John West, of Portland, was fishing on Nestucca last week. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Farmer have returned from Sand Lake. J. C. O'Reilly and family have returned to their home in Portland. Quite a number of Woods' people went to Tillamook Sunday to attend court. Mrs. G. W. Bodyselt and Mrs. A. J. Rhoades went to Portland this week to visit with their sister Mrs. W. A. Graves and other friends.

A Frivolous Case. Mr. F. D. Vincent of Tillamook county was brought to Sheridan last Wednesday by constable Andy Bewley on a warrant sworn out by R. H. Booth, charging Vincent with the crime (?) of breaking into "Dutch Johnny's" cabin on Coast Fork. Vincent is a school teacher and is well and favorably known here. The evidence showed and Vincent himself admitted, that he took off a board from Johnny's cabin window and crawled in to sleep on the night of July 6, while going to Blaine from Sheridan. Vincent had been a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism and did not want to lie out, and he offered to pay Johnny for the trifling damage done. Justice Field held Vincent to appear before the grand jury in the sum of $500, which was afterward reduced to $100. As many as 50 citizens stood ready to go on Vincent's bonds, which were soon filled out. It seems to be the almost unanimous opinion of our citizens that it was a mistake to issue a warrant for Vincent. The case created much excitement and Mr. Vincent received many assurances of sympathy from the large crowd present. He will return to his school in Tillamook county.—Sheridan Sun. The Dry Stocking Difficulty. There has been a great deal of talk regarding the manner in which the work has been done on Dry Stocking bar and at Junction bar. It has been said that the work was loosely thrown together, and that the stone used would soon crumble to pieces, besides that the work was in no way according to specifications. There is a great deal of difference of opinion as to the matter. The authorities have not seen fit to offer a satisfactory explanation for publication, though they have claimed that it is alright. There has been trouble brewing for some time between the Inspector, Capt. Eastwick, and Contractor Howard, and it developed in an open quarrel recently. Howard claimed that the Inspector was unnecessarily exacting and threatened to have him removed. Last week Capt. T. W. Symons, the chief government engineer for this district, came to this city rather unexpectedly, and went over the work. It is said that Howard boasted he would have Inspector Eastwick removed on this occasion. It is not known what Capt. Symons thought of the work or what action he took, but he went away on Saturday and Capt. Eastwick followed on Monday. However, Capt. Eastwick left word that he would return today, and further developments are expected when he turns. Before he left he ordered the work of pile driving at Junction bar discontinued, unless certain piling were straightened up. The conditions were complied with and work has been going on. There is no question the work has not been done according to specifications, but it is the opinion of those who understand such work that it will stand for all time. Personal. Mark Levi, of San Francisco, is in the city. Capt. Symons returned to Portland Saturday. L. Crenshaw arrived in Tillamook Sunday from Eastern Oregon. Mr. Barrett, of San Francisco, arrived in the city Tuesday. Senator Forsyth, of Washington, is in Tillamook on a short visit. J. E. Garrison, the well known breeder of thorough-bred poultry, was in the city Monday. C. W. Talmade, ex-county treasurer of Yamhill county, was in the city this week on business. Senator Tongue, of Washington county, has been enjoying himself on the Netarts beach and returned home Saturday. C. H. Colton, of Sand Lake, was in town yesterday. He reports that his cranberries are doing well and that he has about two acres already planted. Mr. B. S. Schermerhorn, of the firm of Schermerhorn & Co., of Portland, dealers in eggs, butter and cheese came in on the First Grove stage Tuesday. He is looking over this section of the country with a view to using it as a source of supplies. He pronounces the roll butter of Fairview creamery to be first class. The following named attorneys from outside this county were in attendance at this term of court: Judge Capl's, Geo. C. Stout, of Stolt, Boise & Stott, T. G. Green of Cox, Teal & Minor, Ex-Gov. W. W. Thayer, all of Portland, Hon. G. Bingham, ex-district attorney, of Salem, State Senator Charles Fulton, of Astoria, Judge J. J. Daly, of Dallas, Hon. James McCain, district attorney, of Lafayette. Court Notes. The following is a list of the grand jury: W. C. Morton, foreman, F. M. Lamb, Amos Vaughn, Herman Farmer, T. J. Penter, Wm. Fitzpatrick, and Geo. Pyttit. The case of Bewley vs. Woodruff was tried Tuesday, and the jury gave a verdict for $70 in favor of Mr. Bewley. It was an action to recover $200 for the loss of a sow. It was alleged that Bewley engaged Woodruff, who was then running