Lost on Edmontion Trail.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 19.—More victims of the Edmontion trail arrived on the steamer Dirigo today. According to J. Reilly Snyder, for 18 months a Philadelphia party of 14 was on the trail. Deserted by their Indian guides, they lost themselves in the Valley of Shadow, as they called it, north of Peace river. On leaving them on a boggy, treacherous trail, the Indian guides declared that none had ventured further north, and they prophesied an early death for the argonauts. The men found their way to a black or muddy river, which flows into the Liard. They crossed this a few miles from its source, and wandered in a bleak country to the north for weeks. Their food supply became exhausted. Their pack animals died, and they themselves gradually lost hope and energy. At last they turned south, recrossed the black river and came to the forks of the Nelson, above Bell Gate. Here they lost 23 horses from starvation and had to leave in a swamp a major part of their outfit for lack of pack animals. Another 33 days they lived on just what would keep body and soul together and give them enough strength to haul their decimated outfit. At length they reached Sylvester Landing, on Dease river, 150 miles from Fort Liard. Here hopeless of ever reaching their goal, they turned their faces southward again, and following Dease river to its source, in Dease lake, made Telegraph, on the Ashcroft trail, and came down the Stickeen to civilization.

Attacked in Rear.

MANILA, June 19th, 8:20 p. m.—A battalion of the Fourth Infantry, which left this morning, to reconnoiter toward Pedas Dasmarias, where it was believed most of the rebels who escaped from Paranaque and Bacoor had fled, was attacked in the rear by apparently friendly natives.

This brought on a sharp engagement, lasting several hours and resulting in five Americans being killed and about 25 wounded. The loss of the rebels was very heavy.

The battalion soon exhausted its ammunition, and at 2:30 p. m. General Wheaton and his staff, with two mountain guns and one field piece, went to reinforce the troops attacked. General Wheaton was fired on in the road and had a narrow escape.

A third battalion was ordered to the front and formed on the Las Pinas road. Heavy firing on both sides followed, the artillery being freely used. The enemy was located in the woods at 4 o'clock, showing signs of retreating, as they were being pressed very hard.

One gun of the Sixth artillery, in an advantageous position, did great execution. The fighting was still in progress at 5 o'clock, at which time the Americans had secured a quantity of Filipino arms which had been abandoned in the woods. The scene of the fighting is over 20 miles from Manila.

MANILA, June 20th, 9 a. m.—General Wheaton's command has renewed the attack upon Das Marinas. Early this morning they moved on the town, hoping to reach there by noon, unless very strong opposition was encountered.

The latest list of the American casualties in yesterday's fighting shows that five were killed and 23 wounded. The list includes no officers. The wounded were brought to Manila from Bacoor.

MANILA, June 20th, 8 P. M.—The troops commanded by General Wheaton entered Pedas Dasmarias today without opposition except on the part of small bodies of rebels, who inflicted no losses on the Americans. The town is an unimportant place, surrounded by swamps, and Wheaton will probably return to Imus.

General Otis' Report. WASHINGTON, June 20.—General Otis' reports the following: "Manila, June 20.—Adjutant-General, Washington: Wheaton is at Imus, Cavite province, with four guns, four battalions of the Fourth and Fifth infantry, Nevada troops and cavalry. Sent a battalion south on a reconnaissance in the direction of Dasmarias yesterday morning, where the enemy was reported to be concentrating their scattered forces. The battalion encountered the enemy's force of 2000, marching to attack Imus, successfully impeding its progress. Wheaton, with two guns and two battalions, hurried forward and repulsed the enemy with heavy loss, the enemy leaving over 100 dead on the field. Our loss is five killed, 23 wounded. Wheaton was reinforced last night by a battalion of the Ninth infantry, and driving the enemy beyond Dasmarias, which is now in his possession. Casualties today not reported. Wheaton's qualities for a bold and successful attack are unsurpassed."

Miles Says Case Is Serious. NEW YORK, June 20.—"The situation in the Philippines is very serious," said General Nelson A. Miles at the Waldorf, Astoria last night. "I know nothing concerning the story that the war department is suppressing the news that the situation is very serious. The question of issuing a call for volunteers has not I believe been decided. I do not care to discuss the Philippine matter. I am here on private business."

Plans of the Boers. LONDON, June 19.—The St. James's Gazette today claims to have received from Pretoria a copy of a Transvaal plan of campaign which will be followed by General Joubert, commander-in-chief of the Boers, in the event of war between the Transvaal and Great Britain.

General Joubert's force, it seems, will consist of 20,000 men, armed with Mauser rifles, in addition to 46 quick-firing guns and 1000 artillerymen, most of them drawn from the German and Dutch armies. With these troops and help expected from the Orange Free State, he will march on Kimberley, the diamond-mining center in West Griqualand, which forms four of the 70 divisions of the Cape Colony. Kimberley is about 100 miles northwest of Bloemfontein.

In his march on Kimberley, Joubert expects to capture the town with slight loss, and blow up the De Beers diamond mine. Simultaneously, it is added, the railroad from Cape Town to Bulawayo will be destroyed by Boer sympathizers, and agents in Cape Colony will destroy Fort Elizabeth-Pretoria line south of Bloemfontein, to prevent British troops from using it.

