

A CUNNING TURCO.

Mohammed Ben Ibrahim was a private of the Third regiment of Turcos, Arab Infantry in the French service. He was tall and raw boned, fearless, believing but little in Mohammed, the prophet, and not at all in Allah.

He drank wine and ate pork, two things held in abomination by the Mohammedans; he swore in bad Arabic and worse French—in fact, he was the most perfect black-guard in the whole body of Turcos, which were 16,100 strong, and that is saying a great deal.

Ben Ibrahim lived happy and contented until one day, while passing before the bribe-a-brace pawn office and dry goods shop of Yussuff, he saw, hanging in the window, some gold watches. Then his happiness was gone, for one thought invaded his mind so completely that 30 times a day he exclaimed loudly, "By the prophet's beard, I must have one!"

Mohammed Ben Ibrahim had a cousin, a Lieutenant in the same regiment, and he went to him and told him a story about his mother being sick and needy, and the lieutenant, who loved his aunt, gave him 12 francs, with the recommendation to use it well, a thing that the Turco did, much to the sorrow of Yussuff, in whose shop he appeared five minutes later.

Yussuff was alone, and seeing the Turco entering his store, he arose to meet him, not through deference to the caller, but from a knowledge that the Turcos are the greatest prowlers of Africa.

"I salute you, Rabbi Yussuff," said Mohammed, touching his fez.

"I salute you, Turco," said Yussuff politely. "What do you want?"

"I came to pay you 12 francs for the 7 you loaned me a fortnight ago," answered the Turco.

"Did I loan you money? I do not recollect to have seen you before."

"You don't? Well, then, you were more drunk than I was when I borrowed the money from you. But no matter. I owe you 12 francs, and there it is."

Then the Turco put 12 francs in the other's hand. Yussuff took it just as an Arab priest entered the shop.

Yussuff saluted the newcomer with the greatest respect, as he was one of his best customers, and said:

"Will you allow me to present this Turco to you as one of the few honest men we have in this town?"

The Arab looked with astonishment on the pair.

"Well, well!" thought he. "What are we coming to if a Turco turns to be so honest as to be praised by Yussuff? Then he asked, 'May I inquire what this Turco has done to deserve your commendations, Yussuff?'"

"I loaned him 12 francs and I forgot all about it. Many would have taken advantage of my lack of memory, but he did not, for he has paid me like an honest man that he is."

"My friend," said the Arab to the Turco, "will you favor me with your company to my house?"

Mohammed Ben Ibrahim answered that as soon as Rabbi Yussuff had returned his pledge he would follow him.

"A pledge," cried Yussuff, turning pale.

"You have given me none."

"What?" replied the Turco indignantly.

"That gold watch there is mine." And Mohammed pointed to a watch worth about $60.

"That watch was bought by me from a chief now dead," yelled Yussuff.

"Yussuff," interposed the Turco, "it seems to me that this chief died very conveniently for you. Will you give me my watch?"

"No," answered Yussuff.

"All right, sir. I will have you arrested on the spot." And opening the door Mohammed went into the street calling for the police.

The police took Yussuff by the throat, and the whole party left the store to go to the judge.

"What is the matter?" inquired the Arab magistrate.

"Your wisdom, this man has robbed that Turco," replied the officer.

"Turco, how did the thing happen?" inquired the judge.

"Your wisdom, this man loaned me 7 francs on my gold watch. I returned him his money, together with 5 francs as interest, and now he refuses to give me my watch."

"How did you get a gold watch?"

"Your wisdom, it's a present from my dying father."

"Did any one see you paying the money?"

"Your wisdom, this holy Arab was present."

"Arab, is it true what the Turco is saying?"

"Your wisdom, he has spoken the truth," replied the Arab. "Yussuff introduced the complaint to me, with the remark that he was one of the few honest men we have in this town."

"Yussuff, do you deny the accusation made against you?"

"Your wisdom, I do deny it."

"Did you take 12 francs from the complainant?"

"Your wisdom, I did."

"Because I loaned it to him."

"Without any pledge?"

"Yes, your wisdom, without any pledge."

"Officers, go to Yussuff's house and bring here all the gold watches he has," said the judge.

The officers went and soon returned, bringing about 30 gold watches, which they spread before the judge.

"Look and see if your timepiece is there," said the magistrate to the Turco.

The cunning Turco advanced, and, without any hesitation, took, not the best, but the third from the best.

