We are sorry to state that we failed to chronicle the demise of the populist party in this county, but an obituary notice is not necessary, seeing that populism died with an overdose of prosperity. But where's its ghost?
As several parties appear to doubt the figures furnished by Mr. J. F. Martin as to the returns of his cows, which we published a few weeks since, we have gone over his monthly statements and find them to tally with the figures he furnished us.

Now that the United States supreme court has decided that ordinances passed by city councils to prohibit cigarette smoking to be constitutional, we suppose another crusade will be made against the pernicious habit of manufacturing cigarette fends out of the youths of the country.
The A.O.U.W. lodge in this city has been taking in a number of new members of late. Oregon has over 9,000 members and the order is increasing in membership every month, which is owing to the fact that the A.O.U.W. is acknowledged to be the best beneficiary order now in existence in which a man can insure his life at nearly actual cost.

Rev. R. Y. Blalock will speak at the court house to-morrow (Friday) evening on prohibition, when it is expected that others will take part and make the meeting interesting. As the prohibitionists have decided to wage war in the "enemy's country," no doubt those who favor prohibition will turn out to swell the ranks.
The government derrick, which is at work dredging at Drystocking bar, has demonstrated that the obstruction there was caused by a rack heap of brush and branches of trees and logs, which was covered up with sand, which makes dredging slow work, but some 200 feet of that rack, known as Drystocking bar, is already removed.
Cows were bringing high prices in the south part of the county last week. In gathering up a band of about 20 head to send to Alaska, a party from Portland paid from $55 to $70 per head for them. How does that compare with the price of cows a few years ago? Perhaps the populists in that part of the county will answer the question.
Several democrats may be slated for nomination, but there's not much animation among the dry bones, for the simple reason that a nomination in the democratic party in this county is not equivalent to an election, consequently there are not many office seekers who care to assume the position of a dog trying to catch its own tail.
Mr. Albert Plank, who clerks and sleeps in McIntosh & McNair's store, was awoke after the electric lights had gone out early Friday morning by the smashing of one of the store windows. Going to the front he saw a man reaching in through the window helping himself to the canned goods there. Taking his knife from pocket, Albert jabbed it into the man's hand, who immediately disappeared without stopping to say good night.
It is not the desire of the Headlight to criticize a person wrongly or to do him an injustice. Should, however, a person secure the nomination for office whose record is bad, we have a perfect right to inform the public upon what interests them, that of the qualification or lack of qualification of candidates and officials. We do not intend to dictate, but if the taxpayers prefer tax eaters for officials all they have to do is vote for them and not pucker up their faces when it comes to paying taxes.
The hall at St. Alphonsus academy on Friday evening was packed to its fullest capacity by those who had accepted the Sisters' invitation to be present at the musical recital by the music class of that institution of learning. It proved to be an interesting entertainment, in which the students acquitted themselves well, the large audience appreciating their efforts. Perhaps it is well not to particularize, but a number of the students possess fine musical ability, which the Sisters have done much to develop, and this is what made the recital such a success.
An examination for teachers' certificates commenced on Wednesday at the court house, the board of examiners being composed of Supt. Geo. B. Lamb, Mr. F. D. Vincent and Mrs. Allen, when fifteen persons presented themselves for examination, viz.:
Bay City—W. A. Petteys.
Tillamook—Misses Ellen Bewley, Ruth Cooper, Carrie Judd, Pearl White, Katie Hiner, Pearl Briscoe, Amanda Tinnerstet, Selma Allen, Olive Donaldson, Mrs. Hurlbert, Mrs. Edith King.
Balm—Miss Lizzie Rittenhouse.
Nehalem—Miss Mary Schollmeyer.
Hebo—Mrs. N. M. Ginn.
When you hear people make the assertion that the county officials should pay their deputies out of their salaries, that is, no doubt, made by some cheap guy for campaign purposes. A cheap, incompetent official is an expensive luxury for any county to try an experiment with, for they are on a par with the expensive luxury of electing tax eaters to office. The Headlight believes in paying county officials good salaries and exacting the best service for that, from a business point of view, is best for the county and the taxpayers. The person who will not scruple to cut one man's wages in two would not raise any objection to seeing the dairymen get 13c. per pound for their butter fat instead of double that amount. Rats, to these cheap guy, calamity politicians.
The Forest Grove Times says George Bacon will start from that city for Tillamook this week to make arrangements to run a stage over the Wilson river road this summer, to which the Headlight would add, Those who run a stage for the accommodation of Tillamookers and the traveling public year in and year out, let it hail, snow, blow, rain or shine should receive the patronage, especially as the North Yamhill stage line is giving good satisfaction. It is hardly fair to cater for the summer travel and as soon as the wet weather sets in draw off, for the regular stage line will be able to handle all the business this summer, when it should make a little money to offset running a stage "when there's nothing in it." That's what the Headlight thinks about it, and is firmly of the opinion that it is best to stay with those who stay with Tillamook summer and winter.

