Is the drop on you!

Are you the unfortunate owner of a bread of Bicycle upon which the price has "dropped?" A few weeks ago did you pay from $80 to $100 for one? Now that their price, new and in "lots to suit," has been cut to one-third less, what is yours second-hand worth? Are you out of the woods? Doesn't it strike you that

The Nigger in the Wood-pile is Out!

During all this flurry to get from under the "drop," the price of VICTOR Bicycles, of honest worth and true merit, for which the price asked has always been a fair one, does not change.

Victor Bicycles sell for $100.00

There's a sense of security in knowing that your Victor is above suspicion—carries the value of an unshaken reputation.

At the great Coasting match held by the New York athletic club, May 22d, with over 60 entries, there were only two '96 Victors, but at the finish they took first and second place.

Don't buy a cheap Bicycle. If you can't pay $100, buy a second-hand or shop-worn Victor. They are always standard value and ready to go.

Fancy colors are like the trimmings on a lady's bonnet—soon spoiled and out of style. We will give you the worth of your money and take care of you after you buy. Come and see us.

THE GORGE OF AVERNUS

THERE IS DANGER WHERE PLEASURE REPOSES

Sam Simpson is well known by all old Oregonians, and especially among the members of the newspaper fraternity. His genius as a poet is recognized by the leading literary men of the United States, but his life has been wrecked by an unnatural appetite for stimulants. Some time since the following was published in the Hillsboro Independent:

The following stanzas are from the pen of Samuel L. Simpson, the most classical writer that has appeared in America since Holmes' time. His eloquence is only second to Whittier, Halleck, Bryant and other masters who lived contemporaneously with them. His pure young life, though, was polluted by strong drink. After years of dissipation, his friends gathered about him and he took the Keely cure. He came out, as he thought, with unconquerable strength. The stanzas below were written during the first hours of his manhood. Note the shout of victory and defiance. Poor man! He knew not the wiles of the cup. He again drinks the leachings of the bitter dregs. I have banished the spectre of sorrow And conquered the dragon of drink I have torn a black leaf from the morrow And fled from the Stygian brink.

There is death in the dew of the roses That bloom in the blushes of wine, There is danger where pleasure reposes Though we call her a goddess divine. For I lingered too long, her caresses Enslaved me, I could not depart, And the shimmering gold of her tresses Entangled my spirit and heart.

To the gorge of Avernus, a valley Of lilies and violets leads, Where the doomed, that are garlanded, dally, Beguiled by the nymphs of the meads.

Warm nymphs with bosoms upswelling And kissed by the passionate sun, Till the riotous blood is past quelling And the souls of the victims are won.

Bacchantes they are, and dissemble, With wine moistened lips they entreat The flowers around them a tremble With murmurs ambrosial sweet

But wild are the nights that come after When the vale of delusion is crossed, And their tresses are blown and their laughter Is bleak with the wail of the lost.

Yet swifter and wilder are woven, The bacchanal dances of doom, Till the dew of the lab'rinth is cloven And their torches go out in the gloom.

Ah, then there is madness, the terror Of joys that are crushed, and regret, And the feverish phantoms of error That e'er the conscience beset.

The dead are the guests of the living, The beautiful hopes that were slain, With never a smile of forgiving, Come thronging when pleading in vain.

And yet I have conquered the dragon, The spectres Plutonian have flown And the horror enshrined in the flagon Has left me in freedom—alone!

To garnish the tombs of the perished, The dead singing songs of the dead, Of all the bright dreams that I cherished This only is left me instead.

But lo, in this pathway of duty, To the past I at least can be true, And the mists that bedream it with beauty Some long-withered flow'r may renew.

—SAM L. SIMPSON.

Some twenty-five or thirty persons met in the hall at Woods Saturday evening and organized a bimetallic club. They elected officers and transacted such other business as necessary to make a permanent organization. They will hold weekly meetings at Woods, meeting on Friday evening of each week. The purpose of the organization and meetings is to study the money question so as to be able to vote intelligently in the future. Popular education in politics has been much neglected, and many vote at random, scarcely knowing what it will lead us to. It is as much the duty of a good American citizen to study the politics of his country as to send his children to school. No doubt all are sincere and aim to vote for the best interests of the country, but they differ very materially as to what is best. Since the country has been experimenting with a single standard for two or three years and plunging into debt millions every month, the people are beginning to study the situation especially in Oregon, as the results of the late election show; and will doubtless put the country back on "sound" financial principles again in the future.

Bay Improvements.

Portland, Oregon, June 6, 1893.
Messrs. C. & E. Thayer and Others, Tillamook, Oregon.

Sirs:—I am in receipt of your favor of the 28th ultimo regarding the improvement of Tillamook bay.

