The Magdalen Islands, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, form a little group that very few people have any knowledge of. The inhabitants, mainly fishermen are civilized and comparatively well-to-do, but know very little as to what is going on in the outside world, though they are in easy calling distance of the New England coast.

A Kansas editor wrote that "Mr. Brewer is about to start for a fishing resort and says: "I am going to a place where I shall feel at liberty to wear one galls, go without a collar and roll up my pants." The item it Mrs. Brewer and some little talk was aroused by the paragraph.

In the Name of Charity.

The announcement was made some weeks ago that the fund raised in Washington for the relief of the Boer widows and orphans had been used in entertaining the Boer peace envoys to this country. A committee was appointed to audit the accounts and has just made its report. It finds that $1,206.36 was collected and only $32.11 turned over to the fund. The balance of $1,174.28 was used in the pro-Boer demonstration. The committee found that "the expenditures had been properly incurred, but were unusually large, owing to the size of the demonstration and the fact that the Boer envoys were brought here and entertained for eleven days, during which they sought to impress the justice of their cause on the government."

"There may have been no steal in connection with these disbursements, but there certainly was a misappropriation of the funds. The contributors supposed that they were making donations for the widows and orphans of burghers killed in fighting for the preservation of their country, and to use the money for any other purpose was an act of dishonesty. The real object of the fund, it now appears, was to boom the Boer cause and enlist sympathy in America. Sympathy at $100 a day seems rather expensive and it is doubtful if the people who paid the bills for entertaining the envoys would have been so liberal had they known that none of their money was to reach the women and children who are in distress in South Africa.

The Boer collection in Washington was a fake, just as many other "charities" are.

Boers in Pitiable Condition.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—A dispatch to the Herald from London, says that a Lourenco Marques correspondent of the Daily Mail states that a Frenchman just returned from the Boer frontier confirms the telegrams which have been received during the last few days describing the pitiable character of the Boer position. General Botha's commando, originally 750, now consists of only 63, and other commandos have been reduced in like proportion, owing to desertions.

The remaining burghers have divided into two parts, one for peace and the other for war. The peace party is the stronger.

Cape Town, Aug. 7.—Railway communication with Natal has been re-established by General MacDonald's capture of Harris-smith.

Heavy fighting at Eland's River commenced on Sunday and continued Monday. No details are obtainable, but it is believed that General Carrington and General Ian Hamilton relieved the garrison at Rustenberg, which is retiring to Secrust.

It is stated positively that President Kruger is willing and anxious to surrender, providing a satisfactory promise is given as to his ultimate destination.

A special dispatch from Pretoria, dated August 5, says General Lord Kitchener has narrowed the circle around Generals DeWet and Steyn by driving out the enemy from one of the flank positions which he held.

Baron Fava, the Italian Ambassador, has communicated to the State Department information showing that he believes a band of anarchists in Paterson, N. J., conspired to assassinate all the crowned heads of Europe.

According to the Governor of New Jersey every effort is being made by the state police authorities to assist the detectives employed by the Italian officials to ascertain if such a band exists, and its membership.

Sir Charles Dilke, in a paper read before the Statistical society of London, declared that the normal cost of British armaments in times of peace is £60,000,000 to the taxpayers of the United Kingdom, £20,000,000 to India and £1,750,000 to the self-governing colonies.

Here are a couple of headlines seen in newspapers not long ago: "Killed by Lightning—Woman and Mule Die Instantly." "Two Lives Go Out in a Storm—One a Cow." An Ohio paper printed this item: "There will be an ice cream supper given by Mrs. Susan Howard next Tuesday night, July 3, in the Christian church grove to assist in raising funds for the funeral expenses of her husband."

Political Sidelights.

Montana is growing an enormous crop of wool this year, but designing politicians will hardly be able to pull any of it over the eyes of the intelligent voter.

As yet no democratic committee has formally notified Grover Cleveland of Bryan's nomination for president. This is doubtless why Cleveland has nothing at all to say.

