

A Public Invitation.

The readers of this paper are invited to attend the Sunday School convention which is to meet at Tillamook, Saturday, August 31, and which will continue over Sunday. You will be entertained by it; you will be instructed by it; you will be inspired by it. This convention is sure to be a success and you will regret it if you do not attend. Bring your boys and girls and your neighbor's boys and girls. This is in their interest and will interest them. Of course, it will, then, interest you. Stockraisers and fruitgrowers, etc., meet in convention. Profit comes of it. Hearts, minds, yes, genuine, noble manhood and womanhood, are worth our while to learn how to cultivate. You are interested. Come.

To Cure Bronchitis in Calves.

A letter has been received from Dr. J. Withycombe showing how to treat verminous bronchitis, which disease was somewhat prevalent with calves in this county last winter. It will be noticed that the doctor in his prescription mentions, with oil of turpentine and chloroform, 20 drops of carbolic acid. By way of caution, we may state that 20 drops of carbolic acid is too strong a dose for calves only two or three weeks old, when less than half that amount should be used. To inject the medicine into the windpipe, use a veterinary hypodermic syringe. Dr. Withycombe's letter is interesting because it gives other remedies, so it would be well for our numerous dairymen friends to cut this out and preserve it, for it may be of some use should their young stock become affected with the disease.

Oregon Agricultural College,
Corvallis, Or., July 29, 1901.
Mr. M. Harlburt, Woods, Or.

DEAR SIR,—Your letter of the 20th instant addressed to the Agricultural College has been referred to this department, and in reply will say that the disease you describe is verminous bronchitis, caused by a small thread like worm in the bronchial tubes, "strongylus micrurus." These are usually found in wet, swampy pastures and are not produced by a hot as you mention.

The infected calves should be fed well to sustain a good constitutional vigor. Treatment is often unsatisfactory, but the intra-tracheal injection is usually the most effective in expelling the parasites. A good injection consists of 2 drams of oil of turpentine, 20 drops of carbolic acid and 1/2 dram of chloroform. This should be injected into the wind pipe.

Fumigation has also been highly recommended. This is generally done by confining the calves in a tight building and burning sulphur therein. In doing this care must be exercised that the fumes are not permitted to suffocate the animals. A farmer in Lincoln county reported to the station that he had succeeded in curing his calves of the malady by compelling them to inhale the smoke from burning fir boughs. When treatment by fumigation is adopted, it should be repeated once daily for three days.

If you do not succeed in checking the disease with either of the remedies given kindly write again.

I am, very truly yours,
JAMES WITHYCOMBE.

At the Opera House on Saturday.

"A Noble Outcast" has been the cause for more forcible preaching in the sermon that appeals to the human heart. It was from this play, "A Noble Outcast," that Henry Ward Beecher once got the substance for his renowned sermon, "Do unto others as you would expect other to do unto you." It is but a plain story of the teachings we learn at our mother's knee. Every day life presents us with such an occurrence at our very door, yet we hear it not. It is the way of the world, and we pass it by unnoticed. The cast is composed of such people as may give the play a good production. Do not miss it, or you will miss a rare treat. Tickets are selling fast for this. So "You will have to hurry." Seats now at Lamb's. Admission, 25c and 35c.

More Railroad Talk.

According to observation made by a well posted railroad man, who has just returned from an outing in the Northern Nehalem country, the Northern Pacific railway has now almost completed its survey from Scappoose into the Nehalem, says the Telegram. He says the surveying party has reached Saddle mountain tunnel on the old grade of the South Coast & Astoria railroad, which company several years ago constructed the line from Astoria to Seaside, a distance of about eighteen miles, with the intention of ultimately coming into Portland by way of Hillsboro, thus tapping the Nehalem country. It is the opinion of this man that because of having concluded its survey at that particular place, the Northern Pacific will attempt to gain an outlet at the mouth of the old grade of the South Coast & Astoria Co. From appearances, the Northern Pacific will enter the Nehalem country unless the community of interest provisions are such as to exclude that road from operating in that territory. In fact it is rumored that W. K. Vanderbilt, arbitrator of disputes between the three main lines, the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and the Union Pacific, has ruled that the Northern Pacific should have no right in Oregon south of the Columbia river, except as to its entrance into Portland. In that event that city would have the key to the situation, and the early construction of the road proposed by the Portland, Nehalem & Tillamook Railroad Company may then be looked for.

Speaks of Newspapers.

Judge Williams, of Portland, recently delivered a lengthy speech on general topics before the summer school at Newport, among other things, saying: "Newspapers are more numerous and more ably conducted now than ever before and wield an incalculable influence upon the thoughts and actions of men. They are winged messengers of intelligence, the avenues of knowledge to the people, the searchlights of the political world, but then the moral influence is not what it might be or what it ought to be."

He deprecates the publication of vice and crime as demoralizing, and deprecates the indiscriminate abuse of public men and officials:

"Many people dependent upon the newspaper for their information take up the idea that our government is rotten from top to bottom, and that most of our public men are 'grafters,' when the fact is that the administration of our public affairs is as free from peculation and fraud as it has ever been since the formation of the government."

This is doubtless true, but it has been mainly through the influence of a free and fearless press that it is true. While "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," so long will a fearless and independent press keep its searchlights turned upon public men and their conduct of public affairs.—Mist.

Items of General News.

Advices from Nome tell of a murderous attack made by an armed mob of 70 masked men at Glacier Creek, the outcome of litigation over mining claims. Richard O'Conner, one of the party attacked in a camp, the occupants of which were forced to leave, was shot through the groin and was at death's door when the steamer St. Paul left Nome. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the attacking party and were placed in the hands of deputies who were awaiting the result of O'Conner's wounds before making arrests.