A part of the work you specify is included in our plans of improvement. It is not deemed advisable at present, however, to attempt to turn Wilson river into Hoquarton slough, for it is believed other and less expensive work will accomplish the deepening of Dry Stocking Bar.

I am always glad to have suggestions from those interested in any of the improvements under my charge, and will always try to give them careful and impartial consideration, even though I may not arrive at their conclusions on the subject.

Very Respectfully Yours,
W. L. FISK,

Captain, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A.
The above letter was received in answer to a petition sent out by our citizens.

Always Off.

W. W. Curtis, the well known race-horse-owner of Tillamook, is in the city in attendance on the Irvington Park race meet with his string of horses, including Alexander Selkirk and Firefly.

The above from the Telegram is about as accurate as anything that ever gets into the Telegram or Oregonian. Mr. Curtis doesn't live in Tillamook, but he was here recently on business. He doesn't own any race horses, and takes very little interest in races.

Wood Wanted.

Bids will be received by the undersigned until June 25th, 1896, for twenty-five cords of four-foot fir or alder wood. Right reserved to reject any and all bids.

The foregoing shows the style of the addresses. The large figure six at the right indicates the year, that is 1896. A large seven at the right would indicate 1897, or a five would indicate 1895. The other figures denote the day of the month, and the month is indicated in small type. A cross mark in blue pencil indicates that you are away behind and should pay up.

FISHING ON THE COLUMBIA

A CORRECTION OF FALSE STATEMENTS.

Astoria, Ore., June 9, 1896.

In the Daily Oregonian of the 8th inst. appeared an interview with some person who claims to be a representative business man of Astoria, which interview is misleading, being an insult to the fishermen, a libel upon our business men, and calculated to do our city immeasurable harm.

Therefore, the undersigned, bona fide business men of Astoria, take this method of expressing our disapproval of such false statements.

We, furthermore, assert and desire that all the newspapers of Astoria and of Oregon publish the fact—that there is no organized lawlessness in Astoria, that there are no armed bands of dangerous foreigners in our town, that our city is a peaceable community, and that our regularly constituted authorities are fully able to cope with any emergency now apparent.

And we especially assert that our fishermen, whether native-born or naturalized, are as intelligent, frugal and law-abiding as any set of citizens anywhere, and are not to be held responsible for isolated cases of violence, which are liable to occur at any time or any place. Respectfully,

- Herman Wise, clothing house.
- John Hahn, shoe store.
- S. Danziger, clothing house.
- Oregon Trading Co., dry goods and clothing.
- C. H. Cooper, dry goods and clothing.
- H. Exstrom, jeweler.
- Foard & Stokes Co., merchants.
- Grammus & Co., grocers.
- A. G. Chatter, merchant.
- Sherman & Thing, commission merchants.
- Chas. Heilborn & Son, furniture and carpets.
- Theo. Olsen, druggist.
- F. J. Goodman & Co., shoe store.
- Shanahan & Co., dry goods.
- Will Madison, cigar store.
- P. J. Thorton, Columbia shoe store.
- J. B. Copeland.
- Howell & Ward, grocers.
- Schlusser's White House Store, clothing.
- Larson, Hillback Co., grocers.
- R. S. Norris, jeweler.
- McAllen & McDonnell, dry goods.
- Fisher Bros., merchants.

The above list includes the principal business houses of Astoria.

If strength is what you want, you should study what causes your weakness.

It is practically lack of food. But you eat three meals a day and all you can eat at a time.

Yes, but do you digest it? Food undigested is not food. It is not nourishment.

It doesn't create strength. To digest your food take Shaker digestive cordial at meals. After a while you will digest your food without it. Then you will get well, and strong and healthy.

Shaker digestive cordial cures indigestion and all its symptoms, such as nausea, headache, eructations, pain in the stomach, giddiness, loss of appetite, etc. It makes your food nourish you, and make you strong and fat and hearty.

Druggists sell it. Trial bottle 10 cents.

Geo. W. Grayson and family have taken possession of the Trask hotel, having moved there last week. Mr. Grayson expects to begin the work of cutting off Union Camp hill as well as several others, which will make the road not only the shortest but the easiest way into Tillamook. A large number of persons in Portland, among them ex-Chief of Police Hunt and family, expect to take their outing catching trout at Trask, and George is determined to make it pleasant for all who come. Trask is counted the best trout fishing ground in Oregon. The daily stage line from North Yamhill to Tillamook makes it very convenient for the Portland people, as the stages make connection with the trains both ways. Mr. Messner is now running the stages through.—N. Yamhill Record.

It was evidently expected that somebody would raise shiel on Tuesday evening as the election returns came in, judging from the special deputy marshals appointed and paid for that evening as shown by the proceedings of the council meeting. It is said that many good citizens trembled in their boots for fear some overt act would be committed. Selah!
