Bad!

It is news to you, perhaps, that baking powder can be bad for the insides. Good baking powder, however, is not bad for the insides.

True, it costs more than baking powder at 25 cents or 30 cents a pound; but it does better work, and more work for the money, than "cheap" baking powder does, and it does no harm.

Of the right-price baking powders Schilling's Best is the best—your money back if you don't like it—at your grocer's.

GATHERED BY OUR CORRESPONDENTS

A Brief Glimpse at Last Weeks
Happenings

Oretown

Large quantities of fish have been caught in the Nestaca river and lay this fall. If the price of canned salmon is good it would have paid well to run the cannery and been better for all parties concerned.

Recently while some duck hunters were near Hillenbrands lake a large otter attacked their dog and would have soon killed it had not the otter been immediately shot.

Mr. Butler has rented the J. B. Franklin place and has moved in with his family.

R. H. Rogers has replenished his stock of goods in his store, for the winter trade.

Maggie Wilson has gone to Dallas to attend school this winter.

Mr. Gardner's horse became frightened last week at some unknown cause which resulted in a number of injuries to his harness and cart. No one was in the cart at the time.

Katie Wilson has gone to Portland on a visit.

BEAVER

We understand the rain comes too soon for some of our neighbors.

J. R. Dillow passed through Beaver on his return from Portland.

Mr. Hubbard, who has been quite sick of late, is convalescing.

T. R. Wilson's porker has finally put in its appearance, crying "wee wee all the way home."

Miss Coulson, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Dora Daniels, has returned home.

Chas. Johnson is having quite a commodious house erected. Mr. Curl is overseeing the carpenter work.

Rev. Dollarhide is at present comfortably located in the parsonage formerly occupied by Rev. Purcell.

Rev. Bukey's son, Bruce W. Bukey, has been here for some time visiting his aged father. Mr. Bukey has returned to Los Angeles, Cal., where he resides.

Richards & Hagg will soon shut down for this season. The mill has sawed considerable lumber during the past few months and has proved a blessing to the community.

The Beaver Sunday school is in a flourishing condition. It is prospering better than ever. This speaks well for our superintendent, Mr. Finley.

Your humble correspondent has been informed that our genial postmistress's father and several others were rambling over the hills with bayonet in hand and on approaching toward the regal presence of a stagions, but harmless deer, one of the web-footed riflemen let fire, and a cervus virginicus was their meat.

Woods

Wm. Booth is on the sick list this week.

John and Peter Belkque have left for the mines of Southern Oregon. Gilbert will run the camp ground and farm this summer.

H. C. Dimick left yesterday morning with about one hundred fresh and salt fish for the valley. He also took out some choice honey, butter and cheese.

J. A. Fastabend, the government contractor at the bay, returned from Umpqua Tuesday. He says that the work at that place was to have been completed on that day. That contract was a paying one because the excavating was very easy. At this place the excavation is soft rock and very hard to blast, however if the weather is favorable the job will be completed this month.

Emma

Heavy frosts last week.

E. H. Sloan makes weekly trips to the valley with fish.

Joe Altenberger made a trip to Sheridan last week.

Mrs. Emma Bauer arrived from Portland last week, where she had been visiting her husband.

Frantz Rlesch, who has taken the Haydeck place, has moved his family on the place. His new house is nearly completed.

Little Freddie, the son of Joe Altenberger and wife, died on October 10th.

The mail facilities at this place have been greatly improved. A contract has been let to E. H. Sloan, and we now get mail twice a week.

J. S. Sloan, who has put a homestead claim on the Edison place, is doing some improving.

Mr. Theo. Arunt is clearing land preparatory to building a house on this homestead.

Mrs. J. D. Chitwood has the finest potatoes on the creek, and she has a picnic digging them.

Mr. D. C. McNeil has moved his family out to Dallas to stay for a season.

But for which the Editor Does not Hold Himself Responsible

This department of the HEADLIGHT is public and all are invited to contribute to it subjects treated must be subjects of general interest. Under no consideration whatever will anything of a personal nature be admitted.

Indorses the Headlight

Tillamook, Ore., Oct. 24, 1897.

Editor HEADLIGHT:

Permit me to congratulate you on the stand you have taken in the matter of transportation for this bay. We farmers have long wondered why you did not take the matter up. You are not running any other business and have nothing to fear from discrimination against you as to freights, and every thing to gain.

Unless something is done and done right away our trade is lost to Portland.
San Francisco is reaching out for our trade. Any one with half an eye can see that an important move in that direction is now on foot in this bay. We don't want our trade to go to San Francisco, and that for several reasons.

