Our New Water Power.

The HEADLIGHT believes in progress, and when the publishers were assured that our new water system was a success they at once ordered a water motor to furnish power for their presses. The motor arrived last week, and was soon placed in position. It is of the pattern known as the "Chicago Motor" and, though it is but a 12 inch wheel, it furnishes more than the power required. We have used both steam and gas engines, and we do not hesitate to pronounce the water motor as being far in advance of any other device for furnishing power for printing presses.

All you have to do is to turn on the power and away goes your wheel—there is no building of fires, no "monkeying" with a "spark" that will not ignite, no trouble of any kind, except simply to feed your presses, and get the matter ready for them. The putting in of the water motor has taken away the hardest work connected with the office, and made an increase in size of the HEADLIGHT possible without materially increasing the labor involved in its publication. We give our patrons the benefit of the change.

F. L. True, Agent for Empire Separators.

Dear Sir:— I would say that I commenced trying Separators the first of May 1896. I first got an "U. S.," tried it about three weeks; then had the "Empire;" then the "Little Giant" steam rig of P. M. Sharples; then the No. 3 "DeLaval," and then the "Safety Hand" of P. M. Sharples. Had the milk tested of each machine several times by different parties who had the Babcock tester. The U. S., DeLaval and Empire each tested less than 1-10 of 1 per cent. The Empire tested the best, or 3-100 of 1 per cent. The DeLaval agent was here and had a machine to tell the number of pounds needed to start the crank when the separator was ready to run. The Empire took four pounds; the DeLaval six pounds and the U. S. eleven pounds. The Empire cost the least money for the amount of work it would do, and I can't see why it will not wear as long as any machine on the market. It certainly has run and done first-class since it was set in here, and if I was going to buy again, I should buy the Empire.

WONDERFUL SALES.
$10 Every Day Can Be Made by Agents.
To prove it, we give a few items from actual sales made within the last few weeks:
Our agent sold 27 copies in two and a half days. Another sold 15 copies in two days, and another 20 in three days. One agent in Indiana sold 15 copies in two days. An agent in South Carolina sold 43 copies in three days. One agent in Georgia sold 25 in two days. An agent in Central Georgia sold 20 copies in ten days. When you consider the commissions we allow agents, and the immense popularity of this wonderful book, and the ease with which it sells, there is nothing in which a man, who has some cash on hand, can engage which will yield such profits. For instance: one agent made $100.25 in ten days selling "Thunderbolts." Another made $27.00 in three days; another $9.25 in one day; another $33 in two days; another $56.75 in three days.
