We are sorry to be obliged to call attention to a recent editorial in the vermiform appendix to Edmund and Co's grocery, stating that the HEADLIGHT would stand with the populists and democrats in the coming campaign. If the statement were not to be circulated outside of this county we would pay no attention to it whatever, as the statements of editor Brooks are known to be so notoriously unreliable that no statement of his would be credited for a moment, but as the statement may go outside we will simply say this: If the gentlemen in question did assist in securing a larger circulation for the HEADLIGHT, they did it on purely friendly and business principles, all of them being extensive advertisers in its columns. As to the republicanism of the editor of the HEADLIGHT it is too well known to be subject to any successful criticism from such sources as the editor and the proprietors of the vermiform appendix. While the editor of that sheet was promulgating rank secesh democracy and the proprietor was helping to keep good republicans out of office the editor of the HEADLIGHT was by voice and pen fighting the battles of true republicanism. We did not, like the editor of the vermiform appendix, flop over into the republican party in hopes of getting any little old office and have to be sat down on repeatedly before our whinnings for office ceased, but we were always and under all circumstances and conditions conscientiously and squarely republican.

The politics of this paper can be best judged by its editorial utterances.

Of the various methods of investment by the Government of the postal savings to be accumulated through the postal banks which Postmaster-General Gary proposes to Congress to establish, that by General Roy Stone, acting president of the Good Roads League of America, seems to be one of the most feasible and likely to bring the greatest benefit to the Government and the people. Gen. Stone favors the purchase by the Government with the postal savings of county bonds to run for a long period of years, the proceeds to be utilized in the building of roads in the rural districts. The bad roads of many sections of the country, and their almost impassable condition during part of the year, is a notorious fact, and if Gen. Stone's proposition can be carried into effect, it would seem to be one of the greatest advance steps taken by the Government for some time. Under his proposition there would be no tax whatever on the people for the construction of the new roads, as the money which now goes to annual repairs could be used for paying the interest on the bonds. Gen. Gary has the subject of postal savings banks well in hand, and is liable to be called on at any time by the Congressional committee having charge of the bill for his statement in support of his proposed measure.

The Illinois Steel Company announces its orders at this time nearly double those at the beginning of any previous year, and prophesies that the country is entering upon the best business period within ten years. There is probably no more accurate indication of the condition of business generally than is shown by the iron industry. Iron and steel enter into practically all branches of business,—building, manufactures, mining, agriculture, railroads, and in fact every branch of trade, and an enlarged demand for it surely indi-icates an increase in all branches of business.

The indications are that an immigration restriction bill will be taken up for early consideration by the Republicans in Congress. The principal feature of the bill proposed seems to be an educational test to determine whether the immigrant shall become a resident of the United States. The Republican party has always been the party of progression and education, and will push the measure this session as it did a similar one last session which President Cleveland promptly vetoed after it had been passed by both houses.

In view of recent developments in the orient, a great many Americans who have heretofore been rather lukewarm on the subject, begin to see the need of a closer alliance with England. In spite of all the humbug of the jingoists, and the ranting of the ignorant horde, the disposition on the part of this country is to cultivate a closer relationship with the mother country, and every intelligent American observes that disposition with pleasure.

A new way of collecting bills has been put in vogue here that some people look forward to with nollite degree of apprehension. If spruce limbs wrapped in newspapers are to be used as persuaders most of us would prefer to pay as we go. But in all seriousness such brutality can not be too strongly condemned and a man who is willing to commit murder on so slight provocation needs looking after.

The New Years edition of the Oregonian was one of the finest special editions of any great newspaper ever published in this country. Its information on Alaskan matters is complete up to date and invaluable to all who think of going to that country. But it is most valuable of all on account of its accurate description of the State of Oregon which is so full and complete as to leave nothing desired.

President McKinley and his party have reiterated their intention to keep every American dollar equivalent to a gold dollar. The Democratic party is satisfied with a fifty-cent dollar and even appears to be preparing to declare that a piece of paper worth nothing is as good as a fifty-cent dollar and consequently as good as a hundred cent dollar.

With China being partitioned off among European gold-standard nations, inevitable results will be the adoption of a gold-standard currency in that country. The silver mine owners know this, and hence they are anxious that the United States should take a hand looking to non-interference by European nations with Chinese affairs.

Patriotic Democrats who have been industriously howling calamity for the past eight months will be delighted to know that the Treasury figures for the last month show a surplus. Thus a new protective tariff law is fulfilling the expectations and hopes of the country.

Twenty per cent. advance in wages was the Christmas gift received by some fifteen hundred employes of Indiana glass factories. The companies state that there is ample work in prospect to keep their factories running on full time, their entire stock of glass on hand having been exhausted.

Emperor Billy accomplished his object in China, but he hasn't settled as yet with the rest of Europe. If he keeps on in his mad career he will succeed in precipitating the dread conflict which all Europe has for a half a century been dreading and making every effort to avoid.

Try Schilling's Best tea and baking powder.

The increased Christmas trade and the heavy work of the Post-Office Department and of the express companies is a convincing proof that times are better and that the business of the country is improved.

Durrant has at last expiated his crime upon the gallows, and the general public heaves a sigh of relief. The general verdict is that he was guilty and richly merited his fate.

Storekeepers, postmasters, and express agents all over the country have reported Christmas business as unusually heavy this year.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. E. Royce, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject. He writes: 'For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs. The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by S. J. Surgeon.'

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: 'It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief. Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by S. J. Surgeon.'

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a 'Women's Edition' of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3, 1898. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: 'The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it.' 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by S. J. Surgeon.
