Annexation of Hawaii.

The annexation of Hawaii marks a new era in the political and industrial progress of this country. It is a sure evidence that the country has at last awakened to a sense of its own greatness and to the fact that the hide-bound policy which has so long hindered our progress, must be laid aside for a policy commensurate with our present and future needs.

As a war measure the anexation of Hawaii is a wise measure but as a peace measure it is still wiser. The foreign commerce of this country has grown to enormous proportions and every year brings with it still greater development. Our foreign commerce necessitates a large increase in our merchant marine—a great merchant marine means a great navy necessitating coaling stations wherever our trade goes. The Sandwich Islands, the Ladrones and the Philippines are right in the way of our ocean commerce with the orient, and, aside from their own inherent value, they are of inestemable value to us as a station on the Pacific Ocean highway. Porto Rico on the other hand will serve as a similar purpose on the ocean highway from our eastern coast to South American ports.

The annexation of Hawaii will also add yet another reason for the speedy construction of the Nicaragua canal and the Nicaragua canal once constructed will mean the immediate quadrupling of the prosperity of this coast. It will also insure the safety of our coast in case of war with any of the great nations of Europe. Not since the admission of the Pacific coast states as portions of the Federal Union has anything occured that furnished to them so much cause for rejoicing as the annexation of Hawaii to the United States.

A portion of the newspapers, of Oregon, are advocating the organization of an order of native sons for this state, similar to the order of native sons in California. We think if those newspapers had studied the workings of the California organization a little more carefully they would hardly desire to see such an organization here. In California the order has not only forced itself into politics to the extent of crowding out nearly all older, and in many instances, better men who came from other states, but in society and business it is a disturbing element. The California order of native sons is responsible for the election of the traitor, U. S. Senator White, who has just concluded his long and bitter fight against the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. The less sectional feeling stirred up in this country the better. The one great thing to be remembered by all is that we are all Americans. The peculiar traditions of a state do not need a secret society to conserve them, they can be better looked after by a commission appointed for the purpose.

In a glaring head-line, the Oregonian, of recent date, speaks of the Cuban soldiers, who massacred a lot of Spanish soldiers, after they had surrendered as "Cuban Brutes." Doubtless but who made them so? Their ideas of humanity and honor were all obtained from Spain, for they are of Spanish descent, and they are only practicing upon their brother Spaniards what their brother Spaniards have practiced upon others from time immemorial. And, furthermore, in judging the poor Cubans we must take into account what they have suffered. It is not at all unlikely that if we had been under the tyrant heel of Spain all our lives, if we had been robbed, our possessions confiscated, our fathers murdered, our mothers and sisters outraged and our little children starved to death—that we too might feel like inflicting upon those who were the guilty cause of all our sorrows condign punishment. The punishment of the Spaniards is a retribution. This does not constitute a justification of the course of these Cubans but it goes a long way toward mitigating their offense.

County Official Paper.

The contest of the Herald for the county printing was dismissed by the county court last week on motion of T. B. Handley, attorney for the HEADLIGHT, on the ground that as George and Amanda Edmunds had sold the Herald, they no longer had any standing in court. And thus ended the Herald's charges of fraud. The HEADLIGHT was designated the county official paper for the balance of the current year.

To Cleveland and the Democratic administration belongs the disgrace of hauling down the United States flag where Bengamin Harrison had placed it, over the Hawaiian capitol. To President McKinley and the Republican party belongs the lasting glory of having replaced that flag and nailed it so securely that the combined hosts of populism and democracy can never more haul it down. Were there nothing more, the annexation of Hawaii furnishes enough glory for McKinley's administration.

And now Camara's fleet, after having paid the enormous toll for passing through the Suez Canal on its pretended way to the Philippines has again changed its mind and re-passed through the canal on its way home. If Camara's only purpose is a spectacular promenade it seems that he might have selected a less expensive sheet of water for his promenade than the Suez Canal.

Hon J. W. Maxwell is prominently mentioned as candidate for speaker of the next Oregon legislature. A better man could not be found. Mr. Maxwell possesses in an eminent degree the vim, energy and executive ability necessary to fit him for the office. With Mr Maxwell as speaker, the legislature would be held down strictly to business. Mr. Maxwell is a good parlamentarian and an all around good man for the position.
