

LIFE !

Is sometimes wrapped in a small bottle. Doubtless there have been times in your experience when you were convinced that the door was closed against death by a single bottle of medicine. Isn't it important, therefore, with such serious matters to be sure of your druggist ?

I don't brag of an elaborate "checking" system. Every druggist should check prescriptions carefully. I guide myself just as much on the quality of my drugs and the careful way in which I prepare my medicines.

To make 18 carot gold you must have a certain amount of gold. To be truly accurate in compounding medicines is more than weights and measures.

Mr. F. F. Fitzpatrick, writing to the Oregonian, asked this question: "Are bicycles purchased now taxable for the year 1899 in counties where the bicycle-tax law obtains? What course is being pursued in Portland with regard to such wheels?" To which the Oregonian replied: "Yes. The regular licence of $1.25 is charged. The licence is now delinquent, and is subjected to a penalty of $1; but, of course, a person who has just acquired a wheel cannot well be held to be a delinquent. The license tags are good until March 1, 1900."

The price of salmon on Columbia river is away up. Charles Alter, the Portland buyer of fish for the European markets, telegraphed his agents at Astoria to pay 6 1/2 cents per pound for all fish over 25 pounds. This is probably the highest price that was ever paid for royal chinook salmon on the river. The other cold-storage men will most likely meet this price, but fish are now very scarce, though of excellent quality and color. The canneries are paying 5 1/2 cents for salmon.

Rev. and Mrs. E. T. Allen entertained the officers of the Presbyterian church and their families on Wednesday evening of last week with a Persian evening "at home." Mr. and Mrs. Allen received their guests in Persian costumes and the time was pleasantly spent in social conversation and in examining Persian curios and photographs. Refreshments were served throughout the evening in true Persian style. Both Mr. and Mrs. Allen spent several years as missionaries in Persia and were thus able to make the occasion a very interesting and enjoyable one.

Every citizen should attend the lecture on Tuesday evening to be given by State Supt. J. H. Ackerman. We are personally acquainted with the state superintendent and can testify to his ability as a most successful educator, and particularly as to his successful and discreet management of the schools of Multnomah county and the lively interest he infused in teachers' institutes. Perhaps we have never forgiven him, after working like a Trojan for him, when he deputized the county superintendent after his election and accepted the position of principal of Harrison street school in Portland. But then that was only that city's gain and Multnomah county's loss.

County Teachers' Institute.

The annual teachers' institute for this county will commence on Monday in Tillamook city, at the public school, and will continue the two following days. From present indications it is predicted that quite an interesting institute will be held, at which the public is earnestly invited to attend. State Superintendent J. H. Ackerman will be present, and being a pleasant speaker and full of enthusiasm in school matters, with a happy faculty of making teachers' institutes particularly interesting and profitable, his presence will be a great acquisition to the institute this year. Prof. R. C. French, of the Monmouth Normal School, and ex-Superintendent L. H. Baker, of Yamhill county, will have charge of the regular work of instruction in methods and school management, and being "up-to-date" in their ideas of matters pertaining to district schools, methods and the material required to make a successful teacher, these two gentlemen will also help to make the institute doubly interesting. There will be a session of the institute in the opera house on Monday evening, at which Mayor B. L. Eddy and Mr. T. B. Handley will make addresses. Prof. G. A. Walker will read a paper at this session, when his subject will be "The Humanities of the School," and on Tuesday evening there will be a lecture, free to the public, by State Superintendent J. H. Ackerman, at which a cordial invitation is extended to all the citizens to be present. After the lecture a social time will be participated in, and the ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve refreshments.

The work of the institute will commence at nine o'clock on Monday morning, with remarks by Supt. G. B. Lamb, after which Prof. L. H. Baker will introduce the subject of U. S. History; Prof. R. C. French, numbers and arithmetic; Prof. L. H. Baker, school discipline; in the afternoon, Prof. R. C. French, geography; Prof. L. H. Baker, mental arithmetic; Prof. R. C. French, language, also reading. On Tuesday and Wednesday the subjects are all arranged. On the latter day State Superintendent J. H. Ackerman will address the institute on the course of study.

May "Our Father" bless you all, and spare you any like affliction, and grant you like consolation in every trouble.

ORETOWN.

The Little Nestucca salmon cannery is being rapidly put in shape for the fishing season. It is expected to start canning the 15th of August.

The small schooner Petrel, of Tillamook, while crossing the bar, outward bound, drifted ashore on the beach south of the Nestucca bar and is a total wreck. Sailing vessels cannot successfully run in and out of the small bays along the coast. Steamers can safely do so almost at all times.

Mrs. Young is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Atterbury.

Miss Jessie Ley and Agnes Stinson are the guests of Mrs. Rock.

Mrs. Plank has resigned her position as postmistress of Neskowin.

The Little Nestucca cheese factory is turning out a large quantity of cheese, but the building is very much in need of a good coat of paint.

There is a large number of campers at Slab Creek, the old popular resort.

Willie Redburg, who was hurt while wrestling about two months ago, is still not about to be out of the house.

The Oretown school will close Friday the 28th.

Connubialities.

A man seldom marries his first love, chiefly because it is impossible for him to marry himself.

All of Washington society that knows what is what was startled the other day by Secretary of State Hay, who appeared at a swell wedding in a white flannel suit. The thermometer at the time was nearly 100 out of doors, and somewhat higher than that figure inside the church.

A woman notary public in Colorado, who was recently married, asked the attorney general what name she should use officially in the future. He has replied that she must sign all documents as before her marriage, for he finds no law compelling or even authorizing a woman to drop her maiden name on the simple excuse of marriage. In fact, he says that there is no authority for a change of name at marriage or at any other time.

Startling happenings are rapidly crowding into the life of William Wilson Sloan, Jr., the 20-year-old Harvard student who was to have served as chief usher at a fashionable Cambridge wedding, but who himself married the bride, Rose Lincoln Edwardes, a few hours before the time set for the original ceremonies. Young Mr. and Mrs. Sloan are now in New York City. Within twenty-four hours this is what happened to the college boy: Tuesday afternoon, May 21, he was to have been head usher at his friend's fashionable wedding, but instead he eloped with the bride-to-be and married her. Wednesday morning his father, a millionaire of Buffalo, disinherited him. Wednesday noon it was discovered that the college law which forbids the marriage of freshmen expelled him from Harvard. The elder Sloan, who with his wife and daughter was in Boston Wednesday, called at the home of the bride's parents in Cambridge and expressed his displeasure at the marriage. He said that the boy would have to take care of himself, and he intimated that he might take measures to annul the marriage on the ground that the boy was under the age of consent. Mrs. Edwardes, the mother of the bride, had expressed, it is said, her displeasure at the marriage between her daughter and young Sloan.

The Arkansas City Traveler says that when the printer who was working on a farm was told by a farmer's wife to set a hen he replied, "Leaded or solid?" Which reminds us of a Uncle John Spees's story of the printer in his office who was setting up a story and heard a knight say: "Begone base brevier!" afterward explaining to the indignant author that there was no minion in the office.

"Young Hammerhead seems to be on his knees to every woman he meets."

"Yes, he has his trousers creased by contract."

She—What would you do if I attempted to run upstairs and leave you here alone?

He—Hold you.

She—I'm goin'.