the steamer Garfield, to tow a scow to a certain place, and that through Woodruff's negligence the scow was sunk and lost, hence the suit. In the case of Stillwell vs. S. A. Roberts and others, the decision was adverse to Stillwell's interests; however he receives judgment. There was a trial as to the rights of property before a sheriff's jury last week and it was decided that N. P. Roberts had no title to the store, and that it yet belonged to S. A. Roberts. Before the matter came up in the circuit court S. A. Roberts made an assignment of the property to J. W. Maxwell. This, the court ruled, placed all the creditors on an equal basis, giving Mr. Stillwell no prior lien. It is understood the assets will not pay more than 50 cents on the dollar, and there is further litigation regarding the matter. According to the foregoing decision, Ed. Moran, who paid part of the security notes for S. A. Roberts, will come in for his proportion of what the assets bring. The Stillwell claim amounted to $3,200 and the note that Moran paid amounted to $1,100. In the case of Wist vs. Cronen & McCourt, the verdict relieved McCourt but found judgment against Cronen for $28.41. Mr. Wist sued for $404. The Union Mill Co., of which Cronen and McCourt were members, did grading for Wist, and received money and supplies. There was a balance of nearly $400 against the Union Mill Co., and Mr. Wist claimed that Cronen & McCourt agreed to pay the balance after the Mill Co. was attached by the sheriff. Cronen admitted that he owed Wist a small amount personally, but they both denied assuming responsibility for the Mill Co. Hence the jury decided that Wist had no claim on Cronen or McCourt for the Mill Co's debt. The replevin suit of Wist vs. Cronen & McCourt, bearing on the foregoing case, was dismissed. Formerly the law allowed the sheriff to select jurymen from the bystanders to the juryman run short. It does not permit it now, and the jurymen must be taken from the body of the county making a vexatious delay oftentimes. Lee Nelson, a 14-year-old boy, has been indicted for shooting sheep belonging to his father's neighbor. His trial has not yet been set. The number of damage suits in this court is remarkable. It is a sad reflection on the community to think that people can't get along without engaging in disgusting lawsuits to establish character. Everyone who engages in such controversies comes out poorer in pocket and poorer in character. A man who always loses in court is sure to have some mean things raked up about his private character, and he publishes them to the world in this way. There is a large attendance in the court room during both day and night sessions. N. A. Hutelins vs. J. W. McVicker, settled. S. A. Roberts vs. Tillamook City, suit to remove cloud from title, dismissed. Baker & Smith vs. Lester Hart, foreclosure lumberman's lien, settled. W. C. King vs. W. S. Runyon, foreclosure mortgage, settled. W. T. Kimball and Wesley Day vs. Geo. F. Williams, foreclosure logger's lien, settled. Mary S. Downs vs. T. F. Harris, Truman Harris, et al, action for money on note, judgment by default. Means & Tilden vs. Geo. F. Williams, et al, foreclosure of mechanic's lien, judgment by default. Dekun, Rros. vs. S. A. Roberts, foreclosure of mortgage, judgment by default. A. S. Campbell vs. Theo. Jacoby, foreclosure mortgage, settled. John Jones vs. J. W. Johnson, action for money, judgment by default. A. G. Beals vs. A. A. Miller, foreclosure mortgage, settled. F. S. Fairhurst vs. Jas. Christensen, foreclosure mortgage, settled. W. J. Stillwell vs. S. A. Roberts, E. Moran, et al, suit to set aside conveyance, dismissed. S. W. Her vs. W. S. Runyon, et al, foreclosure of mortgage, judgment by default. Money, judgment by default. C. B. Handley vs. L. E. Handley, suit for divorce, judgment for plaintiff by default. C. & E. Thayer vs. S. A. Roberts, et al, action for money, judgment by default. The grand jury found not a true bill against Louisa Wallita (Indian Lize) and she is a free woman, after spending many months in jail. It has long been suspected that she is insane. The grand jury found not a true bill against L. G. Freeman, who was bound over for assaulting his wife some time ago. The case of the state against C. P. Darling has been dismissed. Darling was bound over to keep the peace for assaulting his wife and lay in jail a time for it. The case of the state vs. Wm. J. Doughty, charged with horse-stealing was dismissed. It will be remembered that young Doughty stole one of Don Hays' horses a few years ago, but was caught on the road to North Yamhill. Owing to his youth he was not punished, but the case was continued from year to year, the boy being allowed to go on his good behavior. Anna Butt was granted a divorce from her husband Wm. Butt, on the ground of desertion. The damage case of Crawford vs. Wist is being tried and is attracting a great deal of attention. The grand jury found no true bill against L. Crenshaw for an alleged assault against Dave Howard with a deadly weapon.
