The Secular Science Sunday School.

As I am secretary of a Secular Sunday School I am interested in Mrs. A. L Donaldson's article of last week.

My desire is the same as hers to avoid giving offense and to have the respect and friendship of all; but we honestly differ on this question and I will defend my positton as best I can with the understanding that I am to have the same privilege she desires, i. e. to speak plainly.

Mrs. Donaldson asks why our schools are called Sunday schools and I answer because they are conducted on Sunday. There has been no desire whatever to deceive people in regard to our science schools. We have by lectures and by distributing lessons tried to show the nature of our work and no one whether he be orthodox or liberal would be harmed by studying our excellent lessons on philosophy, patriotism and right living.

Why not call the orthodox Sunday school a John Calvin school, in honor of the man who accused and caused poor Servetus to be burned to death because he wrote a book against the Catholic doctrine of the Trinity?

Our aim is not to teach the doctrines Thomas Paine exclusively or of any other man but to study and learn all the truth we can whether it is found in common sense, or in the bible.

Orthodox christians are invited to help in this work and I am sure if their doctrines are true it is a grand opportunity to convert the doubting Thomases to their way of thinking.

We believe in trying to find the truth and it is the christians duty to help us. They should make themselves aquainted with our work and come and discuss these questions. We do not all believe alike and we have some very interesting and profitable discussions. The church people should not be afraid to associate with publicans and and sinners. They should do as Christ did, go where they are and help them instead of doing as the Scribes and Pharasees did.

The name Sunday school may still have a sacred meaning for we are doing our best to search for that most of all sacred things called truth.

The orthodox Sunday school was young once, the protestant church is not ve y old, and we should not be condemned because we honestly differ in opinion and wish to organize a school where all may express their views freely and where the children may be taught something useful.

The church has done a noble thing in trying to teach morality but it has not one-hundredth part what it might have done if it had long ago dropped its superstitions and grasping its grand opportunities, saved humanity for this world.

Civilization has advanced in spite of the church and not by its aid. If all had remained orthodox we would still believe the earth is flat. Bruno was murdered by the christians in 1600 for teaching that the earth revolves around the sun and we are shunned by good christian people now because we can not believe all the bible teaches, when much of it is in direct opposition to what our common school geographies teach

Infidelity is not shrinking away but is on the increase. There are many more liberalists than christians and most christians are more liberal than they were in Thomas Paine's time.

I can not understand why people will be allowed to collect the children together and teach them such falsehoods as "the sun stands still, the flood story, the Jonah and whale fable, the personal devil idea and hundreds of other myths O, how can parents stultify the minds of their children or compel them to become little hypocrites?

Perhaps the lady has not read Thomas Paine's works. I know many who condemn him have not. Is this fair or right? He taught freedom of thought. Is this wrong?

We do not teach the children to rebel against God and his laws or to be anarchists, but we teach them to be noble and true; we teach them to search nature and all good books for the true laws of God and we teach them to be patriotic loyal citizens. Yours for Reform,

J. E. Hosmer.

The following is the class poem of the Secular Sunday school:

Could we but draw the curtains
That surround each other's lives,
See the naked heart and spirit,
Know what spur the action gives,
Often we should find it better,
Purer than we judge we should;
We would love each other better,
If we only understood.

Could we judge all deeds by motives,
See the good and bad within,
Often we could love the sinner,
All the while we loathe the the sin,
Could we know the powers working
To o'erthrow integrity,
We would judge each others errors,
With more patient charity.

If we knew the cares and trials,
Knew the efforts all in vain,
And the bitter dissapointment,
Understood the loss and gain.
Would the grim external roughness
Seem, I wonder, just the same?
Would we help, where now we hinder?
Would we pity, where we blame?

Ah, we judge each other harshly,
Knowing not life's hidden force;
Knowing not the fount of action
Is less turpid at its source,
Seeing not amid the evil,
All the golden grains of good;
O, we'd love each other better,
If we only understood.

Ed. Headlight:—If you will kindly allow me, (a poor, superstitious, ignorant believer in God and his only begotten son, the savior of mankind,) to make a few remarks through the columns of your paper, I will be brief as possible in so doing.