The fees and commissions, amounting to $402,517, which Judge Troutt has awarded to attorneys and executors of the James G. Fair estate, is in addition to the $50,000 given each of the executors by the New York Probate Court for the administration of the portion of the estate located in that city. The total valuation on which the executors' commissions were computed is $17,871,645. Other heavy fees are yet to be paid, but it is estimated that $5,000,000 will remain for each of the late Senator Fair's three children.

The overhauling to which the various royal palaces are being subjected by order of King Edward, is leading to extraordinary discoveries. Garrets and cellars closed for over a century, are being cleared and thrown open. Recently a magnificent portrait of Queen Caroline by Lawrence was found, along with some other paintings in a garret at Windsor Castle, and now an old Fourgon, or velvet-lined van of great size filled with splendid silver and silver gilt plates has been found in a stable at St. James Palace which has not been used for 150 years. The silver in question belonged to Queen Anne, and was used by her when giving fine dinner parties at Kew, Hampton Court and other suburban palaces, to which the van was dispatched from St. James. The silver was black and undoubtedly had remained in the van since the time of the death of Queen Anne.

Pilcher's first dispatch from Mindoro tells how Lieutenant Hazzard, of the Third Cavalry, commanding a troop of Macabebes scouts, captured the American deserter, Howard, who, as a leader of the Filipinos, had been annoying the Americans for many months. Ferguson one of Lieutenant Hazzard's civilian scouts, disguised as an insurgent, with eight Macabebes, penetrated into the camp of Colonel Atienza, commanding 340 riflemen and 200 bolomen, at night, located Howard, bound and gagged him and carried him away without disturbing the camp.

Value of Grit.

There's nothing that's gained without grit—

Remember that always, my lad— Ambition will solemnly sit, And energy, mayhap, go mad; Unless grit will push them along To the goal where success reigns supreme, Your life's but a somnolent song. You struggle a wearisome dream. Ah, then, if the nail you would hit, Be sure that you do it with grit; For until you do, You will find it quite true That nothing is gained without grit, my lad— That nothing is gained without grit. You struggle until you are old, Then say, with a sigh, "Nothing won, Oh, why didn't some one take hold And drive me till something was done?" Why didn't you know how to grasp The value of each fitting day, And not let old idleness clasp You tight in his meshes, and say: "Ah, lad, you can't win on your wit, It takes lots of courage and grit— You may conquer a place Near the first in the race— But nothing is gained without grit, my lad— No, nothing is gained without grit."

NEWS FOR THE AFFLICTED.

Announcement That Interest Many—Dr. Darrin the Eminent Specialist to Visit Astoria Sept. 5th to Oct. 12th.

While averse to drawing the attention of our readers to any advertisement which partake of a medical character we feel more than justified in overriding this objection with respect to the announcement in this issue of the coming visit of Dr. Darrin.

This far-famed physician (late from Portland) who has achieved such a great reputation throughout the coast and Northwest, has been prevailed upon, by urgent requests of many in that vicinity, to visit Astoria as they could not afford by their time and business to consult him at his offices at Portland. The doctor has at last consented to visit that city to accommodate the sick and afflicted and will have his office at the Hotel Occident. Those wishing to consult the doctor will find it to their advantage to consult him while there and during the first part of his stay, as may require more than one treatment by electricity.

He comes to us laden with testimonials from the whole northwest, and the authentic report of some of his cures seem nothing short of miracles. So many thousands are already acquainted with his mode of treatment, it seems unnecessary to state that he uses little medicine in the majority of cases, and perfects his cures by the wonderful power of electricity.

There are few ills to which the human flesh is heir, which cannot be relieved and generally permanently cured by Dr. Darrin's electro-magnetic treatment, and cases that have resisted the efforts of ordinary physicians have yielded to his power. These cases embrace almost every form of disease, and, as said before, no man, woman or child need despair of relief and cure while Dr. Darrin offers his invaluable services. The doctor is prepared to test and fit eye glasses to any desiring them.

Unlike other physicians who have become eminent in their profession, the doctor's charges are extremely moderate and reasonable according to circumstances and ability to pay, and he will not undertake any case that he cannot cure or benefit. Consultation is free to all. Should there be cases that are incurable, he will immediately discover them on consultation, thus saving his patients any further expenditure of time or money, which they might otherwise squander.

Dr. Darrin makes a specialty of all diseases of the ear, eye, nose and throat, catarrh, and deafness and all nervous, chronic and private diseases, such as loss of manhood, blood taints, syphilis, gleet, gonorrhoea, stricture, spermatorrhoea, seminal weakness, and loss of desire or sexual power in either man or woman. All peculiar female troubles, leucorrhoea, displacements, etc., are confidentially and successfully treated. Most cases can be treated at home after one visit to the doctor's office.

Office hours from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Evenings, 7 to 8. Sundays, 10 to 3. The worthy poor will be treated free, except medicine, according to his time honored custom from 9 to 10 a. m. daily.

Dr. Darrin will treat free all cases he had on former visit—except medicines.

Circulars and question blanks sent free. Inquiries answered. All business relation with Dr. Darrin are strictly confidential.

Cures that can be referred to, cured by Dr. Darrin. Eyes tested and glasses fitted with unflinching success.

An old man named Paddy Kearns died at New York on Saturday literally of starvation and neglect. In the house in which he had lived alone for more than 50 years, bank books showing deposits of $7000 were found. The old man is believed to have had a considerable amount of ready money and some jewelry hidden around the house. He came to this country from Ireland in 1843.
