STUD POKER FINANCE.

Everybody knows what stud poker is. The players each buy so many chips. The dealer takes his percentage everytime a hand is played. Six men may start in with $5.00 each in the evening. Before morning the dealer will have it all. The European bankers and bondholders are the dealers, the Wall Street bankers are the cappers, and the American public constitutes the players. We pay them all our money in the shape of interest, they loan it back to us, and we give them mortgages on our farms. Soon will they have our farms and our money. They have all our gold now, and we can't do business for the lack of a convenient circulating medium. "Stud Poker Finance" is the title of a little book, by J. T. Flynn, P. O. Box 225, Portland, Oregon, price 25 cents. Everyone should read it. Nothing was ever written that was clearer or more to the point. In it the financial question is ably handled, and in language that every man can understand.

Don't talk about overproduction, when so many people are in need of bread. Yet, wheat goes begging at 27 cents per bushel. The laborer starves and the farmer does without manufactured luxuries. Where is the blame.

There are six women holding the office of school superintendent in this state, without being contested, and some of them in the most populous counties in the state.

There was less business transacted at the Oregon City land office during August than any one month for several years past, says the Enterprise. Not a single timber entry was made and the cash receipts from commutation and preemptions suffered a serious decline. The homestead filings and final proofs have been up to the average of the previous months of the summer. The only business that has increased is that of contests.

NEWSPAPER ENGLISH.

He kissed her back.—Atlanta Constitution.

She fainted, upon his departure.—Lynn Union.

She seated herself upon his entering.—Albia Democrat.

She whipped him upon his return.—Burlington Hawkeye.

How about the woman who was hurt in the fracas?—Railway Age.

He kicked the tramp upon his setting down.—American Pharmacist.

We thought she sat down upon her being asked.—Saturday Gossip.

He kissed her passionately upon her reappearance.—Jefferson Souvenir.

A Chicago foodpad was shot in the tunnel.—Western Medical Reporter, Chicago.

We feel compelled to refer to the poor woman who was shot in the oil regions.—Medical World.

And why not drop a tear for the man who was fatally stabbed in the rotunda, and for him who was kicked on the highway?—Medical Age.

The above clippings appeared in the Oregonian recently, and it is thought they were dropped in "unknownst" to the dignified Harvey Scott. Perhaps it is some of Mr. Dunningway's work. The Oregonian should have added one like the following:

"When he kissed her, she went off on her dignity."

NORTH YAMHILL NOTES.

[Record.]

Miss Della and Martha Messner started for Tillamook Monday evening, to visit with friends for a week.

J. V. McClintic, an old resident of this county and had charge of the North Yamhill and Tillamook stage line for several years, is now located at Santa Cruz California.

Miss Ida Pagankopf, whose home is in Albany, and who has been teaching on Trask river the past summer, is visiting friends in this city for a few days, preparatory to taking a position as one of the teachers in the Cook School in McMinnville.

Judge Burnett, of the Tillamook circuit, was in our city Friday. He visited his sister near town.

[Yes, Judge Burnett is of the Tillamook circuit, and this circuit includes Yamhill and some other counties, the names of which we have forgotten.—Ed. HEADLIGHT.]

A Correction.

The following appears in the North Yamhill Record:

"According to a correspondent to the Tillamook Advocate from Garibaldi, the landlord of the Bay View House informs campers going there that they are not wanted. He must be a very accommodating hotel man—not."

C. T. Hills, the proprietor of the Bay View House, always welcomes people at his place, and the above statement is absolutely without foundation, probably referring to another place entirely.
