Money to loan, apply to G. O. Nolan.

Dr. Wise will be at his office about Nov. 10th.

County Warrants wanted. Highest price paid. Theo Steinhilber.

Ducks and geese are plentiful on the bay, and hunters now are almost invariably successful.

The past two weeks have been exceedingly stormy, even for Tillamook, and the tides and flood came near high water mark.

Emmet Quick came in on Tuesday evening from Forest Grove over the Wilson river route, with a large load of settlers for this section.

Atty. E. E. Selph left on Tuesday for Portland and Albany to attend to legal business in which he is interested. He went by private conveyance.

Allen House guests: F. Buckner, Astoria; J. S. Williams, Dallas; Frank Switzer, Williams; G. R. Davidson, Seaside; Ernest Quick, Forest Grove.

B. F. A. relie brought into our office a bunch of strawberries of the Sharpless variety, grown on his place near town. One of the berries is about one inch in diameter and still green.

It was reported in the early part of the week that some cattle belonging to Mr. Campbell, and which had been pastured upon the tide lands near the Killeis river, were drowned on Monday but the report has not been verified.

Some excitement was caused in Tillamook on Sunday by the report that Geo. Irwin, who owns some stock which he has been pasturing on tide-land, had been drowned. Investigation proved George to be still very much alive, and the story without foundation.

We publish in another column the advertisement of the steamer "Chilkat" now on the route between Portland, Tillamook, Coos Bay and Coquille. The steamer will make regular trips between the points mentioned, and will make connection with the S. F. steamer.

The clerk of the weather evidently stood in with Bryan for he signally failed to give the republicans even the ghost of a show to celebrate the election of McKinley, Saturday evening. Elaborate preparations had been made for a rousing celebration, but the biggest storm of the season came on and vetoed proceedings most emphatically.

A letter from Mr. Orchard who holds the franchise for constructing the proposed water works in this city, addressed to Mr. Thayer, states that he will leave Kalamia for Tillamook today, and that he expects to push the job of constructing the works here as rapidly as possible. He expects to be able to get the water into town by February first.

Dr. Linton brought up with him from Mexico five native Mexican quail. They greatly resemble the valley quail of California, being similar in color and size. Their eyes are slightly larger and more prominent, and the bird, if at all different, is more handsome than its California relatives. They are said to be very prolific, hatching out two or three broods a year. The birds are on exhibition in Letcher's store.

Dr. Linton, who has been absent from Tillamook and traveling in Southern California and Old Mexico, returned in time to put in a good vote for Major McKinley for president. A short residence in Mexico convinced the doctor that free silver was not the boon to a nation that it was represented to be, and though a staunch democrat, he took great pleasure in casting his vote for McKinley and sound money.

Sheriff Jackson goes about the street these days with a sort of injured look upon his usually placid and happy countenance. By some rash promise made several years ago he found himself obliged to pay for the marriage license of Albert Benschmidt and Mrs. Spindler. Benschmidt got a wife by the transaction, but Jackson got nothing but an additional sense of loneliness in his state of doubtful single blessedness. In the meantime Benschmidt wears a smile like that of a full moon in mid-summer.

Those of our subscribers who receive this edition of the HEADLIGHT printed on colored paper will please refrain from uncharitable remarks as to the editor being drunk or color-blind. It's a clear case of "out of paper on account of the storm". We have our winter's supply of paper somewhere on the way here, but the Lord only knows where it is, and thus far he has vouchsafed no information on the subject. We charge nothing extra however on account of the color.

Myron Trowbridge is registered at the Allen House as coming from "Heaven". A HEADLIGHT correspondent interviewed Mr. Trowbridge and expressed the wish that when he returned, he might put in a word for a change of weather, but Mr. Trowbridge said that the department in which he resided had nothing to do with rain. We had always supposed that the place where the inhabitants had nothing to do with rain was located elsewhere.

Bay Tent, No. 55 Knights of the Macabees, will give a ball at the Allen House, on Thanksgiving Night, Nov. 26, 1896.

Before getting any job printing done all we ask of you is to look at our samples and compare our work with that done elsewhere.

Letcher, the jeweler has a large assortment of silverware coming in on the steamer. Look out for his show window when the Elmore gets in.

Complete returns from all the counties in Oregon except Curry, Grant, and Harney give McKinley 48,675, Bryan 46,340, a plurality for McKinley of 2,335. The Democrats and Populists have finally given up the state.