Mr. P. McIntosh has engaged Mr. T. J. Ballentyne to take charge of his new cheese factory on the Wilson river, north of this city, who is an experienced butter and cheese maker of 20 standing. He arrived last Thursday from Listowell, Ont. Mr. Ballentyne won the gold medal at the Colonial exposition in London and secured three out of the 35 premiums offered at the world's fair at Chicago for the best manufactured butter and cheese. What with this being the best dairying county in the state and the introduction of only experienced cheese and butter makers, Tillamook is on the right track to put her dairy products on the market manufactured in the best of style. There is some satisfaction to dairymen taking their milk to a cheese factory where they know it will be manufactured by experienced hands into cheese which will bring the top prices when placed on the market. Tillamook dairymen are not bugging their eyes out to see how the wheat raisers are making it with wheat at 50c., but the latter are bugging their eyes out when they see Tillamook dairymen are receiving all the way from 23c. to 28c. per pound for butter fat.

Judge Burnett held circuit court in this city on Monday, and, like the last few terms of court in this county, there was exceedingly little business in the judge's department to attend to, which speaks volumes for the law abiding citizens of Tillamook. It may look a farce to bring Judge Burnett in every six months for a few cases which he generally disposes of in a couple of hours, but it is to the advantage of the taxpayers, for when there are a lot of criminal cases the burden falls upon them. Tillamook is to be congratulated upon having so few criminal, as well as civil, cases. The cases coming before the judge was that of Frank Patton vs Henry Tohl, action for money, which was continued until next term of court; Geo. N. Johnson vs Netarts Bay Lumber Co., in which a motion was made by Attorney Eddy to strike out part of reply, which the judge sustained and continued the case to Judge Boise's court if that gentleman will consent to try the case when he holds court in this city on the 9th June; the stabbing case, in which Fred Newton is charged with using a dangerous weapon and assaulting Harry Mitchell therewith, was continued on the plea that Newton could not get his witnesses, the judge binding the prisoner over in the sum of $300, so Newton will have to remain in durance vile for six months—and at the county's expense for grub—if he cannot get someone to bail him out.

TONGUE RENOMINATED.
Received 93 Votes on First Ballot out of 163 Votes Cast.
At the republican congressional convention at McMinnville on Tuesday the long talked of opposition to Congressman T. H. Tongue turned out a bugaboo, a regular myth, for he had a walk over and a dozen votes to spare on the first ballot, having polled 93 out of 163 votes cast: Tongue, 93; Gatch, 27; Brownell, 17; Hewitt, 14; Carter, 11.
As far as Tillamook county is concerned, the renomination of Congressman Tongue is a source of gratification to the citizens of this county, who know the congressman's worth and appreciate his ability and industry. Although he had several opponents in the convention, it is plain to see that the delegates from several counties threw away their votes complimenting the candidates from their respective counties, not taking into consideration the merits and ability of the aspirants, or what was for the best interest of the district and state as well. However, Mr. Tongue did not require their votes, there being enough delegates in the convention who sized up the situation in a broad light, and it did not take them long to decide either, for they saw at a glance the high position Congressman Tongue had attained at Washington, which is not only an honor to the congressman but to the state of Oregon as well. Tillamookers will never regret that the delegation from this county was in line with popular sentiment and voted for Mr. Tongue, for the congressman is a staunch friend of this county and who is particularly interested in the improvement of Tillamook bars and harbors. For that reason, it is to the best interest of every Tillamooker, no matter what their political affiliations may be, to vote for Mr. Tongue. As we view the situation, the person who fails to vote for him in this county, votes against his own as well as the county's interests. We fail to see how any dairymen, lumberman, manufacturer or merchant in Tillamook can oppose Mr. Tongue when the difficulties and losses they experience year after year on account of bad transportation service caused by shallow bars and harbors are intelligently taken into consideration. But we suppose that a number of voters even in Tillamook will throw away their votes complimenting the candidates who will oppose Mr. Tongue next June.
