McKinley Club Meeting.

Hon. A. W. Severance Delivers an Interesting Address.

The McKinley Club held its regular meeting Saturday evening. A. W.
 Severance addressed the meeting.
 Following is a brief synopsis of his remarks:

Looking at the present political situation, there is one thing that all parties are agreed upon, and that is; that the country is in a deplorable condition, and that it has been for the past three years; that the factories are idle, the mills shut down, and the mines closed, and a large part of our working men and working women are in a condition of destitution; that all of the business men of the country have no confidence in the present administration, and further, they have no confidence in the nominees nominated upon the Chicago platform nor the party supporting those nominees to improve the condition of the country should that party be successful in the coming election.

The speaker then dwelt upon the issue of 1892, and showed that the only issue was a modification of the McKinley law, or its repeal.

The question of vital importance to the American people today was the reenactment of the McKinley law; and the speaker dwelt at length upon the question of protection, showing the need that the farmer and the manufacturer alike had for protection, that their interests were closely interwoven, and that you could not seriously injure or cripple one without affecting the other.

The financial question was then presented, showing that the Bryanites did not demand free coinage of silver for the reason that it would put more money in circulation, and that Mr. Bryan does not urge it upon that ground; but because gold has appreciated; that the gold dollar is a dear dollar; and that free coinage of silver will give us cheap money, in his sole and only reason. And the hardest hit on the populist was when a comparison of prices of farm products in the years of 1872, a year before the alleged crime of 1873 was committed, and the prices in 1892 when the control of the government was turned over to the democrats, showing in several instances that they were much higher in 1892 than in 1872.

Defending Our National Honor.

Wages fall quickly, but rise slowly; prices of commodities both rise and fall quickly. Wages seldom advance oftener than once a year; prices often advance several times a day. Unless wages rise as fast as prices, under free coinage, will not laborers lose by it? Certainly.
 All history and all statistics declare that the wage earner has always gotten left because of the high prices which always result from cheap money experiments.

The price of cotton advanced over 75 per cent in 1895 owing to a great decrease in the crop for that year. This proves that it is supply and demand which regulate prices and not the amount of money in the country.

Dangers of Going It Alone.

The question is not, is this country able to make monetary laws to suit itself? but rather, is this country able to fight a money war with the rest of the civilized world?—Savannah News.

Flowers Amid the Thorns.

The "crown of thorns" pressed on the brow of labor by the gold standard resulted in an advance of wages of 60 per cent from 1870 to 1890.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Free silver will not give an idle man a day's work. On the contrary, it will close mills and factories and force into idleness men who are now employed.

Under Arrest.

Under the above caption, editor Jones formerly of the HEADLIGHT publishes the following article in his paper, the Mon-tain View "Register". We give it entire as it will serve to correct many false rumors not altogether complimentary to Mr. Jones which somehow or other gained currency during the last week.

"The editor of this paper is under arrest. Naphthali Imber, the long-haired prophet swore out a warrant Wednesday charging Walker Jones with using a pistol in a threatening manner.

Late Tuesday evening, the prophet whose feelings had been worked up by some remarkable joker went to the residence of the editor to warn him to publish nothing regarding the prophet's escapade on the train the day before.
 The prophet was intoxicated and laboring under considerable excitement, and was determined to come in when the wife of the editor opened the door, and becoming boisterous, the door was shut in his face. He tried to look in or get in at the window, and then started around the house to the back door whereupon he was driven from the premises with but little ceremony.
 Hence the charge against the editor.

Imber ran down the street making horrible threats, raving and cursing like a wild man, and afterward exhibited a long knife which he said he was going to use in carving somebody. He will have to answer to the charge of "drunk and disorderly."

Constable J. D. Martin took ye editor before judge Beverly, and he plead not guilty, being allowed to go on his own recognizance. His trial will come off soon unless the charges are dismissed.

This is a new experience for the man of quills, never having been charged with a crime, arrested, or sued, for that matter, before, and the gravity of the charge is of considerable moment to him. The REGISTER will be issued as usual however, even if the editor is obliged to hand out copy through the bars.

Two Reasons.

There is an Irish porter employed in a large commission house in New York—one of the kind that will make a witty reply to any sort of question. He is very fond of expressing his views in general, and has great admiration for his arguments. If he fails to get a listener, he will talk to himself in lieu of something better. A member of the firm, being annoyed one day at his constant muttering, which he was unfortunate enough to hear, sent for him.

"See here, John, did it ever occur to you that your constant talk and muttering is a great annoyance to people that happen to be around? Why on earth do you chatter away to yourself anyhow?"

"Sure I have two reasons for doin' that."

"Two reasons! Well, what are they?"

"One of them is that I loike ter talk to a sensible man, and the other is that I loike ter hear a sensible man talk."

