this week.

Elmer Jackson was visiting at Emma a few days ago. His sister Elsie will attend school here soon.

J. D. Chitwood has been cutting timber to build an addition to his barn.

Mr. John Sloan confined to his bed this week.

We hope our new road supervisor will visit this part of his roads and see what can be done.

Hebo.

A. T. Bain has been extracting honey.
An 8 pound girl recently made its appearance at the home of M. C. Kellow.

Several of our citizens have been camping at Ocean Park.

T. J. Owens, who has been east of the Cascadest trapping, returned home Sat. 22nd.

The people of this vicinity will meet at the grave yard to decorate the last resting place of the departed on May 29 1897.

It is impossible to imagine a better season for hay than this has been.

Woods.

(FROM THE OCEAN WAVE)

T. J. Lucy is making a trip to Portland.

Mr. Wm. Miller, nephew of Mr. B. Brice has been visiting on the coast for several days.

Mr. W. E. Covert, of Dayton, arrived in Woods Tuesday evening, making the trip, a distance of 64 miles, in one day.

Mrs. Porter and children left for the valley
Tuesday morning with her father-in-law, where she will remain for a portion of the summer.

Prof. Shuffer, of Sheridan, who has been teaching the Amity school arrived at this place Sunday night, and opened school Monday morning with a very good attendance.

Baxter Bros., proprietors of the Little Nestucca toll road, were in town the first of the week transacting business.

the prairie.

Lyman Lamb is temporarily employed by the Truckee Lumber Co.

J. C. Bewley, of Bay City, paid us a pleasant visit while on his way to the mines of southern Oregon. We wish him success.

Mrs. Sarah Daniel is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wallace, of Beaver.

Our Grange met last Saturday and had its usual pleasant time. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn, of Bay View Grange, were visiting members. We expect some new members next meeting.

The South prairie Sunday School is progressing nicely under the leadership of Mrs. O. B.
Lawrence and Rev. Siecl.

Are we going to have a celebration on the fourth? If so, is it not time that the citizens of Tillamook City were looking into the matter?

Nehalem.

(From the Nehalem Times.)

NOW.

If you have a kind word—say it.
Throbbing hearts soon sink to rest:
If you owe a kindness—pay it.
Life's sun hurries to the west.
Can you do a kind deed—do it.
From despair some soul to save:
Bless each day as you pass through it,
Marching onward to the grave.
If some grand thing for to-morrow
You are dreaming—do it now:
From the future do not borrow:
Frost soon gathers on the brow.
Speak the word—perform the duty:
Night is coming deep with rest:
Stars will gleam in fadeless beauty,
Gossamer whisper o'er thy breast.
Days for deeds are few my brother,
Then, to-day fulfill thy vow:
If you mean to help another,
Do not dream it—do it now.—Selected.

British Columbia was about to pass a bill preventing American citizens from securing mine licenses there, but when it was discovered that it was Americans who were developing the mining industries, and that such a bill would kill nearly all mining industry in British Columbia, the bill was promptly killed. The Americans are really the benefactors of the country.—Astorian.

The democratic attack on the Dingley tariff might have some force if the democrats had ever shown any ability in constructing tariff measures themselves. The full measure of their capabilities in this direction was revealed by the "perfidity and dishonor" tariff which President Cleveland denounced, which he refused to sign, and which, getting on the statute book by the expiration of the time limit, has proved to be worthless for either revenue or protection.—Astorian.

In its June number The Ladies Home Journal will celebrate the Diamond Jubilee in a way distinctly its own. In an article by William George Jordan, entitled "What Victoria Has Seen," the reader will be taken on the British throne, and the marvelous panorama of the world's history for sixty years will pass before him. He will at a glance see the progress in art, science, invention, music, education; the great social reforms, the growth of nations and the advance of civilization. The whole story of the world's progress of the longest reign in English history will be vividly presented.

A Man of Importance.

Senator Jones, the Nevada million-aire populist, is cutting a wide swath in tariff politics now. He is the man who secured a duty on hides in the senate bill and got an increase in the tariff on sugar which caused stock in the Sugar Trust to go up 3 1/2 per cent Monday afternoon. It is understood that he is to be allowed his say in pretty much everything in order to hold his vote with the republicans.

Mr. Jones' activity in the tariff discussion calls irresistibly to mind the story told of the distinguished silverite last fall by Mr. David A. Wells. Mr. Jones when he first entered congress, was an ardent free-trader and a sound-money man. He was a close friend of General Grant, and of one boasted that he caused the president to veto the green back inflation bill. Mr. Wells says Mr. Jones once remarked to him after the veto that he had made the disastrous consequences of inflation as plain to Grant "as a bull's tail going up hill." Years after ward when Mr. Jones was advocating a high protective tariff and was leading the fight for the coinage of silver, Mr. Wells asked him what had caused such an extraordinary change in his views. In substance he replied: "Why, David, I am the owner of silver mines now, and I want protection for my product. If I had no mines I would be as good a free trader and as strong a gold-standard man as I ever was."

That a man whose convictions are frankly admitted to be swayed so entirely by his personal interests should have been able to "hold up" the nation, and the senate twice in one year on two great heresies—free coinage and protection—is a striking commentary upon the "rotten borough" system. Mr. Jones is a man of great ability, but that the ability which is not directed by conscience is always a source of danger his past and present attitudes are painful illustrations.

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Husband—What have you been reading in the newspaper? You are trembling and full of excitement.

Wife—Well, I should think so! I bought some corsets at Burn's yesterday for $4.99 and here's the same kind advertised today at Stacy's for $4.98.
