Mr. J. D. Edwards is headed for Tillamook, for he has removed from Ashland to Portland. Like all Tillamookers who have gone away for a while, he will soon return, for there's an election next June, and being one of those democratic war horses who has always a broad smile on his countenance before election, the democrats of Tillamook will be glad to see him back for the next political fight.

A letter reached us after we went to press last week which stated that "On the 21st ult., at the residence of Mr. W. H. Eason, on the South Fork of the Nehalem, a double wedding took place, when his son and daughter were married. Rev. I. Putnam, pastor of the M.E. church, united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Mr. Albert Eason and Miss Elizabeth Rittenhouse and Mr. Orin Maddux and Miss Effie Eason. There was a large company of relatives and friends present and it was a very pleasant occasion. Presents were numerous and valuable."

Because the J. A. Taft Co. gave the Headlight a two by four job of printing Concinnian-elect Watson got mad and ordered his electric lights cut off at his office and residence, and not wishing to stand any of his bluster, it did not take Henry Crenshaw many seconds to sever the current after receiving orders to do so. Mr. Taft is a wide awake, enterprising business man, and being able to get a better job on nicer material and at less money at the Headlight job office, we do not think he can be bulldozed by Watson or cares very little whether he boycotts the electric light plant or not.

As most of the federal office holders are more or less identified with politics, they are in a quandary how to take the notification that they must sever their connections in taking a prominent part in politics. As most of them know which side of the bread is buttered it will not take them long to conform to the notice in a modest way, but having dabbled into politics so long some will overstep the mark, and as President Roosevelt is a man who means what he says and will not be trifled with, we should not be surprised to find that he will have to designate a number of the federal officers before he can make them all toe the line. Postmasters, no doubt, will eventually be notified to keep mum about politics, which appears almost an impossibility.

Some few people, who want to manipulate the political wires for their own ends, are busy figuring out who they will put up for county officials just as though they had the solid republican vote safely tucked away in their vest pocket. Most republicans are not saying much but are sawing wood over the recent county court rumpus. When, however, the time arrives for them to attend the primary and republican convention, the present political wire-pullers will be up against a pugnatious sentiment which will relegate them and their "silent partner" arrangements to oblivion. We do not think the republicans of this county are in that frame of mind to be dictated to as to whom they shall vote for, for if that is to be the case they may keep on sawing wood and make proxies of the political wire-pullers to run the whole business. And then see the taxes go skyward again.

At the meeting of the friends and members of the M.E. Sunday school held to make arrangements for Christmas entertainment, the following committees were elected: Program, T. H. Goynne and Mrs. Beals; getting trees, E. Worthington and John Brant; placing trees, W. Latimer and B. H. Hathaway; decorations, Mrs. Beals, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. G. Worthington, Mrs. E. Worthington, Mrs. Stanley, B. H. Hathaway, John Brant, W. Latimer, J. Freeman and S. McCargar; collecting and expending money, T. H. Goynne and B. H. Hathaway; popcorn, Mrs. Goynne and class; filling boxes, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Hathaway, Mrs. Sykes and G. B. Lamb; receiving presents, Stella Nelson, Ida Watson and Maggie Clark; removing presents, G. B. Lamb, T. H. Goynne, W. Latimer and G. Worthington; calling names, Rev. G. Sykes and F. R. Beals; distributing presents, Dot Stephens, Ida Goynne, Stella Nelson and Ida Watson.

A Contrast.

Articles have been filed incorporating the Nehalem Cheese & Butter Factory, of Nehalem, with capital stock amounting to $3,000. The incorporators are B. A. Todd, Henry Todd and Fred Zaidach. We hope this factory will be a success and become permanent, not only so, but will be instrumental in causing a greater interest and activity in dairying at Nehalem. There is a marked contrast between the south end of the county in this respect to that of the north part of the county. In the south part creameries have multiplied very rapidly, with the result that has not only caused a scene of industrial activity, but they have enhanced the value of dairy farms and dairy lands. That of itself is enough to convince one of the progress made in the south part of the county in dairying, bringing in a good revenue every month which is causing improvements to be made on the farm and in the home. It is a steady prosperous growth. And there is no reason why the Nehalem and that section of the county should lag behind when other parts of the county are progressive and wide awake. All that it requires in the north part of the county is a little more push, concentrated effort, broadness in thought and action, and a united pull in one direction. The factory at Nehalem will be a success if that kind of a spirit can permeate the atmosphere. We hope it will, and that the people in the north part of the county will now realize what rapid strides are being made in dairying in other section of the county, with the result that they will want to participate in the wealth and prosperity of the county. Creameries at Nehalem and vicinity mean more money in circulation, more business for the merchants, improvement in dairy farms with larger dairy herds, demand for good roads and the telephone and a rural mail service, an increase in the value of property and dairy farms and dairy lands. There are always difficulties to contend with everywhere. There will be difficulties to contend with at Nehalem and every where else, but happy is the people who can pull together with determination to surmount them. The people in the south of the county have done so, and there is no reason why the north part cannot do the same. We hope the incorporation of the Nehalem company will be the means of bringing about the prosperous condition there which exist in other sections of the county.

Pianos and Organs.

Any person desiring a fine piano or organ can be accommodated by calling on M. M. Melvin, representing the Allen & Gilbert Music House, who has a fine assortment of instruments in the Olsen building.

After the Peddlers.

The County Court is after peddlers, with blood in its eye, says the Pendleton Tribune. The steel range men and buggy traders have been required to pay the peddlers' license required by law, and taxes on the goods they shipped into the county, wherever possible. These companies were traveling the county from north to south and east to west and selling their goods at big prices on long time without interest. Three carloads of steel ranges were sold at $70 each to farmers and stockmen, and a large number of buggies were disposed of. This was considered an injustice of local dealers throughout the county who pay taxes and contribute to the good of the community. They spend their earnings here and assist in the upbuilding of the county's industries. The outsiders come in with goods and smooth-tongued salesmen, and by making easy terms they make heavy sales. They then discount the notes they take, and leave the county without contributing a dollar to its wealth or encouraging its growth and development. Both concerns complained at the tax and license and threatened to fight them in the courts. But they finally paid the assessments and went their way rejoicing. One company employed nine men and eight teams and wagons. Their horses were fed in the open air or in an old barn rented temporarily, and as little money was spent as possible among the people of the county. The last carload of steel ranges that reached town was found by the Assessor before the ranges were distributed.

Eilking Uncle Sam.

For every fifty-six miles traveled the Government pays to the railroads for transportation of the mails at the rate of 8 cents a pound. For the same service the express companies pay but 1 cent a pound. In addition to this extortion, the Government pays a rental of $5000 a year for each postal car, the building cost of which is but $3,500. The average life of a postal car is twenty years. Here then is an opportunity for needed retrenchment by which the Postoffice Department could save not less than $30,000,000 a year.

WILSON RIVER.

Here we are again. Considerable carpenter work has been done of late, still there's more to follow.

Wilson River cheese factory is in running order, and will continue so during the winter months.

As we are not always so fortunate in securing a successful teacher, the directors obtained the consent of G. B. Lamb to extend his term two months longer, and with the assistance of Miss Mary Hanson, he is conducting an unusually successful school.

The taxpayers in this vicinity 'are beginning to think there is a "nigger in the wood pile," and that it is about time to hustle him out, if the editor has to make known the truth. We approve the Headlight's stand on the silent partner business.

NEHALEM.

The Nehalem Literary Society re-organized last Thursday night, to meet weekly in upper town.

The Harrison finally got out on Friday last. Harbor has been much the safest place the past two weeks.