Colonel Frank O. Lowden, who is mentioned as a successor in the senate to Senator Cullom, of Illinois, is 39 years old, and began teaching school at 15, by which means he paid his way through the Iowa State university.

The next congress will include two men of the same name from Mississippi. The present member from the Sixth district is Patrick Henry, and another Patrick Henry will represent the Third, for the last fifteen years represented by General Thomas C. Catchings.

A Chicago woman, who wants to be governor of Illinois, has issued a platform, in which she declares herself a republican, a democrat, several kinds of populists and a temperance advocate. Unfortunately, pluralities of platforms do not always mean pluralities of votes.

In predicting that, in case of the reelection of McKinley, there will be no more Fourth of July celebrations, Bryan may not have made a vote-catching statement, says the Des Moines Leader. The cannon fire-cracker has been so developing in bore and muzzle power that not a few would welcome the abolition of the glorious as a means of escape. Bryan is in danger of losing the nervous vote.

The confidence of the republicans of West Virginia that they will carry the state this fall for McKinley and Roosevelt is based on the marvelous development in coal and lumber now in progress, made possible by the beneficent provisions of the Dingley tariff law. In all sections of the state unprecedented activity prevails and labor is at a premium. There are constant calls for men, which other states are supplying. The coal output for 1899 was nearly 18,000,000 tons, an increase of 1,500,000 tons over the preceding year. More coal is being mined this year than ever before, and the total product will reach far above the 20,000,000-ton mark. Scores of new mines are being opened and miles of new railway are being built.

Among the exhibits at the Paris exposition is a set of tea cups, the cleanest of which is valued at $600.

The Scandinavian element in this country numbers nearly 1,000,000 souls. They are located principally in four states—Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The six robbers who recently broke into the residence of Mrs. Hilda Cole in New Orleans and robbed her of $2,000 wore evening clothes and silk hats.

A souvenir of Mr. Gladstone's hobby as an amateur woodsman, consisting of a chip from an elm which he felled at Hawarden in 1880, was sold for five shillings in a London auction-room recently.

Father Leary, the Catholic priest at Chapman, Kan., has raised a fine point with respect to dog tax. He says his dog watches faithfully about the sanctuary and, therefore, is church property, exempt by state law.

A man in Philadelphia makes a living by selling foreign hotel, express and railroad labels to people that paste them on their baggage to create the impression that they have been abroad.

Some years ago one of the biggest railroad corporations of this country employed a confidential peacemaker, with the idea of preventing suits, as far as possible, for personal damages. It has proved a profitable innovation and is being taken up by other railroads.

Robert Johnson, a street news vendor, died in Washington as the result of prostration during the recent hot spell. Two years ago he was terribly frostbitten in the same city and it became necessary to amputate both his feet. The operation was performed in the same hospital where he died.

The vows of lovers frequently resemble the paper-covered hoops used by circus performers; they are held up one moment and broken the next.

He Knew a Few Words.

An English officer in Malta stopped in riding to ask a native the way. He was answered by a shrug of the shoulders and a "No speak English."

"You're a fool, then," said the officer. But the man knew enough English to ask:

"Do you understand Maltse?"

"No."

"Do you know Arabic?"

"No."

"Do you understand Italian?"

"No."

"Do you know Greek?"

"No."

"Then you four fools. I only one."

Last year there were coined 33,000,000 more pennies than in the year before and the coinage of nickels, dimes, quarters and halves increased largely. In dollars and cents the increase in minor coinage for the fiscal year is about $3,700,000.

A Jesuit priest now in South Africa writes to the boys in the New York college, where he was formerly a professor: nine in the blessed language is dheranmanwanamgwahela, but this is nothing to 999, which is mashumiamagduamahama-manwanamgwahela. anamshumihama-mahera-manwanamgwahela-gowakadiheranaman-wanamgwahela."
