COLD BLOODED MURDER.

Business Man Shot by and Insolent Drummer.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 18.—A special to the Sentinel from Rhineland, Wis., says:
William W. Fenelon was shot at the Rapids House office tonight by a young man named J. B. Robbins, a salesman for a Chicago crockery house. About eight o'clock Robbins entered Fenelon & Co.'s store and made a small purchase from one of the women clerks, and made a request that she meet him after she left the store, which was resented. Mr. Fenelon, hearing the request, drove Robbins out of the store and pursued him to within half a block of the Rapids House. Robbins ran to the hotel and is said to have gone to his room and procured a revolver. After closing up Mr. Fenelon went to the hotel. As he entered the office Robbins immediately fired, killing him instantly. Robbins was arrested.

The report of the cold-blooded murder of Mr. Will W. Fenelon gave a shock to a number of people in Tillamook city, who had formed that gentleman's acquaintance when he visited this county last fall. So pleased was Mr. Fenelon with the timber resources of Tillamook county he bought quite a number of timber claims and was negotiating for more on the Trask for milling purposes when the time arrives so that it can be shipped to advantage. More than this, he had been asked to approach the representatives of Wisconsin to secure their assistance in getting Tillamook bar improved, and so successful had been that he wrote to say he had secured the promise from them, specially mentioning one as being a member of the rivers and harbors committee, and wanting to know what else he could do. These letters were given to Congressman Tongue to read when he visited this county two weeks since. All who made Mr. Fenelon's acquaintance in Tillamook admit he was a fine gentleman, and when he left this city he went away carrying the respect of a large number of people, consequently his sad death is felt just as keenly as it had resided here for a number of years. Mr. Fenelon became interested in Tillamook on account of reading the special edition of the Headlight, being one of our subscribers since that time. We regret his death, though it was sacrificed in a noble cause—that of protecting a young woman in his employ from men who make sport of women and try to use them to satisfy their own lusts. A cur like Robbins was the one who should have kissed the ground riddled with bullets, not a noble, fearless and honored citizen like Will W. Fenelon.

THE LITTLE FELLOW AT TILLAMOOK.

'Is as Silly as False, and False as Silly.'

(From the Oregonian.)
The Tillamook Herald says: "The Oregonian's opposition to McKinley is the result of pique. Mr. Scott was not allowed to dictate the Administration's patronage in this state. And that's all there is of it." This is as silly as false and false as silly. Mr. Scott neither attempted nor desired to "dictate the Administration's patronage in this state." He neither urged nor named any man for any office, or any office for any man. If he ever signed a request for "patronage" for any man, it was done in connection with others, because the paper was brought to him. This is one kind of thing he never liked, as all know who have tried to get his name. Wanting no office for himself, not even the highest the state or the President could bestow, he has not been agonizing to get place and patronage for others. But, with a mixture of amusement and disgust, he has often noted how the little organs and little politicians dwell on "office" and "patronage" as the chief good and final hope of man. The remark of the little fellow at Tillamook discovers another of 'em. If he hasn't the Postoffice already he ought to have it.

TILLAMOOK JOTTINGS.

Mr. L. H. Brown is in the city from Portland.

King & Kerremans are having Tuttle's telephone put in their store.

Mrs. I. P. Larsen was taken to Portland today to undergo an operation.

E. A. Hoffman and wife are registered at the Larsen house from Los Angeles.

The steamer Elmore, which came in on Sunday with freight, left again on Tuesday.

J. C. Cunningham and wife, of Los Angeles, were registered at the Allen house.

Mrs. W. C. King, with Zoe and Clent, returned on Tuesday from visiting friends in Portland.

China wants to kiss and make up, on the theory we suppose that it's all fair in love and war.

Messrs. C. I. Clough and P. McIntosh returned on the stage Tuesday from a business trip to Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Shannahan came in on their wheels Tuesday. Fred is still carrying all the cornucopia.

