A New Fish Law.

The Progressive Commercial Association of Astoria has had a "Fisheries Bill" drafted which will be presented at the next legislature and a strong fight made for its passage. Fish protector, H. D. McGuire strongly favors the bill and is useing every possible effort to influence legislators in its favor. In a letter to one of the Oregon legislature, Mr. McGuire makes the following statement:

"Statistics of the Columbia river salmon fishery for the year 1898 show that the pack is nearly if not quite 100,000 cases less than the pack for the preceding year, which means a loss of nearly $500,000 to those directly engaged. Such a decline in one of our principal sources of wealth must certainly affect the general prosperity of every section of the state in a greater or less degree. The salmon canning business is one of the principal industries of every coast country from the California state line to our northern boundary, affording employment to over 5000 persons and furnishing support to more than 30,000 of our people. Surely then the argument sometimes made by those who have given the subjects only superficial thought, that it is a local industry, and therfore not entitled to state aid, is not well founded."

"From personal observation and investigation of the salmon on their spawning beds, I am satisfied that not more than 10 per cent of a spawn in the open streams are hatched, owing principally to the spawn-eating fish that prey upon it, while from artificial propagation at a trifling cost, 95 per cent of the eggs are hatched and vast numbers of young produced. It seems to me no futhur argument is needed to demonstrate how important it is that this work should be provided for by the state. By this means, not only can we restore prosperity to our salmon fishery, but it is entirely practicable to increase the present output 100 per cent.

Through the art of fish culture the shad of the Deleware river was not only preserved from extinction, but the abundance was increased 150 per cent, and there is no question but equally good results can be obtained in our salmon fishery."

We do not know any of the provisions of the bill in question but trust that it is strong, fair and equitable. Tillamook County is greatly interested in proper legislation and there are few things which, if they are not already in the bill should be introduced for our benefit.

The first of these things is that the fishing season opens too early here. The large fish are given little chance to reach their spawning gronuds. They find nets and fishermen awaiting them as soon as they get into the bay and far to few of them live to disposit their spawn in the streams. Two weeks or one month later would be a far better time to open the season than the present date. The close of the season should be extended for a corresponding period. As it is at present the season closes here just about the time we have our very best run of fish, and packers and cannery men find it difficult to make their business pay because the season is too short.

Another change that should be made in the law is there should be a distinction made between seining and netting on Sunday and fishing with hook and line. As it is a man who goes trolling for salmon merely for sport or recreation is equally guilty before the law with the man who sets his nets and catches scores or hundreds of fish for the market. The law should be so constructed as not to apply to fishing with hook and line at all.

If the anarchists of Europe desire the sympathy of the most ignorant and degraded people on this side of the water they should be a little more careful in the selection of their victims. The Empress Elizabeth of Austria, the latest victim of the Anarchy's assassin hand was one of the loveliest and most intelligent of Europe, noted alike for her sympathy with the common people and her general kindness of heart. The determination of the principal nations of Europe to crush Anarchy at whatever expense or pains, will be hailed as welcome news by all right thinking people.

The Water Wellman relief party saw nothing, heard nothing of Andree or of his balloon in months of Arctic wandering. Though barren of results, the long absence of the relief party was not without its compensations. Its members heard not a word of war news, hence were utterly ignorant of the incompetence that ruled the war department at Washington and of the sufferings and death of soldiers incident thereto. Another fortunate incident of the expedition was that Wellman was not lost in his return, necessitating the equipment of another party to find and bring him home.—Oregonian.

It is quite probable that the Senatorial fight in the special session of the Oregon Legislature will be a hotly contested one. Thus far Messrs Corbett and Herman are the only strong candidates, but others may be forthcoming. Ex-Senator Mitchell may make a showing of strength, but in view of the platform on which the legislature was elected the election of Mitchell is impossible. The Republicans of Oregon are not bound up in any one man but they demand the election of some able man who is willing to stand on the principles enunciated in the Oregon platform of 1898.

The silver forces of Washington when in convention assembled should have patted Jim Ham Lewis on the back for having successfully led the fight against the Hull bill—a bill framed just before war was declared for increasing the army, and had it become a law it would have put our army on a very secure war footing. The masses, regardless of party, have little use for men of the Lewis stripe.—Independence Enterprise.

Thus far the only known purpose of the special session of the legislature is the election of a United State Senator and passage of a general appropriation bill. The first general item mentioned will probabley be enough to occupy the attention of our law makers for a goodly proportion of the allotted 20 days time.

Public school teachers say that teacher's salaries are too low. Prices were scaled down during the financial depression and it is difficult to get them up again. A well qualified teacher should be paid more than the ordinary laborer because it costs him more to prepare for his work and his expenses are more, but he is not getting much in Oregon now.—Newberg Graphic.

Latest advice from Cuba leads us to infer the possibility that we shall have no easier time in establishing a protectorate over that island than the outlook is for our taking possession of the Philippines without a fierce fight.—Telegram.

All the preachers are in favor of holding the Philippines. They see great possibilities for doing good in a county that knows nothing about the church social.—Reporter.

Tacoma's official dogcatcher is working a small Klondike of his own just at present. Of the unlicensed canines taken in, the city pays the dogcatcher one dollar for each one killed. For each one redeemed the owner pays a dollar, and for each sold the dogcatchers receives from a dollar to $2.50. During the past few months 320 dogs have been "harvested."

A Spanish paper says the money spent in the war would have paid for sixty battle-ships. That would have bothered Uncle Sam. Raising sixty beached battle-ships is no light job.—Globe Democrat.

Oregon, Vermont and Maine have elected Republican Congressmen in every district. The congressional campaign of 1898 thus begins with a clean score.—Globe Democrat.
