There is a building boom in Tillamook notwithstanding the winter rains.

That's right; come along with your dollar. We enjoy writing receipts.

In the case of the State Insurance Co. vs. A. Klein, the plaintiff was non-suited.

Several widowers were greatly interested in the marriage bureau proposition.

The mail was nearly three hours late Tuesday evening on account of fallen trees in the road.

Tuttle & Cary are rustlers. They get in a large stock of hardware every time the boat arrives.

This is the last week of the publication of the tax list. The sheriff's sale will occur December 21.

If you want a nice rib roast, a choice boiling piece, or a good stew, call at the Central Meat Market.

E. M. Philebaum and Miss Maggie Fearnside were married at Vancouver, Wash., Dec. 4. Both parties are favorably known here.

This is a good time to pay up your arrears on subscription, as you get the dollar rate clear through. No chance to do this after Jan. 1, 1895.

Copying press, for letters, first class in every respect; just the thing for business men who wish to keep copies of letters, for sale cheap at this office.

Wm. Kneoll always has plenty of fruits, vegetables, nuts, candies etc. Don't forget to call at the bakery when you need anything of the kind.

A road supervisor, recently appointed for a district in the south part of the county, in the absence of a J. P., took his oath of office before a post-master.

A six-horse team hitched to a "prairie schooner" containing two families, stopped over Tuesday night in our city. They were from Portland and were on their way to Tillamook county where the men have land. The team was driven by a "jerk line," which was quite a curiosity to some of our people.—North Yambill Record. The party referred to was C. W. Alley, returning to his ranch at Nehalem.

If you want a nice Christmas present for your girl, or the other fellow's girl, go to Letcher's and look at his large stock of jewelry and you will find just what you want.

The 300-foot bridge at Netarts was destroyed by the recent tides and storms. This is very unfortunate for the settlers on upper Netarts who have worked so hard for a road to their locality.

Heins the Photographer will receive on next steamer a large invoice of picture moldings, latest designs, which he will sell at the lowest price. Don't fail to see them if you intend to purchase some.

Yesterday afternoon there was a fire alarm, and the fire-cart was soon going down the streets, but it was too late. Somebody poured a bucket of water on the fire and put it out. It was in the roof of Chas. Ooley's residence.

Howard Cary and Cora Poland were married Tuesday evening. Mr. Cary is a son of Ex-county commissioner W. H. H. Cary, and the bride is one of the nicest young women in the county. Their many friends extend congratulations.

Through one of those unavoidable mistakes which occur in a printing office occasionally, Mr. L. Hiner's name was left out of the list of councilmen elected as was published in this paper last week. There was no intention to slight Mr. Hiner, who is one of the best citizens in the town.

A masquerade ball will be given by the Dancing Club in Larsen's hall, Dec. 25 1894. Ball to be opened at 8 o'clock by maskers in grand march. Tickets on sale by C. E. Reynolds from Dec 18 to 25, at $1.50 for outsiders, and $1.00 for members, including supper. Spectators 25 cents. Ladies free. Music by Handley's band, C. E. Reynolds and Henry Leach, floor managers.

Newt Leslie had a very narrow escape from drowning a few days ago. He was fording Cook creek near its mouth with two pack horses when both himself and the horses were swept below by the swift running waters. The horses swam out but Mr. Leslie had on a heavy over coat and was almost helpless. He drifted nearly quarter of a mile down the creek when he was able to grasp some overhanging bushes. He was nearly exhausted and had given up all hopes of ever reaching the shore.—Nehalem Times

The following extras will be received at Frisco Store on arrival of the Harrison. French Mustard and Genuine Worcester Sauce, in bulk, pickled pigs feet sliced pineapple, Island and genuine N. O. molasses, all kinds of new nuts, choice new white Figs, and many other delicacies. We have 3000 sacks of the best grades of flour, also 100 tons of feed, all kinds, which we bought before the advance in wheat, on all of which we can save you money. Our prices are lowest on flour, feed, pickles, beans, tobacco, soap, and in fact on everything in the general merchandise line. FRISCO STORE.

If you want your paper stopped, mark it refused and return it to us, or notify the post-master, who has blanks for notifying us: Don't let it run along if you don't want it. We do not wish to force the paper on any one, or send it to those who do not expect to pay. We try to do business on business principles. However, if you owe any thing on subscription, it would look better to pay up before you order it discontinued. We should stop all papers at expiration, but experience shows that most people want the paper continued, and we can't always tell what to do under the circumstances. Remember there is no discount on subscription price after January 1, 1895.

If senator Dolph will "get a big move on" and secure favorable action on the Nicaragua canal before Christmas, he will be forgiven for his gold-bug tendencies, and the state legislature which meets in January will likely re-elect him to the senate without much of a fight. The trouble is, however, that the transcontinental railroads are determined that the canal shall not be built, and Dolph has always been a railroad man. It is easy for a senator to appear as favoring a project, and yet at the same time, allow it to fail. The democratic congress now in session has an excellent chance to make restitution for the wrongs that it has done the country. It is a good time for many senators and representatives to set themselves right before the people. The opening of the Nicaragua canal means everything for Tillamook.
