What's the matter with the boat service? What's the matter with the water system? What's the matter with the electric light system? And what's the matter with Watson, the chronic kicker?
The Tillamook County Sunday School Association will hold its annual convention in the Presbyterian church of this city next Saturday and Sunday. The Rev. C. A. Dotson preaches Sunday evening, his subject being "Reaching the Unreached."

Unless the cannerymen pay 35c. for Chinook salmon, 15c. for silversides and 5c. for chums, there is not likely to be much fishing this year in Tillamook Bay or the Nehalem river, for the men have decided upon those prices and from present indication will not fish without the cannerymen are prepared to accede to their demand.
Died, on the 17th August, at the residence of Mr. Ed. Lyster, at Spruce, Henry L. Tucker, aged 71 years, 8 months and 5 days. The deceased was an old resident of this county, and the relatives of the deceased wish to thank Mrs. Stephens and those living in the neighborhood who gave their assistance and kind sympathy.
There was a chapter of accidents at the Bigges' logging camp on Monday. George Bigges, while hauling logs with a four horse team, struck across a log and was thrown over into a small gulch and had one of his ribs broken. Jack Balmer had his hand smashed by a jack screw flying out and Mr. Stallcup got his foot injured in the shoot.

Mr. Z. Fitzgerald, a dairyman from Multnomah county, came in last week to look over Tillamook. He is favorably impressed with the county, which he considers far ahead of other places on the outside, where it costs the dairymen so much for feed that the profit is not nearly so much as in Tillamook, where the dairymen do not buy feed for their cows.
The city council has given the water company plenty of time to carry out the improvements which it promised to make to the system, and having failed to do so the company is only paying the way for the city to vote bonds and then put in a new iron system. This appears to be the only alternative if the water company will not rise to the occasion and make its plant fill the bill.
Now that our contemporary is agitating the water question again, it would be perfectly in order to ask what has become of the gentleman who was granted a water franchise and was going to commence work on a new iron system within thirty days. The only outcome that we can see is that this "unknown" individual worked Bro. Watson for the purpose of working the city council to work his own scheme.
Between sixty and seventy applications for membership in Star lodge, A. O. U. W., have been made during the past few weeks, and it is expected that a considerable number more of our citizens will also do likewise before Deputy Grand Master M. G. Wilkins leaves the city, thus enabling them to insure their lives for the benefit of their families. As the charges for admission have been reduced to a minimum, "You had better hurry."
Married, in Tillamook City, on Tuesday last, Mr. Thomas F. Withrow to Miss Jennie Olsen, of Fairview. The wedding took place at the residence of Mr. I. P. Larsen, and the Rev. George E. McDonald, pastor of the U. B. Church, performed the religious ceremony. The young couple are well and favorably known throughout the county and all wish them a long life of happiness in their married career.
S. Elmore & Co. has sent the agent here instructions: "Please inform your shippers that the strike in San Francisco is still on. On shipments of butter and cheese consigned to that point, we must have instructions from the shippers to turn goods over to the railroad, as that is the only means of communication open between Portland and San Francisco. We cannot be held responsible for any shipments which remain over on the dock here."
Tillamook county never had prettier weather or a more delightful summer. Combined with this Tillamook county never before housed such a large hay crop or produced such an abundance of milk as it is doing this year. In spite of the fact that the county is somewhat isolated and handicapped by transportation, dairying is making rapid strides every year in Tillamook, the result of which is we have a prosperous, happy and contented class of people, with, we are happy to say, but very few kickers and chronic grumblers. Can the newspapers in the east and middle west chronicle such a flattering state of affairs?
Mr. D. McKelvey has unearthed several ledges of quartz near the Wilson river road on this side of the Coast range of mountains, some of which assayed as much as 34.35 to the ton. The ledges are several feet thick. Yesterday he brought several large pieces of the quartz to the city and left a piece at this office for those interested in mining to inspect. Mr. McKelvey is not a practical mineral, but has some general idea of quartz. As to the value of the different quartz that has been found, this was obtained by sending it out to be assayed, and Mr. McKelvey says there are large quantities and which is not far from the road.

The report this month from Tillamook sent to the agricultural department at Washington is as follows: "Hay very good and housed. Oats good and most of it cut for hay and feed. Potatoes fine, a good crop. There is a shrinkage in the milk, but creameries and cheese factories are all running. Pasture on low land is good. Stock of all kind are fat. Have been farming in Tillamook for 35 years and have never seen a crop failure in the county. Never saw better crops or better weather for harvesting." What a contrast to the conditions in other parts of the country, and yet Tillamook remains undeveloped and the best dairying section in Oregon.

It is now several weeks since the steamer Sue H. Elmore was here, and consequently this is causing considerable delay in the shipment of butter and cheese. Besides, the stores have run out of flour, sugar, feed and other articles. As a business proposition it looks as though the Pacific Navigation Co., when it ties up its steamer for repairs, should notify its patrons a few weeks previous so that they may be guided accordingly. It works an injustice on Tillamook county to be left in this way, and whenever the steamer is laid off again for repair we hope the Company will either give notice of it several weeks ahead or put on another steamer to handle the business.

Surely, when Bro. Watson recommended ex-Senator J. W. Maxwell as a candidate for governor he did not do so seriously. We don't think the ex-senator will feel at all flattered, especially as the jocosity of the recommendation is taken as a huge joke at his expense. Mr. Maxwell no doubt has his lightning rod out for any political job in sight—and there are others—but we think he will agree with us, as will all those who use a little common sense, that he is not intellectually qualified to fill the position. His reputation as a tool in the hands of the Simon faction in Portland is about as poor a recommendation a person could have if he wants a nomination at the next republican convention.

If Bro. Eddy was running his law office with a combination of brain and water power we don't think he'd be advocating shutting off the water power. But, then, he is aware that some of the home-made water motors are thirsty affairs and it takes quite a stream of water to keep them going. However that may be, it's whose ox is getting gored, so if the Headlight's water power is shut off, we sincerely trust that those who advocate doing so will volunteer to turn the crank for us. That's only fair, and with Bro. Eddy's judicial mind he would have to admit that he was up against it, for a few minutes turning the crank would soon convince him that his argument was wrong and he would be the first person to call for water.

A nocturnal thief has been skimming the cream from the milk put out over night by the dairymen in the Wilson river district, consequently when the milk is taken to the factory the semi-monthly test shows a surprising state of affair at the lowness of the test. From what we can gather the thief has been carrying on his depredations for quite a time, and, of course, it looked as though the parties whose milk had been tampered with were not getting a square test at the factory. This nocturnal thief must have thought he had a good thing, for the other night he only left the skim milk in some of the cans. It is reported that the thief got his ideas from the fake Quaker doctors, for it was after the show was over that he did his work "milking" the cans. It is also reported that a certain party was seen on several occasions about midnight on a bicycle carrying a milk can in his hand, and the only surprise to us is that the thief has not been peppered full of lead. Some of those who have been victimized inform us if the thief cannot make an honest living, for him to call around and they will see that he does not want for anything, for there is no excuse for a man stealing in Tillamook county when there is plenty of opportunities to procure work and a hundred and one ways to make an easy living.
