ONE BEAR LESS

Poor Mother Bear Left to Weep for Her Lost Boy.

If a stranger happened to be up and on our streets last Monday morning bright and early, just as Old Sol began to warm up the highest peaks of the Coast range, he would have been greatly alarmed by the sight he would have seen. With the war over, and all the soldiers embarked for Manila that will be, he could not have explained the why of the commotion.

It was a regular army, headed by our famous hunter Jno. Barker, with Grand Master A. O. U. W., Herrin, Attorney Pogue, Insurance Agent Edmunds D.
DeK Bowman and George Stoddard, each armed with a rifle large enough to kill an elephant at 1000 yards and walking with the step and pride of a soldier. Such was their feeling when they stepped in to the boat on that fatal morn ing for a grand bear hunt on the hills west of Garibaldi.

After landing at the appointed place and dividing into parties of two each so that there would be no danger of being eaten up alive by Old Bruin, they started up the hillsides, over logs, bogs and fogs. It became so foggy, that, towards noon they decided to give up the hunt, but just at that moment a bear was scented. Old Mrs. Bruin, with her two wily sons, were driven into a thicket and as mother bear thought there must be dogs in the neighborhood, she sent her children up the nearest tree while she scrambled on into the jungle. Barker came upon the scene at this moment and in a second one little son bear was a corpse at the foot of the tree, the other son bear, jumping down, got away on account of the dense fog, so they say.

In much less time than it takes to tell it, all parties were on hand with a hurrah. The fact is, they each secretly followed up the leader for fear of bears.
Well, Bruin was dead, at least one of his children, and "we killed it". It was a beauty, at least 11 1/2 inches in length and we are told by reliable parties that it weighed between 5 and 6 pounds and was killed by five men and a boy. It was carefully put away in the pocket of a hunting coat for safe keeping, and they returned home.

Attorney Pogue has the bear. It is his intention to have it stuffed and mounted for a paper-weight in his office.
He will thus be reminded to tell his clients the wonderful story of "How Five Men and a Boy killed a Bear."

We might suggest to our "Spring Poets" that here is a brilliant opportunity for a parody on "How Betsy and I Killed a Bear."

A Poetical Correspondent.

County Treasurer Cary has received from a school clerk an order with the following rhyming request for the cash:

I enclose you this order,
To me 'tis but rash, Unless you could accept it And send me the cash
If the cash is all out
And the safe is a wreck
It will do very well
If you just send your check.
A receipt on the back Of the order I'll draw,
To make you secure
And comply with the law.
So rush it along
As fast as you like,
For the school ma'am is wantin'
To purchase a bike.

She'll get many a tumble,
And no doubt she'll swear; But she'll soon learn to keep Her fair face in the air.
And every fine morning
To school she will ride On her rosy red wheel With myself by her side.
It will not be safe for small boys In the roadway to lurk, When the teacher goes out On a spin with the clerk.

The treasurer lays no claim to the title of a poet, but upon reading the foregoing he invoked the muse long enough to reply as follows:

Permit me to say I am no poet, But you and the school ma'am can just go it.
You have the privilege to ride Close by the fair lady's side; But be cautious while riding your new red bike.
Or you will get to pulling hair And there will be a strike.
If this should befall you While riding close by her side, I can not assure you a sweet loving bride.

A Business of Itself.

Last summer Cohn & Co thought it would be well to salt down a few barrels of salmon this fall for shipment, and accordingly made a small addition to their stock for the purpose.

Two large tanks were placed in the warehouse and were soon filled.
Now they have at least 12 tanks filled which will fill about 100 barrels. This is more than they first thought of salt-ing down, but shows what a very small industry will grow to, if handled properly.

BORN.

DENNIS—To Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dennis at Nestleton, Aug. 27, 1898 a son.

HINER—To Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hiner, daughters.

WILLIAMS—To Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Williams at Bay City, Aug. 31 1898 a son.

DIED.

We are exceedingly sorry to chronicle in this issue the death of Miss Octavia Zieber who has been for a number of years an esteemed resident of this city.
Miss Zieber was born in the far East and emigrated to this state with her parents at least 45 years ago. At the time she was about 55 years of age and the trip overland by ox-team, with its perils was very vividly impressed upon her mind. She resided with her parents for a time and, after their death with other relatives. Upon the marriage of her niece, Mrs. Orr Nolan, she came to Tillamook to reside with Mr. and Mrs. Orr Nolan and was at their residence at the time of her death.

"Aunt Ockey" as she was familiarly known to her friends, was one of those generous souls who devote themselves entirely to happiness of others. In early life she lost her hearing and life to her was wrapped in eternal silence but nevertheless she was of a cheerful sunny disposition and managed to draw joy and sunshine all about her, drawing around her quite a circle of friends. Her illness was brief. She died of some form of paralysis, which released from the first to yield to treatment. Every thing that kind hands and medical skill could do was of no avail and she died at 2 A M on last Sunday morning. The remains were taken to Salem by Dist. Atty. Nolan where they were interred. Mrs.
Nolan, Miss Painter and Mrs. Nolan's niece, Mrs. Nanner left by stage for Salem on Monday morning to be present at the funeral. Mr. Nolan went by steamer on Tuesday.

A FARM NOTE.

The quail is hopping songfully Along the shining lea,
The archer's taking wrongfully The apple from the tree, And while the fruit he macerates,
And while the Bob White chants,
The dog serenely lacerates The bosom of his "pants."

Is more or less mislaid.
