

GOV. BOWERS IN PORTLAND.

Bewildered by the Mazy Whirl of City Life—Tired of Living on Ham and Eggs.

Portland Evening Telegram.
D. C. Bowers, of Tillamook, known at home as "Governor" Bowers, left last night for home. He has been in Portland about three weeks, and as he saw no co-hog clams in all that time, he became homesick. Speaking of his experience in Portland, he said:

"I have not been in Portland for eight years before, and city ways kind of make me a little dizzy. I am naturally of a bashful and retiring disposition and have come mighty near starving to death because of that fact. When I go into a restaurant I make up my mind to get a good square meal, but when the waiter comes around I always get so embarrassed that all I can remember is ham and eggs here that when I go home I will be ashamed to look my pigs in the face.

"I went up to see the type-setting machines and printing press of The Telegram the other day. These improvements are coming so fast that it is pretty hard to tell where we'll get off by and by. I suppose in a year or two they will wad the news in a gun and stand a man up and shoot it into him. That will save lots of money in the way of spectacles.

"I can't get used to these electric cars. Horse cars suit me well enough, but I have got an idea that beats horses all hollow. My bull team over in Tillamook can out-pull any team of horses in the state of Oregon, and besides, bulls are safer if you know how to 'gee, haw' in the right tone of voice.

"I went over to Vancouver the other day on the electric car. It seems to me that those cars go blamed fast. I wanted to know just how fast they did go and asked the conductor. He answered that they averaged 40 to 50 miles an hour. I said: 'Pardner, you're dead slow.' I wasn't going to let him bluff me, even if I didn't know.

"I hadn't been in Vancouver since 1891, and I thought they would be so glad to see me over there that they would fall all over me. I was mistaken, though. Nobody ever asked me to take a glass of beer, and they have got a brewery right there in town. I walked around, but didn't see any one I knew for some time. Then I saw a spavined old cuss nigh 97 years old and thought, of course, that he would remember me. So I said:

"Hello, uncle."
"Hello, grandpa," he answered.
"Things have changed a whole lot since you and me used to be around here 35 years ago," says I.

"I don't know how it is with you," says he, "but I orly come here two weeks ago, and I am going to get out of the darned hole as soon as I can."
"That is all I wanted of Vancouver, so I started back to Portland on the next ferry boat.

"One of them Salvation Army insects got on the car with me, and she started in to get a quarter the first thing. It was raining at the time or I would have got out on the platform. She stayed with me, and finally I asked her if she wouldn't pray for me if it wasn't too wet. She said I was a hard case and left me.

"I went down to Rainier the next day on business. That is a rough country down there. The hills are so steep that they hang over, but it is a good timber country. Lots of sawmills are running and making money, but Buck Smith is not running his mill, and he has got a good little mill, too. Buck Smith's and old Penney's are the only two mills on the Pacific coast that are not running. I told Buck to go up to Portland and tell old Penney that he was going to start up his mill, and maybe he could get him to give up to keep him from doing it.

"These weather maps that Pague issues make me laugh. They have got spots all over them, and they look like they had the smallpox. Up in one corner it says 'High,' in another the word 'Low' is printed. If there was enough map I suppose there would be jack and the game, too.

"I would like to have that crazy man Clark Hadley and Billy Stevens brought over the other day. They say he quacks like a duck. If I had him I would anchor him in the tide lands between Hoquarton slough and Kitchis river and use him for a decoy.

"Tillamook is a very lively town, but it is too far away to hurt Portland much. Portland is a pretty good town, too, and I wouldn't leave so soon, but I am getting nervous dodging trolley cars and bicycles, and am afraid if I stayed an other week I would get nervous prostration."

Allen House.

Marshland—Frank Linnville.

Bay City—C. Hendrick, Effit Young, R. L. Robbiss, Dairy Hendrix.
Po-tund—M. W. Kincaid.

NEHALEM.

Tillamook is now receiving her spring irrigation, which will show in the bountiful crops later on. Bless the gentle rain!

Married at the residence of the bride's parents in Foley, Mr. Harry H. Coleman to Miss Edith Ellis. Judge W. W. Jacobs officiating.

The gasoline launch Irene went spinning up the river in a new coat of paint on Saturday evening, carrying a crowd to the dance at Charlie Eason's.

Nicholai Nelson, living too far away to patronize the creamery, has invested in a Mikado separator, and will ship his butter via Garibaldi and Foley.

Geo. Higgenbotham was up from Tillamook the past week looking over the C. W. Alley ranch, with a view to renting.

