Did you ever see a county surveyor on his back in the mud making a survey. It was all caused by Austin's Texas steer balking, if we may be allowed to christen his bike with that name.
The new officers in the M.E. Sunday school are: Superintendent, T. H. Goyne; assistant, Mr. Morris; secretary, Mrs. G. Edmunds; treasurer, S. McCrager; librarian, Flossie Letcher; organist, Ruth Bewley.
The citizens of this city will be able to exercise the franchise four times this year. First comes the school election, followed by county, presidential and city elections. We don't wonder that some of the ladies want to do some of the voting.

Articles incorporating the First Church of the United Brethren in Christ, of Beaver, in this county, have been placed on file, the incorporators being Messrs. C. Mills, J. R. Dillow, Walter Kinnaman, Alva Finley and Earnst Haug.
Mr. Claude Thayer is expected home from Portland to-day, after being absent from the city several months. When he left he had little idea that he would witness the death of his father and mother in so short a time and experience so sad a bereavement.
Mr. A. J. Cohn has been elected president of the city council, president of the hose company, and appointed chairman of the judges in the board of election. Say, Abe, hadn't we better notify President McKinley to make preparations to vacate the White House?

There is a good deal of inquiry about Tillamook county since the Oregonian issued its annual number, especially from states which are not favored as Oregon is, and what new settlers that edition may induce to locate in this state, Tillamook county, we believe, will get her share.
Governor Geer, Secretary of State Dunbar and State Treasurer Moore fixed the state levy at 6.3 mills. Last year the tax was 5.7 mills. A noticeable feature of the levy is that Multnomah county, by the reduction of valuations, will pay $44,903 less than last year. Tillamook county's state tax will amount to $7,919.36.

We notice that quite a number of the county courts in Oregon have complied with the law by designating the boundaries for voting precincts so that a road supervisor may be elected in each of them, but fail to notice one instance of ignoring the law. Is Tillamook county going to be unique?

The first case coming before Recorder Coates was that of a drunk and disorderly, who occupied the "cooler" Thursday night. After taking the case under advisement, and finding that the marshal had not sworn out a warrant against the man, and thinking he had no jurisdiction over the man until this was done, dismissed the case, although the man was ready to plead guilty.
Captain W. W. Harts, who has charge of the government improvements along the coast, is expected in this city to inspect the government work done in this county. He left Portland last week to come in by way of Astoria. Whether or not his patience will become exhausted remains to be seen, but it will give the captain some idea of what a patient class of people Tillamookers must be and how the industries of this county are handicapped by irregular transportation service and shallow bars.

If the county court is compelled to comply with the new road supervisor law it will hoo-doo road work in Tillamook county. Now that a systematic and practical method is being carried out, which would have resulted in giving the county some really good roads, it must be disappointing to the county judge and the commissioners to be forced to adopt an antediluvian system of road work. We sincerely trust they will find some way whereby they can throw the new law into the waste paper basket.
If all the cheese factories and creameries in Tillamook county can manufacture at less cost to the dairymen if they had more milk, well what's the matter with every dairymen increasing his herd of cows as soon as possible. That's what they'll do in Kansas to choke off the manufacturer's complaint, and surely Tillamook dairymen can do the same thing, even if it is to increase the teat pulling business. "Well, what's the matter with Tillamook?" Why, she's alright, and will produce more milk, for it is to the advantage of the dairymen to pour milk into the factories to their full capacity.

In not confirming the appointment of Mr. T. H. Goyne for city attorney, made by the mayor, the city council on Monday evening did not show a very magnanimous spirit in laying it over until the next meeting. With all due respect to the council, even if Mr. Goyne did oppose the election of some of the present councilmen, that is a thing of the past, so it would be well to drop all personalities and hard feelings in that respect and aim to do what is for the best interest of the city. As Mr. Goyne made a good city attorney last year, and is Mayor Wiley's nominee, we hope the city council is not going to enforce the custom, "To the victors belong the spoils."