1st. S. F. is too far away from Tillamook to furnish a good market. Our butter can not reach a distant market in as good condition as it can a market near by. As a dairy market S. F. can never fill the bill. Again, we can not take advantage of a rise in prices.
We start our butter to S. F. with butter at a good price, and by the time it has got there butter has fallen in price and we are the losers. Even as a place in which to buy, it is too far a way. It takes an order 3 days to reach San Francisco, and God only knows how long it takes goods to get here. We need a nearer market, and must fight for better transportation to Portland, our own metropolis, and natural market. Let some company that will fulfill its agreement bring along a boat and a contract and we are ready to sign.

Hammer away old HEADLIGHT. The people are with you and will stand by
you. A Dairyman.

A Choice Chicken Dinner in Portland Oregon, October 17th.

It was at noon on the vast multitudinous city. The hurried steps of guests proclaimed that nature was importuning the inner man. In the spacious dining room many tables clinked and groaned in their efforts to satiate the eager throat. As I passed into the room I was shown a table close to a door (contrary to rule where I am acquainted) and a lively little matron with a white apron and freckles on, passed me the bill of fare. I ran my practiced eye down the line, it was the sabbath dinner, and I did not stop until at last my fondest hopes were realized. Yes: it said chicken and I hurriedly joined the bill of fare in demanding chicken. Oh what ecstasy of delight thrilled my mucous membrane as I waited in eager expectancy for that chicken. Well, it arrived and was opened in due form. Being an anatomist it was easy for me to determine it was a hen. I also discovered she had been fricaseed, and a portion of her upper deck and rudder were missing. Still there she lay at full length before me, her cold, pallid bosom bared to the inquisitive gaze of the diners who passed to and fro. I was not long in becoming interested in her case, and determined to give her a careful examination. She showed symptoms of lung trouble in a marked degree. The left lung and breast were entirely gone. She was very osseous, and a large percent of the animal matter had given place to the earthien. I could not discover any bed sores although she had been laying a long while. A slight tuberculosis of the right thigh had been antiseptised and drained as was proven by a straw colored India rubber tube that ran the full length of her limb. Other minor complications escaped my notice.

I gently turned her over on her side and gazed on her swan-like neck, yes even now swan-like but emaciated.

For the first time since we had met she spoke Her words were poetical:

Kind sir pray do not eat me I am nothing but a bone, And I beg you to remember You have children of your own.
Could I a father resist such an appeal, and as I turned to the onions and potatoes I realized with the Lord, it is great to be merciful.

TRADE OF TILLAMOOK Father Schell Says He is Working for General Good of the Community.

Tillamook, Ore., Oct. 15.—(To the Editor)—In regard to the Tillamook trade, I observe that the connection of my name with the subject is looked upon favorably by some and differ-ently by others. I wish to say that my intention and efforts are exclusively for the public and general good. As I have in the past exercised myself, and am now exerting myself, to bring to this country thrifty and industrious settlers from the East, so I shall endeavor to bring about, so far as lies in my power, conditions that will enable these people to remain here and to successfully carry on lawful and honest business with the outside world. I shall use every effort to prevent their being "held up" by unreasonable exactions and inefficient service in the way of transportation or in any other line of business.

"T." who, in a recent article on this subject in the Oregonian, made indiscriminate use of my name in the way of comment and compliment is, to say the least, a capable and subtle writer.
The logical effect of his article is an indirect and covert insinuation against me as a priest of the Catholic Church, to the effect that I am only a great factor in the mundane welfare of this community, without much solicitude for the souls of atheists, infidels and sinners. On this subject, he is not a competent judge, because he does not know my way of doing with other atheists, infidels and sinners, but he ought to be able to remember the many conversations I have had with him in regard to the soul, religion and justice; how much time I have lost thereby, and how I have had to give him up as a hopeless case.

I should like to see "T." who lives in our community, be one with us in the interests of our country, as against the selfish exactions of outsiders, who, for the time being, control our traffic with the outside world, and I should be glad to know that when he attempts, to his courage Portland merchants by his prediction that the present movement will be "ephemeral" his wish is not father to the thought. He has virtually said to the merchants of Portland "Pay no attention to this movement, because there is nothing, and will not last." And, of course, those to whom we now look will not incur positive expense in what "T." would have them believe a doubtful enterprise.

JOSEPH SCHELL in Oregonian.

Fifty new suits to be tried in Judge Page's Court. I shall try and sell fifty brand new suits of young men's all wool clothes in the next ten days, if the jury agrees to the low prices I charge for them.
Call early and take your choice.

W. E. Page's Second Hand Store.

Notice to Fishermen
It is a matter of common knowledge and general complaint that fishermen in this county are violating the fish and game laws by fishing with nets on Saturday evening after 6 o'clock and on Sunday. The law was intended to protect the fish and allow them an opportunity to get to their spawning grounds, and it is to the interest of fishermen especially to respect it. If the present disposition to violate the law continues I shall be compelled as an officer of the law in the exercise of my duty to take cognizance of such violation and bring the offenders to justice.