Alex. McDonald is putting in sluice gates and otherwise improving his newly acquired property at Saginaw.

Mr. Ross, who came here some time ago from the Agricultural College, at Corvallis, will become a Nehalem farmer, having invested in property on the North Fork, and joined the patrons of husbandry.

Several of our young people left for Clatsop, Monday, among the number being Misses Estella Hunt and Daisy Sales; and Messrs. Joe Cronen, Earl Finley and Don C. Ellis.

Miss Mattie Thompson left us on Monday morning for Garibaldi.

Messrs. Cone, Watt and Barton, the appointed viewers on the proposed Nekarney mountain road, arrived Sunday, and started out for that purpose Monday morning.

SOUTH PRAIRIE.

At hand and never to soon—Spring.
Miss Edith Perkin's school in No. 2 is progressing nicely.

I. C. Quick has sold eighty acres of land to a new German settler.

Our creamery now seems to be an assured fact, and with the county saw mill to be running soon on our southern border, we are going to have a boom.

The improving of the grounds of the new Catholic cemetery on the old Tittle place is pretty well completed, and is being performed in substantial manner.

Mrs. Ruth Wilkes, of Foley, is visiting with friends on the Prairie.

Frank Ely reports $45.00 revenue per cow within a year. We doubt if this can be beaten in the county when we consider that it was derived of a farm, three-fourths upland.

Met our old friend and Whilom school mate, Nellus McMillen of Nehalem, in town the other day. Mac continues to run his hotel and stage on the beach and both being old and reliable establishments is well worthy of all patronage.

SAND LAKE.

Mr. Fred Eldridge, son of Mr. Eldridge, of Sand Lake, was here visiting his father last week. Mr. Fred Eldridge is a railroad conductor on the Great Northern railroad.

Mrs. Phelps is building a house on the place she bought of Mr. Cary, and will move into it as soon as possible.

Mr. Will Harris will prove up on his place soon.

Messrs. D. Billing, Dan Atkinson, C. F. Murphy and Chas. Murphy are at work for W. C. King, planting a new bed of cranberries.

Mrs. T. J. Harris is slowly improving in health.

The meetings at the school house are quite well attended. A pleasant feature of the meeting last Sunday was a basket dinner, which everybody enjoyed as soon as the service was over.

Mr. James Atkinson entertained a pleasant company last Sunday.

Hermion Farmer has been appointed road overseer for this section.

Bert King made his parents a pleasant visit last week.

Mr. Wolf is at work on Nestucca river.

Stock is looking fine and making garden is in order everywhere.

SPRUCE.

I will give you a brief description of a small portion of land lying around our farm. It is as follows: There is a small portion of land lying between the Spruce post office which has no creamery, yet there is a good site for one. But the reason we have no creamery is very plain, for out of fourteen places there is only one family, the rest being bachelors. For this reason several places are for sale. There is also government land here that will make excellent farms with some labor, as all this land is covered with a small growth of timber, which is not hard to get rid of. The only drawback to this section is the roads, but if the people will stop to think they will know they cannot have good roads in a new country right away. To prove to the people who have not had any experience in clearing timbered land, I will give my experience. When my father took his place twelve years ago he could not find a place on his whole 160 acres on which to build his house, for it was so thickly timbered. He stayed with it, with no roads within ten miles, only a horse trail. Gradually the country improved and settled up. A year after father died on his place he moved his family there and went to work. Being a poor man he had to work out as well to make a living. He and his eight year old son—the writer of this narrative—kept on. Now he has 100 acres slashed and 75 acres in grass, with a road running through his farm. It can be seen how much easier it is to make a home here now. Any inquiries pertaining to this section will be answered on receipt of a 2c. stamp by E. R. Hayes, Spruce, Oregon.

Tom Wilson has rented Grandpa Ely's place, who contemplate running a dairy this summer.

Miss Alice Pesterfield returned from California a few days ago after being gone about four years.

Otto Walther has been plowing and sowing oats this spring.

James Atkinson, of Sand Lake, passed through our burg Monday on his way to the Hub.

Miss Mary Simonson, who went to Astoria last spring to stay with her sister and attend school, is expected to return to Spruce this summer.

BARNEGAT.

Mr. Bert Biggs went to the city Friday.

Miss Clara Biggs and Mr. Josiah Biggs returned home after a week's visit among friends in Tillamook.

Mr. Frank Reynolds went to the city Friday and returned Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hauxhurst and family visited friends on Tillamook river Saturday and Sunday.

