WILSON BILL.
PASSED BY A VOTE OF 204 TO 140.
The new Income tax included in the bill.
An account of the scenes in the house during the final passage of the Wilson tariff bill reads thus:
The bill was reported to the house and the closing speeches began.
Such a vast concourse of people as assembled to hear these final arguments have never before been seen within the precincts of the nation's capitol. Nothing like it was ever known in the history of the oldest inhabitant. For hours before the debate began, the corridors leading to the galleries were a surging mass of humanity, which finally became so great that men cried out in terror and women fainted in fright. It is estimated that over 20,000 attempted to gain admittance to the galleries of the house today.
Their seating capacity is about 3000 and every available seat was occupied long before the gavel dropped. So great did the crush become that members secured permission to bring their wives upon the floor. The crowd at the doors, however, continued, until Speaker Crisp, who had been nervously noting the dangerous packing of the people, interrupted roll call long enough to say it was in the interest of safety of human life that the doorway be closed. Only 10 of the 354 members of the house were absent. Many senators and other distinguished personages were on the floor and in the galleries of the house today.
Mrs. Stevenson and other ladies of eminence and distinction were seated.

Then for three hours the oratory of the champions of the two economic systems followed—Reed, Crisp and Wilson, while their partisans made the air vocal with shouts of approval. The appearance of the speaker of the house upon the floor, engaged in debate was in itself a remarkable as well as an unusual thing. Each of these speakers seemed to be in the best of form and the speeches of today will rank among the most brilliant of their lives.
Then came the final vote on the tariff bill itself, on which the aye and nay vote was asked and granted by rising vote. Roll call was watched with marked attention and frequent bursts of applause greeted the accessions to one side or the other. Beltzhoover was first to win applause by an aye vote, indicating that the Pennsylvanians were falling into line.
Immediately after this Blanchard of Louisiana showed that opposition to the bill was not intact. Cochran's vote in favor of the bill brought out tumultuous cheering and the climax of demonstration was reached when the name of Wilson, the author of the bill was reached, the democrats cheering vociferously in final recognition of his leadership. The speaker asked that his name be called and answered in the affirmative. The speaker announced "on this question the ayes are 204 and nays 140," and the bill passed.

New Military Bill.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The house committee on military affairs will report favorably the bill of General Curtis, of New York, which revises the regulations for enlistment in the regular army, and is designed to Americanize the troops.
Its most important provisions are that no man shall be enlisted in time of peace except American citizens or those who have declared their intentions to become citizens, that the men must be able to speak, read and write the English language. These rules do not apply to Indians. The official reports show that over 37 per cent. of our soldiers at the present time owe allegiance to foreign governments. Candidates for enlistment must be under 30 years of age. Under the existing rules the enlistments are for a minimum of five years, and the length of service restricted to ten years.
The committee recommends all enlistments be for terms of three years, and no man shall re-enlist who has not served honestly and faithfully during the first term.

The escaped Outlaws.
A special correspondent to the Oregonian writes as follows: SAMPSON'S FLAT, Cal., Jan. 25.—Chris Evans and Ed. Morel, the trainrobbers who escaped from the Fresno county jail a few days ago, came here at Mr.
Bigelow's cabin at 7:30 last night. They remained all night and for breakfast this morning. They put in the day scouting around the flat, and came back again this evening. They say they have seen the posse several times and given them the slip. Evans does not seem at all uneasy, but talks freely of his trip.
He loves to tell of his escape from jail.
He says the posse is now at Aukland, 20 miles south. When asked why he did not leave the country, Chris. says with a laugh: "Oh, we are in no hurry. I don't think I will go until I want to change of climate."

