EXPRESSION OF PUBLIC OPINION.

But for which the Editor Does not Hold Himself Responsible

This department of the HEADLIGHT is devoted to communications received from the people and all are invited to contribute to it.

BOTH SIDES.

By Lady Cook (nee Tennessee Claflin.)

Partiality is more frequently a misfortune than a vice. Men are partial by habit, by education, by their locality, and by the religious and social prejudices which they acquire from their infancy.

We have seen men shudder at the suggestion of a change of opinion, just as they might shudder at impending disgrace. They were afraid to hear the other side, afraid to read certain books, afraid to have their ideas submitted to the conflict of reason and fact.

There are others who theoretically admit the unwisdom of one-sidedness, and yet adhere to it. Some among them are constantly trumpeting aloud "Hear both sides," but when put to the practical test they still only want to hear one—their own.

Again, there is the drink question, a subject of momentous consequence, but not to be settled by intolerance, injustice, or compulsion on one side or the other.

Whenever we turn, it is just the same. The question in which women are vitally interested are scoffed at and pooh-poohed by those men who have never studied them and know nothing about them.

A celebrated Doctor, who must be nameless, being overworked with his gigantic labours in Scriptural translations, said the other day while in a warm discussion with a notable Jew.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours: a sediment settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kibber's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages.

My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips.
