A change took place in the Tillamook Mill and Lumber company on Tuesday, Len Hiner and William Barker selling their interest to C. A. Doty and H. Orchard. The business will go on the same as heretofore. John Barker will continue to superintend the mill, and C. A. Doty will have charge of the office. The mill will continue to furnish the very best lumber at prices as low as heretofore, and added to this will be the water pipe industry that will soon become one of the principal industries of the northwest coast. A good index of the prosperous condition of the company is to be found in the fact that the stock sold at par.

CORBETT WHIPPED

The greatest prize fight of modern times is ended and Jim Corbett is no longer champion of the world. The fight was perhaps the most scientific of any that ever took place in the United States, if not in the world. The fighting was even for a number of rounds but Corbett finally went down in the 14th round.

A telegram from Forest Grove says: Corbett was knocked out in the 14th round by a blow over his heart. The fight was fast and furious from start to finish, no knock downs at all, and in the end Corbett only went down on his knees but could not get up in time.

Emma Items.

We had a snow storm the first of last week, but the last days of the week were beautiful.

Rev. Jos. Schell's description of Tillamook county is good, but don't you think, Mr. Editor, he is discouraging people without means of coming to our county? There is considerable good land here yet to be had from the government. I think I would be safe in saying that not one in twenty of the settlers in the county had five hundred dollars in cash when they settled on their homesteads; now many of them are well to do. And I think it would be no detriment to the county if more of the same spirit would come and settle on the government land and make homes for their families. It would be much better than starting in thickly settled districts in the East.

Hebo Happenings.

ORETOWN ORE. MAR. 12th 1897

Editor HEADLIGHT:

We noticed some time since a note in one of our papers from Mr. Severance stating that Tillamook Co. was the first County to make use of the new road law. Of course we and all who read this thought there must have been great benefit derived on this and account of course there has, but in a very limited sense compared to what should have been. What are the conditions of our roads today? How much better are they than they were when the present officers were elected? There has been a liberal amount of cash expended upon them. Whose fault is it that they are in no better condition than they are? Where has the work been done and has the money been expended in districts where it properly belonged? These and many more such questions are revolving in the minds of our tax payers, not that they have any spleen to vent against any one but they want justice.

In this district we think we are safe in estimating a cash expenditure of possibly ($200.00) two hundred dollars. Some ($75.00) Seventy five dollars of this on Slab Creek road, the balance on the main road leading to the little Nestucca bridge, the road near Mizner's as referred to in last week's paper by your correspondent. Due half of this improvement was reasonably well done the other one half is a loss. Whose fault is it? Where was our commissioner? The court claims power supreme in these matters the work from Slab Creek north was performed by two men and a team with one man overseeing. Where a gozen could just as well have been employed at the same expense to the County. This would have cut off the Favored Family, but would have been a saving to the County. Whose fault again? Two hundred dollars for the district, certainly should have done twice as much work? Where is it gone? Who has received the benefit? As we journey along we come to spruce at the pesterfield place; this is some what of an improvement. We can't complain very much only to say, whose money helped to make the improvement? But on to the great improvement, clear to Trask River, this is where almost any one in the county can see! What must be the commencement for a permanent road? First a good foundation; broad and wide, raised well in the center, so that when the dressing of gravel, not boulder as has been used and paid for a gravel on good diel of this same road) will remain near the center, so that the common fall of water would stand even with the wagon track. Has this road been so constructed, or any ways near so? Is it not a fact that a great deal of expenditures through here has been a loss and will continue so, until a different management is assumed and if so whose fault? Have the people any reason to complain.

As to the improvement beyond Tillamook to Hay City. We praise! Who did it? Whose to blame? Will the people complain? Hadn't we better do less; and do better; expend the money where collected, shone less favors to relatives, and there by give less cause for complaint.

Wanted—An Idea

Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas: they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1.50 price offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

To Our Readers.

The HEADLIGHT is sincerely desirous of pleasing all its readers, and stands ready to make any improvements that a majority of them may desire. There seems to be a considerable difference of opinion as to the value of the patent outside telegraphic news service which many of the county papers are giving to their readers. The HEADLIGHT has always published more county news than any other paper, and will continue to do so, and if its readers desire it will furnish the patent outside telegraphic news service. The only way in which we can determine what our readers want is to have all who will do so write us on the matter. In order to simplify matters we invite all who will do so to enclose to us answers to the following questions:

- 1st. Do you approve of a patent outside to a country newspaper, or do you prefer all home print?
- 2d. Would you like to have the telegraphic news summary in the HEADLIGHT?

We will esteem it a favor to have each of our readers write to us on the subject.