There may be a number of aspirants in this congressional district who want to jump into Congressman T. Tongue's shoes, but the interests of the state cannot be sacrificed to their caprice or greed for public office. He is now in a position to do the state some good, and it would be a suicidal policy for the republican convention to nominate, or the voters to elect, any other person than Mr. Tongue for congressman for this district. This is, we believe, the sentiment of those who look at the situation impartially, for it is a case where even Mr. Tongue's political opponents could do the state a good service by voting for him.
Died, on the 11th inst., at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Weston, in Tillamook City, at the advanced age of 79 years, Mr. F. N. Elliott. Deceased, who was a respected citizen of this county for about thirty years, was the father of George and F. N. Elliott, and who also had a daughter (Mrs. Devine) residing in Portland. Deceased was born in the state of New York and came to Oregon in 1847, having crossed the plains in that year, but before coming to this he located in Clackamas county. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon, Rev. S. A. Smith conducting the religious services.

Mr. T. S. Townsend was in the city this week and left for Portland yesterday. He informs us that he made two shipments of Tillamook cheese to Manila, which reached there in fine condition. It was well packed in salt. In regard to the shipment of butter to the same place in glass jars, Mr. Townsend says that it did not arrive at Manila in as good a condition as the cheese. In future the butter will be put up in cans, which can be done at less cost. Mr. Townsend will, after the first of next month, manufacture at the White Clover Cheese Factory on the co-operative plan, charging a low price for manufacturing and selling the cheese. As to erecting new factories, he says the farmers should double up their cows before this was thought of, for most all the creameries and cheese factories could manufacture at much less cost if they had double the amount of milk to handle.

Articles of incorporation have been filed in the county court incorporating the Tillamook Electric Light Company, its capital stock to be three thousand dollars, divided into thirty shares, of the par value of one thousand dollars each. The object of the corporation and the business in which it proposes to engage is to own, control, use, operate, buy and sell land, machinery, tools, appliances and franchises in the city of Tillamook and conduct therein an electric light and power business, and to execute notes and give mortgages upon its land and property. The incorporators are Messrs. J. C. Havelly, J. F. Watts and Charles E. Hays.
A meeting was held on Saturday to reorganize the McKinley club in this city, at which a goodly number of republicans were present. Mr. T. B. Handley, member of the state central committee, called the meeting to order, and in doing so outlined what he thought would be the issues in the political arena this year, dwelling principally upon that of expansion. Mr. Handley was chosen temporary chairman and Mr. G. B. Lamb secretary. A committee on membership was then appointed, consisting of Messrs. O. Heins, A. Stillwell, W. H. Reynolds, A. J. Cohn and F. Sappington. A number of new names were added to the roll, and the meeting adjourned until next Saturday.
The Oregon wide-tire wagon law is now in force. The law provides that the county court of each county is authorized to make a rebate annually for four years, on the road tax of each person within its county who shall own and have in habitual use on the highways, wagons or other vehicles for the transportation of heavy articles, the tires of which are not less than three inches in width, of $1 for each wheel of such vehicle. And the owner of each vehicle having tires of not less than four inches in width, upon which there is a difference of at least eight inches in the front and rear axle, so constructed that the front and rear wheels will not come in contact with the same road surface while the vehicle is moving in a straight line, shall receive a further rebate, for four years on his or her road tax, of $2 for each and every year during said period that vehicle is habitual-ly used on the highways.
There was a good attendance at the hose company's meeting on Thursday evening, President F. C. Baker wielding the gavel. Chief Oak Nolan presented his annual report, which showed that only four fire alarms had been turned in, but in each case the fires were extinguished without the aid of the hose company, thus causing no loss from fire in the city the past year. After discussing several matters relating to the hose company and disposing of them, the following officers were elected by acclamation: President, A. J. Cohn; chief, Oak Nolan; secretary, Frank Kerremann; treasurer, T. Coates. Then the gavel called the boys to quarters, not however to fight fire, but to see what kind of trenchers they were with crackers and cheese and other light refreshments, to say nothing of the fire stories that were told to amuse the boys. The second edition of which will take place at the next meeting, when, of course, the newly elected officers will call the boys to quarters, with perhaps an initiation.
Mrs. Samantha C. Thayer, widow of the late Governor W. W. Thayer, died at her home at Woodstock, near Portland, on Wednesday of last week, from an illness that had practically extended from the death of her husband. Governor Thayer died October 15, 1899, and from that time she continued to droop until death came to her relief. She was 65 years old and came to Oregon with her husband in 1862. She was formerly Miss Vincent, and was married to Mr. Thayer Nov. 11, 1852, in Tonawanda county, New York. She spent some time in Lewiston, Idaho, and then came to Portland with Governor Thayer. Although of a retired disposition, she was a woman of fine education and of high culture, and her friends hold her in the highest esteem. She leaves one son, Claude Thayer, a prominent attorney and banker of Tillamook, who is in the city and has been here for some time. He came to Portland just before the death of his father, and except making a trip to Chicago, has been with his mother ever since. The remains of the deceased lady were buried in the Lone Fir cemetery.—Oregonian.

