A very interesting report of the Oretown Decoration Day exercises, containing a glowing tribute to the dead soldiers, was crowded out of the paper this week. Too much election.

Lost:—Between Hobsonville and Svenson's, a lady's Mackintosh, and dress skirt. Any one finding and returning same, in good condition, to this office will be liberally rewarded.

News reached here yesterday that a shooting scrape had taken place in Lafayette. According to report, Tom Nelson and another man, whose name we did not learn, had a fight on the street. Chas. Nelson, who is city marshal, attempted to arrest them, when another man named Doug. Bryant interfered. The trouble then became between the marshal and Bryant, and the marshal finally took a shot at Bryant, the only damage done being that the face and wrist of Bryant were considerably powder-burnt.—North Yamhill Record.

In Yamhill county the total vote for joint representative with Tillamook is,—Dyer, pop., 756; Guild, rep, 1584; Selph, dem., 835. This gives Guild a plurality of 749 in Yamhill county, and with his 112 plurality here, it is increased to 861.

Parties working roads should be careful not to leave road scrapers on the roads in such a position as to scare horses. Several accidents have happened lately on this account. It seems that a scraper is particularly liable to frighten horses, and they should be taken off the roads after working hours.

The water at Portland is at its extreme height, being 33 feet above low water mark. This is five feet higher than the Willamette ever was before at that point and all the business part of the city is flooded. The water is up to 6th street and surrounds the Holton and Perkins hotels, and is above the first stories on Front street. The water is now at a stand still, and it is thought it will recede in a few days.

E. Parr, of Virginia, the contractor of the North Yamhill and Tillamook mail route, who has been in our city for the past week, succeeded in closing a sub-contract with P. H. Messner yesterday for carrying the mail over this route for the next four years. Mr. Messner is a thrifty, enterprising and accomodating gentleman, and will no doubt keep the stage service in good condition, as it is at present under the management of J. V. McClintick. Mr Parr leaves this morning.—North Yamhill Record.

A good story is told on Jack Jackson in regard to one of his electioneering experiences. While down south he wandered away from the rest of the combination searching for straggling votes. He happened at a house on Sunday where several of the neighbors were gathered, enjoying some music. Jack went down in his pocket and brought out some cigars and treated the men folks, one of the ladies spoke up asking why he didn't treat them also. He said nothing, but went out to his horse, opened his saddlebags which he always had along. And came in with a couple of pounds of candy which he distributed among the women and children. It is said also that he kissed all the babies and children in the country during the campaign. We believe the foregoing to be true, however, the man who told us about it is a confirmed liar.

Headlight, $1.00 per Year.

Hard Times.

The prices of all commodities have dropped. The HEADLIGHT realizes this and will give the people the advantage of a hard times price on the paper. Until June 15, 1894, the price of this paper will be only $1.00 per year. This applies to all new cash subscribers, all old subscribers who pay a year in advance, and to all who are in arrears and pay up until the present time and for a year in advance. This arrangement cannot last longer than stated, as $1.00 per year barely pays for the actual cost of the white paper, but we make this offer in order to give those who are in arrears a chance to pay up regardless of hard times, and get our books square. Do not delay this matter too long.
