A Serious Accident

A serious accident occurred at the lower ford on Three Rivers one day last week. Charley Wells with his family in a two-horse spring wagon forded the stream at that place. Having crossed in safety Mr. Wells left his family on the other side of the river and started to return for some articles which he had left on this side. For some reason or other he missed or was swept off of the ford and horses, wagon and driver were swallowed up in the angry waters of the stream. When Mr. Wells rose to the surface he found the horses struggling near him: one of them having succeeded in getting loose from the wagon. By clinging to this horse, Wells by the assistance of a man who happened on the scene of the accident managed to reach the shore which he never could have done otherwise, encumbered as he was, by gum boots and over coat. The other horse and carriage were lost in the river.