Rev. R. P. Bukey, one of Tillamook's citizens and well known in the south end of the county, died at the home of his nephew, Albert Farley, in East Portland, Oregon, on the 8th inst., aged 77 years. He was born in Ohio county, W. Va., and was a graduate from Meedsville, Ohio, Theological Seminary. In the summer of 1849 he, with several others, came by muletrain to California, remaining there three years. He then returned to Ohio, at which time he married a young widow by the name of Rebecca Yearse, who died eight years ago. From this union the deceased raised a son and daughter, viz., Bruce Bukey, now residing at Sacramento, Cal., and a daughter, who died at the age of 18. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Eddie, of Beaver, in this county, also a sister, Mrs. A. Hartman, of Monmouth, Kan., and a lot of nieces and nephews, besides a host of warm friends. He has been a faithful minister for over 30 years, mostly for the M.E. church, but going to Beaver about four years ago, and the United Brethren church not being supplied, he offered his services and was chosen pastor. He was beloved by all Christians and admired for his noble spirit. The remains were buried in the Multnomah cemetery, Portland. There is to be a memorial service at the United Brethren church at Beaver on Sunday morning.

County Judge Sappington's remarks at the council meeting on Monday evening were to the point. The county court is opposed to creating eighteen road districts, and in this the citizens who have given the matter any consideration, should heartily coincide with the court. Although favorable to the citizens electing three road supervisors, the judge and commissioners see the folly of electing more than that number after inaugurating a systematic idea of road work, which, if carried out, will result in giving the county some good roads in a few years, and roads over which the farmers can haul their products to market at all times of the year. It is to be regretted that there is a possibility of upsetting their plans by the introduction of the new road supervisor law. Even roads within incorporated cities will be under the supervision of the road supervisor. In regard to levying a road tax the judge seems of the opinion that the court will not levy a road tax if it is compelled to comply with the new law, which will cause a stagnation in systematic road building in Tillamook. Evidently the judge and commissioners are prompted by laudable motives in the action they have taken in wanting to do what is best for the whole county, and it is desirable they receive the support of those who advocate good roads. Every citizen realizes the predicament which the new law places the county court in, for their duties are plainly set forth there. As it will be necessary for the county court to define its position, why not take the bull by the horns and declare the new law inoperative in Tillamook county?

FITTING TRUSSES
With me doesn't go by guess. I am not satisfied simply to sell a truss that approximates the size of the customer, for I want the trusses I sell to do the work they are expected to do and be comfortable at the same time. Sometimes a little intelligent bending of the truss-band is needed. I do it. And I frequently order special trusses or sizes if necessary.
Spring Trusses from $1.50 to $3. Elastic Trusses from $1 to $2.50.
Elastic Stockings, Abdominal Supporters, Crutches and other appliances of this kind can also be promptly supplied.
