

News and Comment.

Fresh butter at the Central meat Market.

Bologna sausage at the Central Market every week.

This paper will soon announce clubbing rates with the "Coming Nation."

Districts needing blank school bonds should call at this office and see samples.

Fresh meats are delivered every day to the Central Market's branch in Bay City.

There will be a dance at the G. A. R. Hall next Saturday evening, every body invited.

Dave Hadley is building a house on his Netarts property. The sawmill over there has begun operation.

E. M. Keys has fitted up a fine camp ground at his place on Trask river. He says fishing is getting good up that way.

C. B. Stokes, telegraph operator of Forest Grove, came over Wilson river road on a bicycle for a short visit last week.

Mills is trading the whole republican ticket, or some of his friends are, which is the same thing. No doubt you know instances.

Though the Nehalem Times disagrees with us on some political issues, we admire the square manly fight it is making for the men of its choice.

The steamer Augusta has quit trawl fishing off the Columbia as it proved unprofitable, and will fish for halibut off the Sound country.

Persons knowing themselves indebted to me and wishing to settle will find their accounts at the office of G. O. Nolan. Respectfully, L. H. BROWN.

Certain parties still insist that this paper wanted $50 for two columns. Mr. Handley, himself, will tell you that we refused it, and offered the use of the paper for nothing.

It is thought that as soon as the Frisco store advertisement is read by the people that there will be parties here from all parts of the country to take advantage of the low prices. 1-2

Many of the candidates have been greatly bored lately by "strikers" who have a great deal of "influence" and want a few dollars to go up to Nehalem or down to Nestucca to "rattle up the boys".

It is proposed that there be a grand ball for the defeated candidate after the election is over and that the successful ones foots the bill. From the length of the tickets, the ball ought to be well attended.

Mr. Dalrymple, the populist candidate for district attorney, made a very interesting speech to a large audience in the court house Saturday afternoon. Mr. Dalrymple is an entertaining talker and made many good points.

C. E. Reynolds has promised to appoint three deputy coroners in every precinct, if elected. He has also promised harbor improvements at Nestucca, Netarts and Sand Lake, besides guaranteeing a railroad, good wagon roads and several other things.

The entertainment at the rink Saturday night was well patronized, and shows that there is a great deal of talent, even in so sequestered a spot as Tillamook. Our friends Fairview will receive a cordial reception any time they wish to show to the people of this town. Come again.

The Steamer Louise makes daily trips to all points on the bay, leaving Tillamook at 8 in the morning, returning about noon. The proprietors have refitted the boat in good shape, and expect to make two trips daily in a short while, after which they will publish a time table.

Stage fare to North Yamhill is down to $3.50.

Court proceedings will be given next week.

A big shipment of blasting powder at Letcher's.

Beware of election lies circulated at a late hour.

Mill's attempt to get Huff to draw off was a ridiculous failure.

G. B. Johnson, editor of the Nehalem Times was in the city today.

Seventy-five barrels of whisky would not have helped Mill's cause any.

Dr. Wise is still in town. He had too much work to do when he expected to go.

The legislature will be safely republican, beyond a doubt, even if Mr. Selph is elected.

The Elmore came in yesterday heavily loaded, and will go out tomorrow via Nehalem.

Wherever Mills gets his best vote, the rest of the ticket will fare poorest. Does this mean trading?

The man who swiped the ten cents from the counter had better return it. We are onto you.

A few copies of the election laws of Oregon to give away to subscribers. First come, first served.

The HEADLIGHT makes no new charges or arguments just before election. Every thing we have said could have been answered by this time if at all.

Decoration Day was duly observed yesterday, the G. A. R. marching, accompanied by the band. The graves of the departed soldiers were appropriately decorated.

Don't take any stock in the stories Dr. Mills is circulating at the last moment. He was not willing to make his charges public in time for the people to investigate them.

The Advocate was held back this week after it had been printed, so that anything it said might not be answered before election, no doubt all for the sake of Mr. Handley's two columns. The Advocate is published principally in the interest of Mills and Handley.

Most all the people in this county subscribed for the HEADLIGHT, but we want all of them. We're not particular about your religion or politics. Your dollar is good, and we expect to give you a dollar's worth in return. Republicans, Democrats, Populists, Mugwumps, Prohibitionists, Kickers, and members of factions or combinations are welcome to take the paper, pay for it and read the local news.

This teachers' institute fund affair is a serious thing. Do the people want to elect a man to office who does not account for money belonging to the county? The worst of it is, Mr. Handley has not only neglected to turn over what he has collected, but he has drawn out part of the balance left there by his predecessor. The treasurer's books are plain and easily understood on this matter. the most illiterate man in the county can see through it at a glance.

John Barker, our popular townsman, (who is also a candidate for county treasurer) woke up the other morning and the sun was shining in his face. John wasn't used to this. Old Sol generally sent his genial rays in over John's head in the early morning. "Say, there's been an earthquake," said John to his wife. He knew there had been an earthquake or that the election was over and had gone wrong. His wife began to laugh. Then John remembered that he had moved his house onto another lot and turned it completely around. He said nothing, but got up and made a fire in the kitchen stove, something he hadn't done in a long time.

Dr. Mills insulted Rev. McLachlan, of the Methodist Church, a few days ago by telling him to go down to the saloon and take a drink. He has insulted more than half the people in the county already.

We offered Mr. Handley space to tell why he had neglected to turn that institute fund money over to the treasurer. He has not explained himself yet. The only way to explain it, is to turn the money over to the treasurer, and it has not been done.

Rifans Tabules: for sour stomach.

No person who may hereafter be a collector or holder of public money, shall be eligible to any office of trust or profit, until he shall have accounted for and paid over, according to law, all sums for which he may be liable.—Constitution of Oregon, Article II, Section 11.

CENTRAL MARKET

Only the best selected stock butchered for this market. Beef, veal, mutton and pork on hand at all times. Dressed poultry every Saturday. Game in season. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

ALDERMAN & HIGGINBOTHAM.

Headlight, $1.00 per Year.

Hard Times.

The prices of all commodities have dropped. The HEADLIGHT realizes this and will give the people the advantage of a hard times price on the paper. Until June 15, 1894, the price of this paper will be only $1.00 per year. This applies to all new cash subscribers, all old subscribers who pay a year in advance, and to all who are in arrears and pay up until the present time and for a year in advance. This arrangement cannot last longer than stated, as $1.00 per year barely pays for the actual cost of the white paper, but we make this offer in order to give those who are in arrears a chance to pay up regardless of hard times, and get our books square. Do not delay this matter too long.