It's a wonder some sharp fakir has not conceived the idea of coming into Tillamook wearing a shirt waist.

If you want your pianos or organs tuned or repaired, F. C. Shannahan will be in the city for about ten days and is prepared to do the work.

The monument erected over the grave of the late Neighbor Joseph M. Terwilliger in the Oddfellows' cemetery will be unveiled by the Woodmen of the World on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. C. W. Toner, representing Sherman, Clay & Co., wholesale piano and organ dealers, is in the city, and will have a number of first grade instruments to dispose of as soon as the steamer arrives.

No Sunday school convention should adjourn until it has tried to solve the problem and ascertain the causes why children up to a certain age attend Sunday schools and how to stop the leakage which follow.

Still the fakirs continue to infest this county. Give them the cold shake and tell them you can get everything you want at less money from the reliable merchants in Tillamook and they will soon cease to be a pest in the county.

Portland has raised the license upon circuses visiting that city to $6000 per day. Why can't Tillamook adopt a similar plan and make some of the bum shows which come here pay dearly for the privilege of imposing upon the people.

Quite a number of marked copies of last week's Headlight were sent to representatives in different states, especially those who have already signified their intention of assisting, to convince them of the necessity of improvements on Tillamook bar.

Messrs. Felix Roy and Alex. McDonald were in the city on Wednesday from Nehalem, who had been chasing round trying to buy some young stock. We do not doubt this, but it is reported they have no objection to chasing a few grass widows as well.

Representative B. L. Eddy's picture adorned the pages of the Oregonian on Tuesday in the portrait gallery of Oregon legislators. We don't think that the Oregonian's printer can come up to the Headlight's devil when it comes to printing half tone cuts. Well, the Oregon editors and law makers were about the best material that could be found to experiment upon.

Mr. John Teft is expected to return from San Francisco today. We are glad to hear that he has been successful in making arrangements to ship lumber from the Tillamook Lumber Co. and Pacific Lumber Co. mills to California. As this will keep the mills buzzing and give profitable employment to a number of men, we hope the condition of the bar will not again cause a second attempt to fall through.

Messrs. Wade & Briggs are making preparations to erect a large business house on the ground previously occupied by the stores of G. A. Edmunds and W. H. H. Cary. The old saloon building, which Wade & Briggs had to use to store their large and increasing stock of hardware, has been moved back so as to set over their present building while the new one is being constructed. This will make a valuable addition to that part of the city, and as Wade & Briggs will carry a large stock of hardware, dairy supplies, agricultural implements, etc., it is safe to predict they will do a large business in their line.

Death claimed on Wednesday one of Tillamook's promising and respected young ladies, which, however, did not come unexpectedly, for Miss Olive Bewley, the beloved daughter of Mr. J. C. Bewley, had been stricken down with that dread disease of consumption. She was born in this county, at Bay City, and was aged 18 years. The remains were buried in the Bay View cemetery today. Rev. S. A. Smith conducting the religious services. A number of sympathizing friends attended, and as a last token of love for the loved one whose soul had taken so early a departure and sympathy for the sorrowing family, laid beautiful flowers upon the grave.

The fishermen on Tillamook bay decided on Monday to ask for a raise in the price of salmon, and if their demands were refused to go on a strike. Unable to get what they wanted from Elmore's cannery or from those who were salting salmon, they did not fish on Monday night, although there was a good run of fish. All that they wanted was 50c. for large salmon, 20c. for silversides and 75c. for chums, which is a raise of 15c., 5c. and 25c. respectively upon the price paid the fishermen last season. Elmore's cannery would have started up on Tuesday, everything being in readiness to do so, but was unable to do so owing to the strike, as all the cannery boats are included in the strike. As this appears to be a reasonable demand on the part of the fishermen, considering the price paid for salmon on the Columbia river, it seems as though the fishermen will not recede from their demand.