The judge, who had eyed sharply the action of the Turco, seeing him discard the costliest watch to take another inferior in value, felt convinced of the justice of his claim to the object of his selection. He said to him:

"Take it and go. Remember that the present from a dying father is a sacred thing, not to be polluted by the hand of the money lender, who is a thief, a usurer and a liar. Go!"

Then the judge turned to Yussuff.

"For lying to me, for exacting usurious rates of interest, for trying to rob a poor soldier of a sacred memento from a beloved father, you shall get 50 strokes on the soles of your feet, and if in two hours you have not paid $200 fine you shall get 100 more. Officers, execute the sentence."—London News.

A YOUNG LADY'S HEALTH RUINED
PREPARING FOR GRADUATION.Was Over-ambitious and Went Beyond Her Strength.
Constant Pain and Misery—Her Critical Condition.

From the Democrat, Shelbyville, Ind.

In one of the main streets of Shelbyville, Indiana, resides Mrs. Emily Edwards and her seventeen year old daughter, Cora. The young lady is one of the charming misses of the city, she being known for her beauty, and perfect health.

"Although enjoying good health now," said her mother to a reporter recently, "she has not always been so fortunate. I suppose Cora, until two years ago last March, was as healthy and strong as any girl of her age. She was attending school and was studying hard. Perhaps she was too studious, for we noticed that the healthy color in her cheek was rapidly disappearing, and she was becoming pale and sorrowful. Dark, swollen circles began to appear under her eyes, and she rapidly became worse. We were living in Franklin, Indiana, at the time, and Cora would have graduated that Spring. She stopped attending school and endeavored to get a rest, but her health kept failing. Her blood was colorless and impure. She would also have sick headaches, could scarcely eat or sleep, and was almost continually in pain. Nothing which we did for her seemed to do any good."

"Different physicians treated and prescribed for her, but she kept getting worse. She had formerly weighed 109 pounds, but during her illness her weight had dwindled down to 79 pounds. We began to think there was nothing we could do for her benefit, when I happened to notice an article in a paper regarding the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I thought that if there was ever a pale person it was certainly Cora, so I decided to buy a box of the pills and let her try them. It was the first of last May when she began, and near the middle of June when she stopped using the pills. The first dose helped her, and after the first box had been taken, she was a different girl. She continued with this medicine and when she had taken eight boxes a complete cure had been effected. She is now stronger, can eat more, sleeps better, and weighs more than she did before she was taken sick. I am sure too much cannot be said about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in her case, as they undoubtedly saved her life. We have recommended them to a number of sufferers."

The young lady, said a word of approval, and that she felt very grateful for the benefit received through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. "I agree with my mother," said she, "that I would not be living to-day had I not used these pills."

To leave no doubt as to the truthfulness of her story Mrs. Edwards cheerfully made the following affidavit:

SHELBYVILLE, IND., May 13, 1897.

This is to certify that the above story concerning the illness and subsequent recovery of my daughter, Cora, is an exact and truthful representation of the facts in her case.

Mrs. Emily Edwards.

SHELBYVILLE, IND., May 13, 1897.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 13th day of May, 1897.

The publishers of the HEADLIGHT have satisfied themselves that the people of Tillamook county do not want the brief rehash of general news that appears on "patent outside newspapers" and the resume of news that we have been able to give in the HEADLIGHT is not what is wanted. In order to meet the wants of our subscribers we have made arrangements with the two leading family newspapers of the United States, the N. Y. Tribune and the Toledo Blade, whereby we are enabled to furnish either of those papers with the HEADLIGHT until Jan. 1st at an additional cost of only 25 cents. At the same time we have concluded to reduce the price of the HEADLIGHT until January 1st to one dollar per annum. You can therefore get the HEADLIGHT and the Blade or the N. Y. Tribune for only $1.25. This will give you all the news of the entire world, and the best local paper for less than you have heretofore paid for the price of one. The HEADLIGHT will hereafter be entirely devoted to local news, and we will be able to give it at greater length and more of it than heretofore.

Notice to Fishermen.

It is a matter of common knowledge and general complaint that fishermen in this county are violating the fish and game laws by fishing with nets on Saturday evening after 6 o'clock and on Sunday. The law was intended to protect the fish and allow them an opportunity to get to their spawning grounds, and it is to the interest of fishermen especially to respect it. If the present disposition to violate the law continues I shall be compelled as an officer of the law in the exercise of my duty to take cognizance of such violation and bring the offenders to justice.