They are prepared to make a strong fight. Evans further said the mountains look natural and he is right at home.
THEY PLAYED WITH SCHOOL CHILDREN.
FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 1.—The Expositor published a story this evening, giving the movements of Evans and Morel from January 22 to the 29th, inclusive. Thursday of last week they worked all day in J. N. Albin's mine in Sampson Flat, and and were paid that evening by Mr.
Albin for their day's service. They are also said to have visited a school in Sampson's Flat a day or so later and played with the little pupils. There is no question as to the authenticity of the report.
An expensive Optic.
MORRISTOWN, Feb. 1.—A suit for $10,- 000 damages for the loss of an eye was tried in the Morris county, N. J., circuit court, before Supreme Judge Magie yesterday. The parties in the suit were Thomas M. Burke and John Doyle, a brakeman on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway. On the night of June second, 1893, Doyle was at Burke's house in company with a Miss Egan, a domestic. Burke overheard a remark made by Doyle to Miss Egan regarding her staying in his employ, and becoming incensed at it entered the room, and told Doyle to leave. Doyle did so, followed by Miss Egan and Burke. When they were at the bottom of the step Doyle turned around in a threatening attitude when Burke made a thrust with a club.
The end of the stick entered Doyle's right eye, destroying the sight. The jury after a short deliberation returned a verdict for the plaintiff of $6,000.

A Lad's Peculations.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The peculations of James Anderson, of Indiana, a well connected lad of 18 years, who is employed as a messenger in the treasury vaults, proves more serious than was at first supposed. They amount to $794 as far as has been ascertained, and the inquiry is still in progress. When the theft was first discovered, it was supposed to amount only to a few dollars, and at the request of the treasury officials publication of the fact was suppressed.
Anderson had access to the silver vaults for the purpose of showing visitors through. He pried open the wood work of some of the silver chests near the lattice work, slit the bags containing the silver dollars and helped himself to a few dollars at a time as he wanted them.

Gladstone all right.
LONDON, Feb. 2.—Referring to its statement of the impending resignation of Gladstone, the Pall Mall Gazette says: "The announcement was made with a full sense of the responsibility. We were prepared for official denials, but were not prepared for a virtual confirmation of the accuracy of the statement from Gladstone himself. The whole denial is an elaborate attempt to prepare his supporters for a step he has decided to take.
It is now manifest his tenure of office is limited to months, if not weeks. His withdrawal means the disruption of the party and a general reconstruction of the party."
While the liberal papers confess to be satisfied with the denial, others are inclined to agree that the answer is a riddle. The majority of the general public are inclined to think the report is true.

Man to watch Smugglers.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Some people out in Oregon are just beginning to realize what a soft snap inspectorships under the treasury department are, and two applications have already come in.
Julius M. Giesy of Portland wants to be a special inspector, and James W. Matlock of Heppner, Morrow county, wants the job inspecting the landing of Chinese.
While these men are good democrats, the department as well as the president, are much afraid that smuggling on the Pacific coast has been so long winked at to have contaminated the whole population of that section, and it is looking for special inspectors elsewhere just at present.

Custom House Frauds.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—The United States grand jury has been engaged during the last three days in investigating immense custom-house frauds in connection with the importation of Sumatra tobacco by Liebs Bros., and D. M. Cashin, formerly a custom-house inspector here.
Indictments will be issued on four separate counts, charging perjury and conspiracy to defraud the government of large sums of money.

Will accept Stagg's Resignation.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Controller Eckes has decided to accept the resignation of Lionel Stagg as receiver of the Oregon National. No Portland man will be appointed receiver.
Children, plants and animals grow more rapidly during the night.

Jagello dynasty, which at one time united the two Crowns of Poland and Lithuania.
It is stated by Helmholtz that nerve force is transmitted at the rate of 110 ft. per second; according to Wheatstone electricity travels at the rate of 1,530,- 640,005 ft. per second. It has been calculated (says "Invention") that in the case of a man 6 ft. high it takes 1-20-th of a second for a message to travel along his nerves from the brain to the feet, so that the shorter a man is the sharper he ought to be, as all "messages" flash through him so much quicker, having less distance to travel.
In Shakespeare's time parts of Rosalind and Portia, Desdemona and Lady Macbeth, Jessica and Cordelia, Juliet and Isabella, Mariana, and other heroines of the great dramatist, were enacted by choir boys. Nowadays the tables have been turned with a vengeance, a performance of "As You Like It" being taken place in New York with a cast composed entirely of women. The only hitches in the whole piece, it appears, were caused by some "miserable" men, who had inadvisedly been engaged as scene-shifters.
