Many of our citizens will be pained to hear of the death of Mr. Wm. Driffield, a former journeyer of this city, which we much regret to chronicle. Mr. Driffield died of heart complaint at Oakland Cal., on June 2nd. During his residence in this county he made friends of all who came in contact with him and impressed all with his unfailing kindness and geniality.

A party of timber cruisers boarded the train for Seaside to look over the timber adjacent to the proposed extension of the A. & C. road from Seaside to Tillamook. They refused to talk about their cruise, or in whose interest the work was being done. It is said, however, that they represent the same syndicate that employed the ill-fated Heikmann party, and are going to the woods to finish the work which that party began.—Astorian.

At a meeting of the citizens at the court house on Saturday evening presided over by Mayor B. L. Eddy, called for the purpose of making arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration in this city, the consensus of opinion was in favor of making the national event one of double importance in view of the events of the past year connected with our late unpleasantness with Spain. It was agreed that Mayor Eddy appoint the necessary committees, which he did. Finance committee: Messrs. A. J. Cohn, H. H. Alderman and Frank Kerremans; programme committee: T. Coates, F. R. Beals and P. McIntosh.

Mr. Robert Crawford was down from Nehalem on Monday for the purpose of being examined for an increase in pension. He has about 80 head of stock on his farm, and informs us that a number of the farmers are going to quit sending their cream to the creamery there. The reason of this, Mr. Crawford claims, is that farmers can make more money making and packing butter than they do by patronizing the creamery, anyway that is Mr. Crawford's experience. He complains of the roads at Nehalem, and is in hope the county commissioners will order some of the roads graded, which would be a great improvement, even if no other work was put upon them.

What struck Bro. Watson that he was so humble and contrite last week? But who was he referring to and had in mind's eye when he said "he never whipped his wife?" We are sorry we have not got onto that racket. Four respected brother has not the grit to expose that kind of thing we ask him to put us onto the particulars. We will promise our readers something sensational whenever we run across wife beaters or wife abusers, for the "dead editor's" corpse will show itself a terrible lively spirit when it peppers hot shot and sarcasm into the hide of such brutes. Now, Bro. Watson, who are the parties you refer to so that the Headlight Pirate may be after their scalp?

At the regular meeting of Camp 219, Woodmen of the World, on Friday evening, the following officers were elected: C. C. Home; Mason; adv. lieut., A. G. Reynolds; escort, Puley Hiatt; watchman, Bert King; sentry, James A. Biggs; manager, Geo. Higgenbotham. The ladies of the Woodmen's Circle, after the camp had adjourned, tendered the members a surprise party, when they served refreshments and altogether a most enjoyable social time was indulged in. It was the intention of the Woodmen to unveil the monument erected over the grave of one of the deceased members, Bro. T. Williams, on Sunday, but owing to the inclemency of the weather on that day this had to be postponed.

The city council had an important matter before it on Monday, that of the health of the city. Assertions were made that a number of back yards and closets were in a filthy condition, and were a menace to the health of the city. Being without any drainage system, the city council should leave no steps untaken to have these places put in a sanitary condition as far as possible. Only a few months ago the physicians were wrestling with a scarlet fever epidemic, but how the contagious disease originated is not perhaps known. In order, however, to make a rigid sanitary arrangement effectual, it should be the duty of the health officer to make periodical visits to the yards and water closets of every house in the city. It is no use being modest about this thing or to deal with it indifferently, for where the atmosphere is noisily putrid and filled with disease germs the quicker it is removed the better. Whoever the mayor appoints health officers he should commence a crusade against unsanitary back places.

If it is considered dangerous to allow cyclists to ride on the side walks during the summer months, it looks as though the same reasons could be put forward against them riding during the winter. Or, to put it the other way, if it is permissible for cyclists to ride on the side walks in the winter, we fail to see why they cannot do the same in the summer. So either keep them off altogether or let them ride the same as in the winter. Mayor B. L. Eddy was perhaps right when he told the city council that it was a difficult question to know how to settle on account of the reckless riding of the scorchers. If the city dads do not consider it advisable to change the city ordinance then it is the duty of every law abiding citizen to respect it, no matter how much they may oppose or agree with cyclists riding on sidewalks. All will admit that the sidewalks were constructed for pedestrians and not for the cyclists, and if the councilmen think that the former's right would be encroached upon if they granted other privileges to the cyclists, they are only doing their duty by not consenting to any change. Although we favor the idea of allowing cyclists on the sidewalks in the residence portion of the city, nevertheless there are strong arguments against it, so much so that we do not feel like recommending it, but to compromise the matter would there be any objection to designating a limited number of streets going east and west and south and north where cyclists could ride the year round? Even this may meet with opposition from the property owners whose residences abut on these streets.

City Council Meeting.
The regular meeting of the city council was held on Monday evening at the city hall. President C. E. Hawke was in the chair, with Councilmen L. Hiner, L. Olsen, A. J. Cohn and J. E. Tuttle were present. The following bills were allowed:
J. S. Lahmon, salary, $30; ditto, for street work, $135; Water Company two months', water rent, $80; J. E. Tuttle, for nine hydrants, $90; recorder's salary, $10; Dr. D. Wiley, professional services as health officer, $21. A bill, which was put in by John Level for $6 for a public charge was not allowed. City Surveyor Austin submitted a report in regard to the grades of the side walks of the city and ask for further instructions. The report was laid on the table. Dr. D. Wiley having resigned the position of health officer, a discussion arose as to the appointment of a successor and the compensation to be paid. The city ordinance was amended so that the mayor could appoint a person who was not a medical practitioner. Dr. May was present at the council meeting and offered some valuable suggestions as to the duties of a health officer and pointed out the dangers that arose from fifth in back yards and water closets. He thought the city should have a rigid quarantine.

The question of allowing cyclists to ride on the side walks was then brought up. Dr. W. J. May and Mr. B. C. Lamb was present, representing the wheelmen's association, and they asked that the city pass an ordinance to the above effect.

St. Alphonsus' Academy.
The COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES and Conferring Academic Honors on Graduates will take place in St. Alphonsus' Academy on Thursday, June 15th, at 7.45 p.m.
ADMITTANCE, 25c.

The councilmen did not look favorably upon the proposition, being under the impression that in allowing this privilege it might lead to the injury of small children. They did not think, however, there was much danger of the members of the wheeling association or the business men who rode bikes causing accidents, but they had to protect the public against scorchers and reckless riders. After a lengthy discussion the matter was laid over until the next meeting. An ordinance was introduced to prohibit the use of obscene and profane language, but this did not receive any discussion, it being laid over until the next meeting.

Persons arriving in Long Creek, Or., brought the news that a band of trail sheep belonging to Robert Foster, were shot into near the head of Slide creek, last Monday. Full particulars of the affair were not obtained, further than the shooting resulted in the loss of 200 head of sheep. A large number of sheep are being driven East this season from Morrow and Gilliam counties, and in the past 10 days about 40,000 head have passed through this city.

Farmers and retail dealers in agricultural implements will have to pay more for their plows, harrows, seeders and implements of a kindred nature in the future. At a meeting of 25 manufacturers of these implements of farm industry it was decided to make a general rise in the price of all agricultural implements. A general rise in prices was advocated by those present, and committees were appointed to prepare a schedule for the various kinds of implements. These committees will attempt to make out their price list during the summer months, and will report to a meeting to be called this fall. It is thought a general increase of from 15 to 25 per cent will be made.