In a personal letter to the editor, Congressman Thos. H. Tongue says: "Certainly my visit to Tillamook changed my ideas entirely in reference to the importance of the improvement upon the Tillamook bar. I regard such improvement as very essential for the future commerce of Tillamook Bay, and I hope we can succeed in securing it." What we said before the last election we can repeat again, that Mr. Tongue is a staunch friend of this county, and it may now dawn upon those who opposed him that when Mr. Tongue says that it is "important" that Tillamook bar should be improved every Tillamooker can bet his bottom dollar that Mr. Tongue is going to secure it if it is possible to do so. Just one word more. What a wrong position a few republicans put themselves in, both politically and locally, when they started out to oppose a gentleman who can be exceedingly instrumental in removing the obstacles to navigation in this county, enabling the dairymen and lumbermen to get their products to market more expeditiously. Industrial development is what Tillamook must aspire to, and no matter who it is that is making strenuous efforts to bring this about let us one and all encourage them as much as possible.

New Corporations.

Articles were filed Monday with the county clerk incorporating the Wheeler Lumber Company, which specify that the company will carry on the business of fishing, canning and cold storage, carry on a general business for the manufacture of lumber in all its branches, to conduct a general logging business, carry on a general merchandise business, construct and operate steam railroads, telegraph and telephone systems, furnish and sell electricity, etc. The capital stock is $40,000, divided into 400 shares of $100 each. The incorporators are George R. Vosburg, R. E. Moody and C. H. Wheeler, and the directors are C. H. Wheeler, Geo. R. Vosburg, J. E. Du Bois, J. L. Vosburg and J. K. Gambill.

On the same day articles were filed incorporating the Nehalem Transportation Company. The object of this company is to build, construct and operate steamboats, tugs, barges and boats for the purpose of doing a general transportation business, to build, construct and operate wharves and docks, and for the purpose of storing and shipping freight. The principal office and place of business of this company is to be at Nehalem, and the capital stock calls for $12,000, to be divided into 120 shares of $100 each. The incorporators and directors are the same as in the Wheeler Lumber Company.

Sunday School Convention.

Following is the programme for the Sunday school convention which will be held in this city on Friday, August 31: 10 a.m.—Devotional exercises led by J. A. Monroe. Address of welcome, Mrs. J. D. Edwards. Response, Miss Lucy Doughty. Roll call of schools. Reports from schools by delegates. President's report. Secretary's report.

Noon. 1 p.m.—Devotional, led by Mrs. B. L. Eddy. Special music. "How to Enlist the Interest of Parents," by T. H. Goynne and Mrs. W. T. West. "Home Department," Mrs. J. A. Todd and Mrs. Wood. Music. "Necessity of Missionary Teaching in the Sunday School," Mrs. Smith. "How to secure regular attendance," Miss Lottie Freeman and H. V. Alley. Short addresses on the work by the different pastors of the various churches. Election of officers. Opportunity to discuss various subjects will be given.

Emerson Pianos.

Mr. C. W. Toner, traveling representative for Sherman, Clay & Co., of Portland and San Francisco, is in the city with a line of Emerson Pianos and A. B. Chase organs, which will be on display at the Allen house. The Emerson Piano Company make a first class, high grade piano. Their cases are very rich and ornate, and the tone mellow, full and singing. It is a tone distinctive in itself—the "Emerson Tone"—a tone that blends and harmonizes with the human voice. The price is very moderate, considering the quality of the instrument. Our terms are for cash, or on monthly installments; in either case the price is the same. See Mr. Toner and have his new sale plan explained. This permits you to have a piano in your home at a small monthly outlay and have the use of the piano as you are paying for it. This being his first visit, he will give Portland prices and will pay the freight.

Notice.

This is to warn all persons against having anything to do with a note given by me to B. R. Daniel, as I have a bill against the Daniel's estate, and shall not pay the note until it is settled.
