

OFF FOR KLONDIKE!

Tillamookers Leave for the Gold Fields—Others Will Follow Soon.

Many more, [including ourselves] have the fever very bad, but as we have no one to stake us, we will stay and fit out those who can't go with the very best line of,

Clothing, Hats, Shoes and Furnishing Goods.

We carry all kinds of goods suitable for wear, for either Miners, Fishermen or Sawmill Men including,

Heavy Wool Underwear, Overshirts, Sweaters, Rubber Boots, Oil Clothing, Heavy Shoes, Wool Socks and Wool Blankets.

And what is of more interest to you, we sell them at lower prices than you can buy them any other place in the county. Don't take our word for it but come and see for yourselves.

In addition to this we still keep in the lead furnishing all lines of dress clothing, Hats, Shoes and Furnishing Goods.

The Tariff and Its Makers.

The unlovely side of tariff making at Washington is so much dwelt upon that there is always a little danger that the country may fail to accord to certain able, honest, and experienced men the credit that is their due. It would seem to us that the speaker of the house, the Hon. Thomas B. Reed, is entitled to recognition for the splendid qualities of firmness he has shown during the recent special session, and for the leadership which, though at times a little masterful and arbitrary, has had the deliberate sanction of a very great majority of the members of the House. Mr. Reed has been well sustained by upright and experienced men like Mr. Dingley, the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; but Mr. Reed personally, perhaps more than any one else, is entitled to the credit that belongs to the victory achieved by the House over the Senate in the matter of the tariff on sugar. In the Senate, the serene and conciliatory spirit of the Hon. W. B. Allison, of Iowa, together with his mastery of the general principles as well as details of tariff and revenue legislation, must be credited to a great extent with the success achieved in steering a Republican tariff measure through a body of men so particularly aligned as the United States Senate. Until this country becomes emancipated from the tariff-making methods that have prevailed hitherto, no great national measure for custom taxes can be anything else except a series of compromises. The Democrats, in making the Wilson-Gorman tariff, showed that both parties were subject to the same pressure, and that the time had not come in this country for broad, logical, and disinterested tariff-making. One of the worst mistakes the country has made in years was the permission it gave to the Democrats to tear up the McKinley tariff and substitute for it a haphazard measure which, in the nature of the case, could not be expected to remain in force for more than from two to four years. We need tariff stability until we have reached that stage in our political and commercial development where we may hope for real tariff reform. The next revision of the tariff should be scientific rather than partisan. It can wait for several years.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for August.

The Indianapolis Journal prints this interesting story concerning ex-President Harrison's forthcoming book: General Harrison has just completed the revision of his articles which have appeared in The Ladies' Home Journal, making extend notes and additions to them. There is a little story in connection with both articles and publication. When the arrangement for the ar-icles was made with General Harrison by Edward W. Bok, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, the General was paid for them, with the understanding that when they were put into book form the magazine was to share the royalties accruing therefrom. Mr. Bok, however, of his own accord, generously released General Harrison from paying him any royalty, for this reason, as he states, that by the publication of the articles by General Harrison the subscription list of his magazine was enlarged by thousands.

The profits of The Ladies' Home Journal were more than the publishers anticipated, and in view of this, Mr. Bok asks nothing further. General Harrison has placed the disposition of the book in Mr. Bok's hands. The best offer came to the editor from the Scribners, and to them Mr. Bok gave the book for his distinguished contributor. General Harrison's revision of the book has just been completed, and the volume will appear in the autumn.

Klondyke.

Over the mountains and far away:
In the regions of ice and snow,
Many a pilgrim is toiling today,
With a heart full of hope and shouting: "Yo-ho
For Klondyke!"

Over the mountains, beyond the plains,
Where the great river winds to the sea,
Many a pioneer jogs his gains,
And sings in a frenzied ecstasy—
In Klondyke.

Thousands and thousands of miles away
In the land of the polar bear,
Many a man is digging today,
Only to find that there's nothing there—
In Klondyke.

Many a husband, many a son,
And many a father, too;
Many a man that is dear to some one,
Is climbing the glaciers, leading through
To Klondyke!

Many a mother, many a wife
And many a one that is dear
Is dreaming today of a happier life
And hopefully waiting to hear
From Klondyke.

And thousands, thousands of golden hopes
And many a dream that is fair
Are destined to die on the frozen slopes
And find their graves out there
In Klondyke!

The following is reported from a justice court:

"Now, Judge," said the witness, "I'm about ter tell ye the truth!"

"Do you mean to tell me," said the justice, "that you've been lyin' these last two hours?"

"Judge," replied the witness, "I was raised in yo' settlement an' both of us has drank outen same jug, but I'm gwine to tell you right now, ef you call me a liar I'll knock you clear off that bench."

"John," said the justice, "ef I didn't think you was drinkin' I'd fine you $10 for contempt o' court."—Atlanta Constitution.