In the first place, how are we to know that the bible is a lie? Have not learned and enlightened men been trying for years to prove it as such? Have they succeeded? Most certainly they have not. I am surprised to learn that christianity retards civilization. Dispense with all the churches, all the believers in religious doctrines, and I am afraid another flood would soon be needed to cleanse the earth from all filth and degredation that would accumulate. Now all who are unbelievers, and doing all in your power to make others so, just think what a wrong you are imposing on the world providing, christian religion is true. What real good is there in discussing to such an extent this much vexed question, recussing your imaginary wrongs, and cussing the preachers?

If believing is ignorance, and ignorance is bliss, then every believer must surely be happy, and as happiness is what we all desire in this life, as well as the life to come, why not let us be happy in our belief, and teach the same to others if it will make them happy.

R. E. Stanley.

An Apology.

We feel that we owe our readers an apology for inflicting so much gold bug plate matter upon them, but we aim to give all sides a hearing. Many, however are getting tired of the financial question, and are beginning to complain. In a few weeks our present batch of free coined gold bug plate matter will be worked off, and shall order the house that furnishes it to discontinue it.

Cheap Work.

I know a gentleman who has worked the past ten years and has not yet received his pay, and he only asks $80 per year, or $800 in all, and he did good work too.

He has built a five room dwelling, barn, has a ten-year-old fruit orchard, and has cleaned quite a bit of land. He now offers to sell it for the figures named and I think he is foolish for doing so, but that's his lookout, and he has authorized me to sell it.

There is 99 acres in the place, 85 acres of it upland, and 14 acres water front, suitable for wharves. There is one mile of water front altogether, the place being a peninsula in the Nestucca bay, and it is convenient to the ocean beach, the bay, river and near a Post Ofice. This is the best bargain in Oregon, and I hope this advertisement will be sufficient to sell it. Respectfully,

R. R. Hays, Tillamook, Or.

Resolutions.

At a stated communication of Tillamook Lodge No. 57 A. F. & A. M., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved--That the thanks of Tillamook Lodge are due and are hereby tendered to Bro. W. J. May and Carry May for their kindness in furnishing this Lodge with the use of their Hall on St. John's Day.

Resolved—That the thanks of the Lodge are due and are hereby tendered to Mrs. May Willey for her efficient services in preparing music for the ocassion.

Resolved—That this lodge heartily appreciating the efforts and success of the Ladies of Silver Wave Chapter No. 18, O. E. S., and the other ladies to whose care we owe the excellent repast furnished us on St. Johns Day tender to them its thanks.

Resolved—That the Secretary be instructed to furnish copies of these resolutions to the Tillamook papers for publication. F. R. Beals, Sec'y.

The Headlight is a little better this week than usual as it is filled up in a great measure by clippings from other papers. The reason why is that the Headlight force enjoyed itself on the beach for a time.

The sale of the Oregon Pacific has been confirmed and Mr. Hammond will doubtless soon be extending the road from Albany to Astoria via Tillamook, and across the Cascade mountains to Eastern connections.

W. J. Smith, of the Wilson river halfway house, was in the city this week. He still keeps open house for the traveling public, and has feed for horses. Those why stop at Mr. Smith's place receive good treatment.

Plank is being hauled for the new road from this place west to Tillamook river. The lumber is all sawed, and will be laid at once. By next season the travel to Netarts and Barnegat beaches will be going over the Light House road.

Samuel Elmore, of Astoria, came in on the Harrison this week and put in his time looking over the town, the surrounding country, and inspecting the creameries. He expressed great surprise at the wonderful development and improvements going on here, and could hardly believe it is the same Tillamook he saw a few years ago. He thinks Tillamook the most prosperous place on the coast, owing to the creameries which are being operated here successfully, and he has a milk ranch at the fish station, near Dry Stocking, kept by A. Abbot, and he is going to arrange to put more cattle on the place. Mr. Elmore contemplates building a neat summer residence there, and if he does so he and his family will spend a part of each summer here. He will make a road connecting his place with Light House road. His family expects to pay Tillamook a visit in the near future.
