

SALVATION IS FREE!!!

Those of you who have starved on the wind swept plains of Kansas, watched your crops wither and die for the want of moisture, and if they do live, see them eaten by grasshoppers or chinchbugs, saw your potatoes and gardens destroyed by gophers and prairie dogs—those of you who have faced the famine in Nebraska, burned corn to keep from freezing to death, fed your cattle nine months out of the year—those who have weathered the withering blasts of the Dakotas, had your ears and feet frozen off, shivered by a red hot stove or toyed with the death dealing zephyrs when the thermometer marked 60 degrees below zero—those who have braved the uncertain and changeable freaks of old Boreas in Iowa and Minnesota, dug through snow banks to get from your house to your barnyard, or witnessed your buildings go up in a cyclone, or you have shaken with the ague on the Wabash, coughed your lungs out in Chicago, wrestled with yellow fever in Memphis, or sneezed yourself silly on the alkali plains of Texas—saw your buildings, household goods, and crops floating placidly down the swollen Mississippi, saw your fodder rot in the shock, the weevil taking your wheat and the devil getting your nearest relatives—those of you who have seen crops fail seven years in succession, passed through a "busted" oil boom in Pennsylvania, the devastations of war in the South, the strikes in New York city, or tried to eke out a living on the yellow clay hills of Vermont—you who have worked hard for years, yet poor, everything mortgaged but the old woman and children, and still living from hand to mouth—those who are backsliders, weary of well doing, and discouraged in trying to earn a living honestly—if all these and many other afflictions have been your lot, why, at one fell swoop end all your troubles by coming to Oregon, and to Tillamook, where you will find absolution from most of the evils of the world.

CURED AT 73 YEARS.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure Victorious. No other medicine can show such a record. Here is a veritable patriarch, 73 years of age, with strong prejudice to overcome, who had Heart Disease 15 years. He took the New Heart Cure and is now sound and well.

SAMUEL O. STONE.
Grass Lake, Mich., Dec. 28, 1894.
I have been troubled with heart disease 15 years or more. Most of the time I was so bad it was not safe for me to go out alone, and it was a terrible trial. I had severe palpitation, shortness of breath and sudden pains that rendered me helpless. All physicians did for me was to give me a sleeping pill. In August last I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and before I had finished the first bottle I found the medicine was a God-send. I have now used four bottles and am feeling entirely well. I am 73 years of age and have held a grudge against patent medicines all my life, but I will not allow this to prevent giving my testimony to the great cure your valuable remedy has wrought in me. I do this to show my appreciation of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. SAMUEL O. STONE.
Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1.00 a bottle, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

GETTING SILVER INTO CIRCULATION.

A Question on This Point Answered; Also One About the Indian Gentleman.

A correspondent residing in Guthrie, O. T., asks us this question:

Granting that the United States have "free and unlimited coinage of silver" how will that get more money in circulation? In other words, suppose India sends $100,000,000 of silver bullion here to be coined, won't this bullion be coined into American dollars free and then "handed over" to the Indian gentleman? How will that help the American farmer? Won't this Indian gentleman buy gold with his American dollars and then take the gold out of the country?

Idle money, like idle men, earns nothing. Under free coinage the owner of bullion, either silver or gold, would, when he found it to his advantage, take it to the mint, have it coined and receive back either his bullion coined or its equivalent in coins. What would he then do with it? Hide it in a vault? It would purchase for him nothing there.

No. He would invest it in some enterprise and would do so in the firm confidence that in the exercise of ordinary business precaution he would realize a profit on his investment. Why this confidence? Because free coinage would constantly add to the volume of primary money, thus meeting the increased demand which comes from year to year upon the nation's stock of money by reason of the increase in business consequent upon increase in population, and thus holding steady the value of the dollar instead of permitting it to increase from month to month as it does now.

This constant increase in the value of the dollar produces a constant decline in the value of all other kinds of property. To illustrate: Suppose to-day a man were to measure the wheat in his storehouse and find that he had, according to the measure used, 10,000 bushels. Let him then lock the storehouse and not permit any wheat to be removed therefrom for a year. At the end of the year let us suppose that he again measures the wheat in the storehouse, and that this time he finds only 9,000 bushels. Let us further suppose that he, in his endeavors to ascertain why he has less wheat now than he had when he measured it before, compares the bushel measure used at the last measurement with the bushel measure which he used at the first measurement, and that he finds the last bushel measure is one-tenth larger than at first, he will have discovered a condition of things similar to that which nowadays exists at the end of each year when the business man comes to measure his property and ascertain what profit he has made during the year just past.

The business man finds that, measured in dollars, he has accomplished little if anything, and this is so, not because he has not added to the sum with which he starts, but because the dollar—the thing with which he measures that sum at the end of the year—has increased in its measuring power. His debts have remained the same. Such a condition of things drives men from entering new enterprises—drives them from putting money into property, sometimes called business. The reverse would be true under free coinage of both gold and silver. Men would then make a profit because the steadily increasing supply would prevent the dollar from increasing in its measuring power—in its value—and this would encourage new ventures in the development of the nation's resources, and these ventures would put money into circulation.

The Indian gentleman spoken of in the question would have his bullion coined into American dollars and have it handed back to him free of charge. But after receiving it back it would be of no more value to him than before it was coined, except for the purposes of investment in the United States. He would consequently invest it either in the produce of the factory or the farm, or in some other kind of American property. This would create a demand for American products, and who does not desire such a demand? Free coinage would bring us the entire trade of the silver using countries in the world—a trade that, without the aid of any gold standard nation, would start every mill in the country and make every farm bloom with prosperity.

Yes, the Indian gentleman might buy gold with the American dollar, but the World's Herald's interrogator may rest assured that the owner of the gold would not part with a dollar of it unless he obtained what he thought it was worth in American silver dollars. He would then part with it, and he will do so the same thing today under the gold standard. Free coinage has nothing to do with the matter at all—Omaha World-Herald.

Indiana's Silver Democrats.
The provisional committee of the Indiana Silver League, composed of newspaper editors, has issued a circular, of which the following is a paragraph:

And now we especially urge upon the friends of independent bimetalism the importance of immediate organization in wards, townships and counties throughout the state of Indiana for the purpose of furthering this movement for the common good of all her people. The time has come when the people must look sharply to their interests and must themselves take a hand in selecting delegates to nominating conventions. We believe that the only way to win this battle is by close organization within the ranks of the Democracy—the party that founded and fostered the double standard money system that we are working to restore. Prompt, aggressive, persistent and thorough work must be done. It should be our purpose to avoid all possible conflict within party ranks except where it becomes evident that a minority purpose to thwart the will of the majority, by the selection of delegates for whom we will not support.

Let us not permit the friends of silver from insisting upon and exacting the full recognition and representation to which their numbers entitle them.