—Harper's Round Table.

Woods Wavelets.

Sheriff J. H. Jackson has completed a new and elegant residence on his farm at Netarts, where he expects to reside after his term of office as sheriff expires.

Sand lake is the place for cranberries.
 People who would like to engage in cranberry culture would do well to examine that locality. The fruit grows in abundance, and is of the best quality.

If you desire to stretch your net across the river on Sunday tie up the headline so the salmon can pass under it. If one takes a fool notion and jumps into the net, of course you are not to blame for it.

Mrs. W. L. Gardner, of Oretown, went to Portland some time ago for medical treatment, and is at present at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Mr. Gardner has also gone to Portland to be present with her during an operation that is to be performed.

It is reported that Messrs. Penter, L.
 Commons, Gardner, and Christensen, bondsmen of V. Sutton, postmaster at Oretown, are likely to have to put up about $300 to make good Mr. Sutton's accounts with the Postal Department.

 work is guaranteed. All kinds of repairing at short notice and satisfaction guaranteed.

Dairymen's Meeting.

Organizes a Branch Association.

Following are the minutes of the meeting held last Saturday afternoon at the Court House:

At a meeting of farmers held in the Court house on the 24th day of October, 1896.

The farmers resolved to organize a branch of the Oregon State Dairy Association to be known as the Tillamook Branch of the State Association.

Mr. M. W. Harrison was elected President of the Association, and Claude Thayer Secretary and Treasurer.

Mr. Paulsen, President of the Oregon State Dairy Association, addressed the meeting.

Mr. Peter Branf and Mr. F. M. Lamb were appointed committee on program.

It was moved and seconded that a meeting be held on 3rd Saturday in November at 2 o'clock.

Motion carried.

The following articles were adopted and signed:

We the undersigned hereby associate ourselves together in an association to be known as the Tillamook Branch of the State Dairy Association.

Its objects shall be to foster and protect the interests of the butter and cheese makers in the County of Tillamook, and in the State of Oregon.

Claude Thayer, J. W. Maxwell, C. A.
 Bailey, J. F. Martin, Peter Brant, Jonas Olsen, D. Curtis, Tom Williams, Thos. Jenkins, Dav. Fitzpatrick, Charles Kunze, Geo. Williams, M. W.
 Harrison, Peter Hessel, Marion Lamb, W. G. Chance, G. H. Hecker, Jack Williams, A. Carlson, Mike Ahlmann.

Hon. Thomas Paulsen, President of the Oregon State Dairy Association, addressed the meeting. He referred to loss in small matters, mentioned the use of otherwise waste materials. To reclaim small waste tracts of land we use tiles to drain. Find that drainage will improve small pieces of land enough to pay expense.

Uselessness and waste in poor cows.
 No dairyman can afford to keep a poor cow. In many cases a cow had better be killed outright than be kept. A test of every cow should be made and no one should keep a band of cows without knowing capacity of cow to yield butter.
 Says there is a question as to food affecting quality and quantity of milk.
 People differ in opinions.

Feeds his cows entirely. Do not rely upon pasture. He cuts and uses vetches in the spring, then clover, later, oats, and in the fall has plenty of corn fodder.

Cows should be kept at their best at all times. Never for once neglected.

Let a heifer go dry and she is never so good.

Keep herd up in good feed and milk regularly and steadily.

I can never buy a good cow. Must raise them.

Cows that are for sale are no good.

The way in which the mother cows are raised has a good deal to do with the calf.

I can always sell a heifer in the city because I have kept the reputation of my herd.

Many cows are salable to dairies selling milk in the city.

Rich butter cows but with small yield of butter can be sold to city people who only desire cream.

Whenever I try rutabagas for feed I find my customers complain.

Potatoes, but not rotten ones, I can use.

Yellow growth mangel wurzel are the choice. Easily washed, sweet and nice.

Never feed a root before milking.

Never keep roots in the stable while milking. After milk is taken away bring the roots—clean mangers afterwards.

Never had success with carrots.
 Think it dries them up.

Question by Mr. Jonas Olsen: What do you think of the comparative value of bran and shorts?

I prefer a mixture of half and half ground together very fine. I use a straw cutter; cut up hay or straw, usually straw, sprinkle it, then mix it with milk feed.

Breeds of cattle.

I prefer mixed breeds, always using a full blood bull. I like the Guernsey best. They are preferable, in my opinion, to the Jerseys, being larger.

Advertising pays when it is done properly. But in order to pay, an advertisement should be properly constructed properly set and displayed, and above all it must be inserted in a paper that reaches the people. The HEADLIGHT has double the circulation of all the other papers in the county combined. It reaches about all the people in the county and advertising in its columns pays.