Finally, immediately after Kimberley is captured, General Joubert will advance on Cape Colony, through the western provinces, where the Dutch predominate, and are expected to join the Boers. Joubert calculates he will be master of Cape Town a fortnight after the declaration of war, and that he will then be able to dictate terms of peace.

Almost a Failure. WASHINGTON, June 20.—Private advice received here from a high authority are to the effect that the conference at the Hague probably will be adjourned nominally from failure through an agreement on an arbitration project that will satisfy the apparently general demand on that point, but, which, at the same time, by carefully framed safeguards, will so narrow the field of matters that may or may not be before the arbitration tribunal as to make it little more than an arbitration in name. The attitude of Germany is that she will be only a little in advance of that of some of the others in opposition to the plans submitted and the disaffection is more general than appears on the surface.

As for the other projects that were especially desired by the Americans, such as protection of individual property from seizure at sea, they have all been irredeemably lost, according to this report.

Call for City Warrants. The following warrants will be paid when presented at my office. No. 178, 164, 173, 177, 182, 186, 188, 189, 183, 142. Interest ceases from date of this notice, June 22nd, 1899. N. THOMPSON, City Treasurer.

QUAINT FEATURES OF LIFE.

O. A. Mygatt of New York City met with a serious accident while fishing for tarpon at Boca Grande pass, Florida. He had been playing a tarpon for some time, when the fish, in its mad efforts to escape, made a gigantic leap and in its fall struck Mr. Mygatt in the back of the neck with his tail. Both landed in the bottom of the boat. Mr. Mygatt was knocked senseless and remained unconscious for about three hours, but has now recovered. The great wonder is that he was not knocked overboard and drowned.

The following fish story is vouched for by Mr. G. W. Sutherland sr., of Springfield, Ky., whose reputation for truth and veracity is said to be above reproach. Mr. Sutherland writes: "On last Sunday night the distillery of Woods & Edele, situated on a small branch near Chaplin river, five miles above the Chapin Tunnel mill, burned. It was told there were 50 barrels of whisky burned and some ran down the branch and into the river and made all the fish drunk. They came down to the mill dam groggy and the boys picked up boat loads of them while in that condition."

Not the least of man's troubles about his clothes is what his wife thinks of them. Here is where George I. Brown, for example, who failed so entirely to please his better half in the matter of dress while in New York that she threw a bottle of ink at him and ruined a new suit of clothes he was wearing. In a moment of remorse she gave him $100 to buy more clothes, but her anger will end again and while they were in the railroad station waiting to take a train for this city she cracked him over the head with her umbrella. They were both arrested and at the police station Mrs. Brown said her husband was most exasperating and had no taste in dress at all. They were released and took a later train.

A first practical step in the attempt to substitute tea for beer is to be taken next week in the opening of a tea bar in New York by Colonel H. H. Hadley of the Church Army. He says: "We propose to have a place in Allen street, where tea, hot or cold will be served at 1 cent a cup. There will always be good music, also. Our missionaries will visit the poor and persuade them to abandon beer for tea. In the case of a few honest persons our missionaries will propose that the beneficiary pay us 8 cents a bucket for tea, instead of beer. At the end of the year, when it has been completely shown that tea has been substituted for beer, the beneficiary will receive back $100, the 8 cents a bucket amounting to nearly that sum, and our friends will make up the rest."

John Greenert, a prominent farmer of the Tysart creek neighborhood, Kentucky, whose veracity has never been doubted, tells of a wonderful species of winged snake seen by him and a farmhand on his place. He describes the snake, which they first discovered lying on the ground, as about three feet long and ten inches in circumference at the center. It had four pair of legs, two wings which grew just forward of the middle of the body. The wings consisted of a membranous substance which, when the snake was in a dormant condition, remained folded up under the body and were not noticed by them until on their approach. With a spring it raised from the ground and sailed through the air at a terrific speed. The snake is black as charcoal and has a very repulsive appearance, especially when flying through the air.

An odd case of hystera is reported from Abilene, Kan. A lady of that town has been entertaining her niece, a young woman from another town, and ever since the arrival of the girl the house has been made the target of peepers and burglars. In the evening before the family had gone to bed there would be a crash of glass and then the young woman would come flying in terror to her aunt with the story that she had seen the face of a man at the window and when he found that she was observed he broke the window and ran. After the windows had been broken all over the house officers were set to watch for several nights. At last one officer, brighter than the rest, discovered that all the glass broke from a window fell outward, from the inside. A watch was placed over the girl and she was soon caught in which she ran screaming to her aunt, with the same story about a man. Her strange performance is accounted for on the theory of a hysterical condition in which she "sees things" and then does things unconsciously.

An autopsy on the remains of the late Mrs. Rose Fink, wife of Hon. George W. Fink of Bloomington, Ill., revealed the fact that she was the victim of myxodema, one of the rarest diseases known to the medical world. Her case was diagnosed by several eminent doctors as ossification of the tissues, but the autopsy showed that the diagnosis was incorrect, though the symptoms indicate ossifications, as certain portions of her body had hardened almost to the hardness of bone. Of myxodema only twenty cases are on record, and it is believed that not more than 100 cases have been found. There are occasional cases in Switzerland, due to operations for the removal of the thyroid gland in goitre. The subcutaneous tissues in the case of Mrs. Fink had hardened, making the skin hard and dry like bone.
