Tuttle is the sole agent in Tillamook, and has just received a large consignment of these goods, including rustless boilers, kettles, coffee and tea pots, pans, in fact, everything in the tinware line.

Altogether the evening was pleasantly enjoyed.
The Second Oregon Volunteers should be brought direct from Manila to Portland and mustered out in that city. We Webfooters should have the honor of being the first to welcome home our brave boys to their native state, and it will be a bitter disappointment to the citizens of Oregon if they are not granted this privilege.

Out of the twelve applicants who took the teachers' examination for certificates, eleven of them passed, which, considering that several were under the age of 17 years and pupils in the public school and the academy, is a good showing and speaks well for the training the rising generation is receiving in this city. Now that road supervisors have to be elected by popular vote, will the board of county commissioners have to redistrict the county into its original road districts? We hope not, for we do not consider it economical from a financial standpoint to have a multiplication of road supervisors. If there was a large amount of money available and a great deal of road work to be done then it would be different. Too many bosses to spend a small amount of money judiciously is a hard problem, especially when every part of the county has the bad road fever. Tillamook county only followed in the footsteps of other counties in reducing the number of road supervisors, and we think it would be a move in the wrong direction to increase them now the board of county commissioners have started in with a portable saw mill to plank the county roads.
A city council meeting was held Monday evening, and the only business transacted was that of filling a vacancy caused by Councilman J. Jones allowing his seat to become vacant through non-attendance. When the matter came up the president, Dr. C. E. Hawke and Councilmen L. Hiner and L. Olsen were present. The latter proposed Mr. A. J. Cohn, but did not receive a seconder. Councilman Hiner then moved that they elect a councilman by ballot, and meeting the same fate as the previous motion, caused a deadlock. The president made some remarks, mentioning Messrs. Imbler and Monroe also as candidates, but did not help matters, so it was passed over and the council then proceeded with a few minor matters and was about to adjourn, when Councilman Tuttle bobbed up and the president immediately referred back to unfinished business. Mr. Tuttle had no objection to Mr. Cohn, only that he did not like so many councilmen bunched up in one vicinity. Councilman Hiner seeing that two councilmen were in favor of Mr. Cohn moved that he be elected, and this being promptly seconded by Councilman Tuttle, another delay as to how the city dads should vote ensued. The ballot having been determined upon Mr. Cohn received three of the votes cast, the other being a blank.

Plans and specifications have been received in this city of the combination snag puller and pile driver to be built by contract for the government to be used in the improvement of Tillamook bay and Hoquarton slough. The hull of the scow will be rectangular in plan and 70 feet long by 30 feet wide on the deck, and about 4 feet deep. The sides and one end will be vertical, while the other end will be built with a curved rake. A house 20 by 20 feet and 10 feet high will be built on the deck to shelter the hoisting engine and provide quarters for the crew. Near the forward end a boom derrick will be built with four stiff logs, and mast about 40 feet high, with boom 60 feet long. At the stern a pile driver derrick will be built with gins about 40 feet high above the deck. Bid will be received up to the 24th, and two months after the contract is let the scow is to be delivered at this city.
Mr. Theo. Steinhilber was down at the Sand Spit on Friday to see what damage the earthquake or upheaval had done to his fine summer resort down there. He found every indication of earthquake, but did not make much investigation how far it extended, only in the neighborhood of his own place, and in addition to what we reported last week Mr. Steinhilber found his house had been moved about eighteen feet, that there was an upheaval of earth, and on the beach rocks were thrown up in a pile from eight to ten feet. When it occurred or what caused it is a mystery. The late evangelist told two of our attorneys he was raising the devil here, and it looks as though something or somebody has been raising the devil down at the Sand Spit. Later reports from the Sand Spit say the land for about a mile back continues to move toward the beach, it having already moved in that direction 70 feet.
In the matter of constructing roads for Tillamook county the board of county commissioners has taken a new departure from the system carried out in previous years. It does not require any demonstration to prove the fact that some of the roads during the winter are impassable and impossible to fix with the material near at hand, but to obviate this state of affairs the county officials determined to try plank roads, buying a portable saw mill to saw out its own lumber. Last week the mill was set working on the south side of Fossil creek, with a crew of 18 men for all purposes. On Monday about half a mile of plank road had been put down, and it is expected that every ten days' work will add about a mile to it. In a few years where the roads are now impassable they will be planked, and this will enable the farmers to haul their products to market any time of the year. The county is paying the men $1.25 per day with board, and thus far it is costing about $3 per thousand for the lumber.

Now wasn't it mean of those motherless pups to turn up their toes after so much care and attention paid them by their foster parents. "The nasty little things."
"Governor" Bowers had our sympathy at the social when the young ladies were serving supper. He wanted hot cakes and couldn't get them. The wonder was he did not call for all the books in the library at one time.
The city dads were not in the right mood Monday night to discuss the question of allowing cyclists to ride on the sidewalks in the residence portion of the city, for the all-absorbing question was "Who was going to be the new councilman?"
There was some talk recently of organizing a board of trade, but for some cause mum is the word in regard to it. We do not see why this city should not have a push club as well as other places to keep a sharp look out for the general good of the city.
Surely the selection of a councilman ought not to have been narrowed down to whether a certain street would be graveled or not. If the city dads use good judgment, and there is no reason to doubt but what they will, the work commenced on this road by the late council should be completed.
Apropos of the make up of the "Communicated" editorial in our contemporary last week puts in mind of the ginned up Arkansas printer who got a marriage notice and a local advertisement mixed up so that it read as follows: "John Brown and Ida Gray were united in the holy sauer kraut by the quart or barrel. Mr. Brown is a well known young codfish at 10 per pound, while the bride, Miss Gray, has some nice pigs' feet which will be sold cheap."
