BEAVER

The whistle of Richard and Haig's saw mill—the school children with their bright faces and sprightly steps, going to and from school—the ring of the blacksmith's hammer—the number of heavily loaded milk wagons that daily unload at McIntosh's cheese factory—the numerous well pleased guests at the hotel, W. L. West—with two mails daily, except Sunday—with a church almost completed—with wood and water so plentiful and clover up to our eyes, we, I guess, are about as happy and contented as is possible, according to our size. Several Beaverites attended the Sunday school organization at Coulsonburg last Sunday. Rev. Gregory and a few co-workers will hold religious services here commencing next Thursday and hold services daily at least till Sunday. On

Letter from Billy Williams.

Mrs. Kate Williams has received an interesting letter from her husband, who is now with his brother Jack, Frank McCormick and Frank Henry, on his way to the Klondike gold fields. The party witnessed the snow slide which took place at Valdez glacier 5 miles from the summit on the Chilkoot trail. Their many friends will be interested in reading the following brief extracts from the letter.

May 2nd, On Summit. "We arrived here yesterday after a day of hard travel, through a fearful wind and snow storm. We got blocked two miles below here and it took 1 1/2 hours to move our outfit 1 1/2 miles and we had to work very hard to do that. At 10 o'clock on May 1st we witnessed a fearful sight. We were alarmed by cries of help! We all ran in the direction from which the cries came, with our shovels. There had been a terrible snow slide from the summit. It caught 15 of our party and covered them over with 7 or 8 feet of snow. Two men of our party were killed; one man left a wife and two children; the other was a single man. Our outfit was covered to feet deep but we worked the place so we got it all right. We are now out of danger with our provisions all in as nice shape as when I bought of Mark L. Cobb, Portland Ore. I saw a man give 20 lbs of corn meal for a stick of wood 4 ft long and 7 inches through. We can get all the fresh meat we want and are getting along fine. When you write be sure to write long letters as they cost $1.00 a piece in this country. Yours Truly, BILLY WILLIAMS.
