E. West reports that parties have been on Netarts bay recently looking up the oyster industry. The A. P. A. council here is having a lively racket. The president of the order and one of the prominent members will be tried by the council next Monday for alleged unbrotherly conduct. There will be a meeting Saturday, June 27, at 2 P. M., in the court house, to form a dairy institute. All who are interested either directly or indirectly in butter or cheese making are invited to attend. Messrs. J. H. Brown, Branson, Foster and Switzer are interested in the locations and have made assays which are quite satisfactory. They will at once begin work sinking a shaft to develop the mine. The mines are near Seth Moon's place. Messrs. Segars and Lynch report that the worst thing the people need in their neighborhood is a good road, and that the settlers up Big Nestucca suffer great inconvenience because of the lack of a good route out and into the upper valley.

The campaign sheet is in a difficulty again. It is reported on good authority that the Parson intends to come out strong populist, hoping to get some support from that direction, having failed in other directions, and he says that if he had had his own way the paper would not have been run as a gold bug organ before election. We also have a straight tip that Edmunds Bros. who are putting up for the paper are about to depose Wilson and want to dispose of the paper. Some of the populists want to buy it. Several schemes are on foot to keep it afloat. All the printers engaged on it so far have quit because the wages were insufficient, and another new printer is expected from Portland this week to try it a while.

Great preparations are being made for the 4th of July, and the programme of festivities will appear next week. R., Woodmen, Fire Co., horseback parade, carriages and footmen. The procession will march to John Barker's grove, and appropriate exercises will be held about 12 o'clock. After lunch on the grounds there will be a grand parade of plug-uglies over the streets and grounds. A special invitation is extended to the boys and men from the country to take a part in this parade, and be on hand with suitable masks. A prize will be given for the ugliest mask. On returning to the grove there will be a balloon ascension by Prof. O. K. Spofford, of San Francisco. Then prizes will be awarded for the various races by the children. A grand display of fireworks will be given in the evening.

A. E. Withers, government engineer, is here for the purpose of completing the light house road. Work has been in progress the past two weeks, and west of the summit the fallen trees have been cleared away and the road is passable for teams. Work is now progressing on the road this side the summit, cutting away roots and stumps and leveling the road bed. About $450 is available to complete the work, and this will put it in good shape, making it much the best road to Netarts or the light house or Sand Spit, besides saving over half the distance. The plank will soon be laid over all the road west to Tillamook river and a ferry will be put on the river at once. Within two weeks it is expected that a person can drive a team to Netarts or the light house by this route and it is thought that a person can drive to the beach from this place in an hour. The completion of these roads will also make connections with the Benschid road, and with the Hodgson road, which comes out at Happy camp. There will be a large travel this way during the summer.

A little girl in Boston wrote a composition on boys. Here it is:—"The boy is not an animal, yet they can be heard to a considerable distance. When a boy lollers he opens his big mouth like frogs, but girls hold their tongue till they are spoken to, and then they answer respectable and tell just how it was. A boy thinks himself clever because he can wade where it is deep, but God made the dry land for every living thing and rested on the seventh day. When the boy grows up he is called a husband, and then he stops wading and stays out nights, but the grew-up girl is a widow and keeps house."