Supt. Sibley of the Truckee Mill and Lumber Company is having a telegraph line arranged from his home to the store at Hobsonville. It is proposed to use the same wire that is used for the telephone system.

Joseph Harrison has opened a new store in the Fearnside building in Tillamook. He will keep a fine and select stock of general merchandise; farmers want and needs carefully studied. Call around and see.

Gus Wickland, who has been fishing on the bay, was so unfortunate as to lose a valuable "Elmore" fishing boat in the recent storm. It was hitched to his net-rack and the storm set it adrift and it was smashed in the drift-wood.

Mr. Tuttle, the enterprising proprietor of our telephone system, has had a long table put in his office, and placed there a large number of the best newspapers and periodicals for the use of his patrons who may be waiting to send or receive messages.

G. W. Bodyfelt, who owns a nice farm on the Big Nestucca, is in town on business. He reports the roads as fair but the river far from fordable. The settlers in that section are anxiously awaiting the construction of a bridge at the Kellow ford.

The case of Bailey vs Hess came up for trial in Judge Sappington's court on Monday. It was tried before a jury which, after hearing the evidence and the argument of counsel, remained out all night and failed to agree. A. W. Severance represented the plaintiff, and Hendley and Handley were for defendants. The amount sued for was only $5.25.

Mr. Sibley of the Truckee Mill and Lumber Co says that he is now thoroughly convinced that the old scientific theory that the centre of the earth is a mass of fire is a pure fabrication. In driving over the Wilson River Road, he has several times mired down to something near the center of the earth and the farther down he got the colder it was.

The following letters remain in the Post Office at Tillamook, Oregon, and will be sent to the Dead Letter Office in thirty days.

The New Steamer Chilkat put on this route by the N. P. S. S. Co. left Portland for Astoria and Tillamook on the 9th inst. She connected on the 10th with the Steamer Empire and will connect on the 16th at Coos Bay with the Alice Blanchard for San Francisco. The N. P. S. S. Co. has come to the Tillamook route to stay and our people will find the company accommodating, reliable and reasonable in charges.

The severe windstorm of Saturday night smashed in one of the large panes of glass in the front of G. O. Nolan's office and wet things up in generous fashion. The loss was not serious except as to one item. Mr. Nolan had a list of states and their electoral votes (published some time before the election) which proved conclusively that Bryan would be elected President of the United States, and from which in the light of recent events he drew much consolation. This list was somehow lost in the storm and the owner is inconsolable.

Persons interested in insurance will be glad to know that the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company, represented here by Claude Thayer, and in which many of our people hold policies, is one of the promptest of all companies in adjusting its losses. Alfred Williams received the amount of his insurance on his drug store which burned Oct. 6th on Nov. 10th, the check having been drawn Nov. 5th. The policy was paid in full, and without complaint or delay. Persons desiring insurance will do well to remember the Firemen's Fund.

Contractor Jacobson is in town, patiently waiting the arrival of the steamer which will bring in a number of implements needed in the improvements to be made in Tillamook harbor, and also the dredger which is now lying at Astoria waiting for a favorable opportunity to come down the coast. The first work done will be to increase the size of the canal between the Trask river and Hoquarton slough to a width at the bottom of 40 feet, and at the top of 64 feet. The dredger will be put in operation near Bay City to dredge out the channel there. Mr. Jacobson himself will, as soon as the work is fairly commenced here, leave for Coos Bay to take charge of the improvements there; and the work here will be under the supervision of his son, Louis Jacobson.

He laid out the town of Amity, and lived in Oregon until 1895, when he moved to Boise, Idaho. Mr. Walling built the first irrigation ditch in Idaho, and set out the first orchard.—ex

Great changes of course had taken place in that time and he only saw one man that he knew. He had a very pleasant trip, with no regrets about it, unless it be that brother Quick got home too late to vote for McKinley.

Recent prairie scene—First young lady out in cart after second young lady to get her to go to a ball. Second young lady's parent in pursuit; overhauls parties. First anger, then supplicating, then tears, on the part of the youngsters. Parent obturate and master of the situation. Homeward march. First young lady—"I never will—ho-ho-ho—come for your daughter again—ho-ho-ho—to take her to a ball." Parent—"Thank God!"