Clarence Tilden left the beach Sunday where he has been hauling piling and putting them in the bay.

Mr. F. Reynolds has his new house nearly finished and will soon begin to falling timber.

WILSON RIVER.

Geo. Parmele and his brother-in-law, Mr. Ball, is over from Seletz Reservation buying up cows.

Mr. Knight and family are to move down from Kiches river to Tillamook this week. Welcome back from the mountains wild.

We understand that Mr. Noren and wife are going to start south and east in about a month to remain permanently. They will be missed very much, as Mr. Noren has been faithful to hold Swedish services at our school house.

John Svenson is improving his place by putting up an ornamental picket fence around his house.

Joe Whiting is building a front porch for Charley Svenson.

The people of Wilson river are taking advantage of the pleasant spell of weather.

L. G. Freeman, who was confined to his bed with an attack of pneumonia, is up and around again.

Fred Johnson sold his ranch to F. D. Vincent, but will probably remain in the neighborhood for some time.

Tillamookers are just commencing to realize that the bottom lands of Wilson river contain the cream of Tillamook county.

It is reported that Jno. Erickson's brother, Adolph, is negotiating for the purchase of W. K. Keefe's ranch.

WOODS.

Mrs. Maloney and daughter Mabel are on the sick list.

Louie Fletcher and G. T. Shaw have just completed a barn for A. B. Pollard, of Ocean Park.

Mr. A. E. and Wm. Lucy left Tuesday for the Seven Devil mines, and several more will start as soon as the roads are in condition.

On March 28th, the Woods band gave their teacher, Mr. A. Compton, a surprise party at his residence in honor of his 68th birthday. A large crowd was present and a good time reported.

Mrs. Woods returned from Sheridan the 26th, and will reside here in the future.

Miss Fulya David, of Beaver, is setting type in the Ocean Wave office.

Mr. A. B. Pollard has moved to Ocean Park.

Mr. Ben Davis is negotiating with Geo. Mowers, of Blaine, for the lease of his place for a term of years. Mr. Davis has a nice herd of dairy cows and wishes to get near a creamery.

Mr. James McGhee returned from Yamhill co. on Monday, where he had a wood contract during the winter.

The Krebs logging crew are logging on the Dr. Bissell place.

Mr. W. R. Robedeck will visit the county seat this week.

On March 27th a party was given at the residence of W. Booth in honor of his daughter's, Zella's, seventeenth birthday. The room not being large enough to accommodate the large crowd present, they repaired to the L. O. O. P. Hall, where the evening was pleasantly spent in dancing, singing, speech making and card playing. At midnight Mrs. Booth served a nice lunch. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Shaw, Mrs. Woods, Messes. Belle and Zella Booth, Bertha and Alice Allen, Cleora and Laura Bixby, Tulva David, Nina Milles, Messrs. A. B. Pollard, A. J. Heater, F. Wilehart, Lawrence Shaw, Wm. Plank, Louie Fletcher, A. Compton, Dr. Wm. Scott, Wm. Priestley, W. R. Robedeck, Richard and Guy Allen, Joseph, Frank and Byron Clark. Some very valuable presents were received.

BEAVER.

J. R. Finley is making improvement in the way of fencing.

Jos. Bixby is selling out his goods at retail and he invites all to come and buy while they are going.

On Tuesday evening Rev. Sisel of South Prairie will address the people of Blaine.

On Monday, Mark Swab went to the hub for supplies.

C. Mills returned from the hub the fore part of this week where he had been speaking for a few evenings.

Beaver is looking for a few more emigrants from the east, the result, largely, of course, of sending the Headlight, our county paper, back east to friends. The Headlight has been instrumental in inducing quite a number of people to come to Tillamook, and we would recommend all those interested in this county to subscribe for the paper and have the editor send it to their friends.

REBELS MASSING.

Preparing to Make a Stand at Calumpit.

MANILA, April 4.—General Mac Arthur is to go to Calumpit, six miles north of Malolos, where there is a good water supply. The place is of importance in a strategic way, the Calumpit river being navigable from that city to Manila bay. The reconnaissance made today met no opposition to amount to anything.

Insurgents are committing all sorts of crimes on residents, where possible, using the torch, outraging women and looting houses.

The Americans are protecting as much property as possible, and the natives who return to their homes are surprised and pleased beyond measure to know they will be treated so well by the Americans.

The reconnaissance of the Fourth cavalry extended for 12 miles eastward. The belief is that the insurrection as a serious problem is past.

Rebels Massing at Calumpit.
