Canadian dry-dock-men have greatly damaged the battleship Indiana in taking her out on the dry dock at Halifax, N. S.

Eugene Debs has gone gradually down the ladder from labor agitator to socialist and from socialist to anarchist.

The doctrine of "entire sanctification" as taught by some people may be all right, but a real live specimen would be far more convincing.

The more the coal strike is studied the more apparent it becomes that the reduction in coal tariff by the Wilson law is responsible for the low wages which caused it.

Several newspaper changes have recently been made in Astoria. State Senator Gratke has purchased the interest of Mr. Dunbar in the Budget, and Mr. Dunbar has purchased the Evening News.

The advance in the price of wool and sheep will soon bring back to the farmers the 75 million dollars loss in the value of sheep which befell them under the Wilson law.

The recent hard times did at least one good thing, they very materially lessened foreign immigration. Only 230,832 immigrants came to the U. S. during the last fiscal year, the smallest number for any year since 1879.

One remarkable development of the opening months of the new tariff law is the general gratification with which it is accepted irrespective of party. Even the Democrats are omitting the usual talk about increase in prices under the new law.

"Because it is my deliberate judgement that the prosperity of America is mainly due to its system of protective laws, I urge that Germany has now reached the point where it is necessary to imitate the tariff system of the United States."—Bismark.

The wheat question is a hard one for the silver patriots to explain. They are now saying the advance in wheat in the face of the fall in silver is due to the scarcity of wheat. But this very statement merely strengthens the assertion of their opponents who insist that the low price of wheat was the result of plenteousness coupled with cheap production and transportation.

Some of the coal barons are about to reap according as they have sown. In order to avoid the payment of decent wages to workmen they imported a horde of ignorant Hungarians, Poles, etc., etc., and now they have driven them to desperation by bringing them to the verge of starvation. There will very likely be an unpleasant sequel to the recent shooting down of unarmed miners.

"The benefit of protection goes first and last to the men who earn their bread in the sweat of their faces. The auspicious and momentous result is that never before in the history of the world has comfort been enjoyed, education acquired, and independence secured by so large a majority of the total population as the United States of America."—James G. Blaine.

The Senate, of the island of Hawaii, has ratified the treaty of annexation to the United States. All that now remains to be done is for the United States Congress to take favorable action. It can not well do otherwise. We will either be compelled to take Hawaii or let the island be taken by some other nation, a thing which we can not well afford to do. Even though there may be some reasons against annexation there are surely more and much stronger reasons against allowing the islands to fall into the hands of unfriendly powers.

At no time since the close of the civil war have the prospects of the Republican party in the South been as bright as at present, after defections from the Democratic party to populism and the increased development of manufactures in the principal States south of Mason and Dixon's line. To the student of American politics it must seem somewhat surprising that Kentucky and Maryland, two democratic strongholds, should have Republican Governors, and that in Tennessee at the last Presidential election the Republicans should have polled 45 per cent of the total vote in the state, while they had 36 per cent of it in Georgia, 52 per cent in West Virginia, and 47 per cent in North Carolina, besides polling 167,000 votes for McKinley and Hobart in Texas, a state which the Republican vote in 1880 was only 57,000; in 1888, 88,000, and in 1892, 18,000.

The fact is that Republicans have been increasing rapidly in numbers and influence in all the states of the south, particularly in those on the southern border, with the exception of two, South Carolina and Mississippi, in which, by constitutional provision, there is a large disfranchisement of colored voters. The chief cause of this change is the growth of the Populist party, which is a white man's party, and has withdrawn many voters from the Democratic candidates without getting many recruits from the Republican ranks. In no Presidential election since the close of the civil war have the Republicans polled so large an electoral vote in the southern states as they did last year. Mr. McKinley received 12 electoral votes in Kentucky, 8 in Maryland, and 6 in West Virginia, which, with 3 in Delaware, make a total of 29 in what was formerly solid south. In three states—North Carolina, Virginia, and Tennessee—the contest between the Democrats and the Populists on the one hand and the Republicans on the other it was very close, and the severance of friendly political relations between the Democrats and the Populists in these states make more probable than heretofore Republican success.

Speak well of your neighborhood your town and your county. A gentleman who recently came to Tillamook found his way into the HEADLIGHT office to make some inquiries concerning our climate, products, people and prospects for the future. We told him what we believed to be the truth on the subjects of inquiry. After we had finished he said "You talk quite differently from some whom I meet. There is one thing I cannot understand about some of the people I meet here; they always turn the dark side of the picture when speaking of your county and its resources. Instead of talking about the innumerable beautiful days they speak of the long dreary ones, instead of speaking of the wonderful fertility of the soil they grumble about the impossibility of clearing it; instead of speaking of your excellent fuel they grumble of the low price of wood; instead of extolling the wealth of your fisheries they growl at the low price of fish, instead of enthusing over your great dairy resources they growl at the slowness with which the dairyman accumulates wealth, instead of speaking well of your good people they see only the bad ones and talk about them, and thus the intending investor is discouraged."

We are inclined to think there is some truth in the accusation. We have too many growlers—people who look only at the dark side of things. Tillamook land, it is true, is sometimes hard to clear, but that means three things all of which are important to the settler, valuable timber, cheap lumber for home use and plenty of fuel for the picking up.

It may and does rain considerably, but that in itself is an evidence of the absence of severe cold weather, and it assures a wealth of natural feed for stock seen nowhere else on earth. It is true fish is cheap, but that proves that at least one food supply is so abundant as to be within reach of everybody. No one need ever starve in Tillamook, and that is more than can be said of any other country we know of. It is true there are some people here who might bear improving but if they were all perfect they would form a frightful background on which to display the growler's imperfections, and they are not half as bad as he will have to associate with in the next world.

If you desire others to think well of your county speak well of it to them. If you desire them to come here hold out all possible inducements. Speak the truth—but if you must lie, try and do it to the advantage of the county and not against it.
