The local teachers' institute held in Woods last Saturday was a success, though owing to the recent heavy rainfall which rendered the roads impassible few teachers were present from a distance. "How to Teach Patriotism to the Child," by Miss Nelson was ably presented. The school at Woods is one of the very few schools in which there is a daily flag-raising by the pupils. "The Teacher's Duty During Intermession," by Mrs. Ginn was very suggestive as to the teachers presence on the school-ground. "Short Methods in Arithmetic," by Prof. Lorne, was very interesting to all present. At the opening of the afternoon session the subject of "Gum-chewing" was taken up and as usual afforded considerable amusement as well as earnest discussion and condemnation, after which Prof. Snuffer read a paper on "Professional Enthusiasm." This was followed by a paper on the "True Education," by B. C. Lamb. Prof. Souffer introduced the subject of "Physiology" which called forth considerable discussion. During the remainder of the day other topics were discussed. The deep interest in the cause of education manifested by the people of Woods reflects great credit upon the town. During all the sessions of the institute the school-house was crowded to its utmost capacity. On Saturday evening Mrs. Holmes very kindly opened her home to the teachers and a few invited friends, where a most enjoyable evening was passed. The association will convene at Nehalem next month.

They Admire Tillamook's Special.

C. R. Winslow & Co., in sending check for their advrt. in the special edition, say: "A very creditable showing of your resources."

Mr. D. D. Bowman, former editor of the Tillamook Headlight, writes from Seattle: "Allow us to congratulate you on the effort. We appreciate the work that you had to do and feel that the edition was a credit to the Headlight force as well as Tillamook county."

The Oregonian, last week, devoted two columns to Tillamook county, taken from our special edition, under this caption: "Rich Tillamook County—Here dairying reaches its greatest perfection—Agricultural and timber resources not excelled anywhere in the world."

Tillamook Headlight came out last week with a special edition descriptive of the resources of Tillamook county that does great credit to the publishers. Every local paper of energy and push does its locality more good in the way of calling attention to its resources and opportunities than is paid it for subscription.—North Yamhill Record.

The special illustrated edition of the Tillamook Headlight shows up the resources of that county very nicely. The facts set forth are gotten up in an entertaining way, and the illustration substantiate the statements. A large increase in that county's population ought to result from a proper distribution of this edition.—Telephone Register.
