Today the HEADLIGHT celebrates its eleventh birthday. Being so near its teens it naturally feels that the period of its childhood is past and it is qualified to take its place as one of the old established newspapers of the state.

Good Word's for Oregon. Oregon has had the first opportunity among the states of the Union to declare her opinion upon the present policies of the parties in the Union.

kept out of his seat, mean much more than Pennsylvania's 306,000 majority and New York's 228,000 majority for McKinley in 1896. Up there on the Northwestern border, where there are no Platts or Quays, or rather where this man Mitchell, this hand-me-down, three for a quarter imitation of Platt and Quay, has been buried into kingdom come; the currency issue has been thrashed out straight.

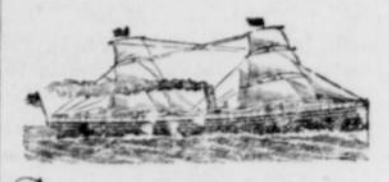

"It is reported that the HEADLIGHT will pass under new management in a few days etc. etc."—Herald. It is also reported that if Huff's henchman, Brooks, who seems to know so much about other people's business, attended strictly to his own, he would have enough to do to keep him busy.

One of the principal reasons why the last campaign in Tillamook county was such a successful one was that it was well engineered, Chairman Ale Severance of the County Central Committee evidently understands his business.
